911 William Sackett

(1753 - 1842)

Line 3 Jonathan[M], Jonathan[L], William[K], John[J], Simon[I], Thomas[H], Thomas[G]

Father 554 Jonathan Sacket b. 1727, d. 1777
Mother Hannah Phelps b. 1726/27, d. 1803

William Sackett, farmer of Warren, Connecticut; Thetford, Vermont; and Cayuga County, New York, son of Jonathan Sacket and Hannah Phelps, was born in Kent, Litchfield County, Connecticut, on 16 November 1753.[1, 2] He died aged 88 at Seneca Falls, New York State, on 20 January 1842[2] and was buried at Restvale Cemetery, Seneca Falls.[3] He married first in Kent on 9 March 1774, Eunice Beeman, daughter of Parke Beeman and Anna Keeney.[2, 4] She died on 11 March 1784.[5, 6] He married second in Warren, Litchfield County, on 30 May 1786, Parthenia Patterson.[7, 6] Parthenia was born in Connecticut about 1767.[8]

William Sackett served in the American Revolutionary War as a Sergeant in the 5th Connecticut Regiment of the Continental Army.[9]

William was named as a beneficiary in his grandmother Anne Filer's will made in Litchfield County, Connecticut, in June 1783.

In 1790 William was living in Thetford, Orange County, Vermont. In his household were two men, two boys, and four females.[10] He was also listed as a householder there in 1800.[11]

William was listed in the censuses of 1810, 1820, and 1830 as a householder in Aurelius, Cayuga County, New York State.[12, 13, 14] In 1840 he was a householder in Seneca Falls, Seneca County, New York State.[15]

William was listed in the 1841 census of Revolutionary War pensioners. At the reference date of 1 June 1840, he was living in Seneca, New York State, and was aged 86.[16]

In 1850 William's widow Parthenia was living at Seneca Falls and was recorded in the census as Parthena Sackett, aged 83 and born in Connecticut. Living with her were her children, Jonathan, 58, Matilda, 46, and Amanda, 40.[17]

(1766 - 1834)

Line 3	Jonathan[M], Jonathan[L], William[K], John[J], Simon[I], Thomas[H], Thomas[G]

Mother		Hannah Phelps b. 1726/27, d. 1803

Filer Sacket, son of Jonathan Sacket and Hannah Phelps, was born in Hebron, Tolland County, Connecticut, on 10 April 1766.[1, 2] He died aged 67, probably in Chautauqua County, New York State, on 8 April 1834.[1] He married in Kent, Litchfield County, Connecticut, on 12 December 1787, Deborah Waterman, daughter of Seth Waterman and Hannah Perkins.[1] Deborah was baptized in Halifax, Plymouth County, Massachusetts, on 23 October 1768.[3]

Filer was named as a beneficiary in his grandmother Anne Filer's will made in Litchfield County, Connecticut, in June 1783.

He was probably the Philo Sacket listed in the 1790 census, living in Vershire, Orange County, Vermont.[4]

Filer was listed in the 1800 census as a householder in Panton, Addison County, Vermont.[5]

Filer considered settling in Canada. On 10 July 1802, then a hatter of Johnstown, Ontario, Canada, he filed a petition to buy 200 acres of land with a view to settling there with his wife and family. However, he did not follow through with the plan and, after two years had elapsed, the petition was dismissed on 3 August 1804.[6]

In June 1805 Filer became one of the earliest settlers of Chautauqua,

New York State, the town having been formed the previous year from the town of Batavia. He was listed as an early settler of Ellery when that town was formed from Chautauqua in February 1821.[7, 8]

In 1820 and 1830 he was a householder in Chautauqua, New York State.[9, 10]

Filer was the Postmaster in Chautauqua in 1825 and from 1827 to 1830.[11]

Filer's widow Deborah was listed in the 1840 census as a householder in Chautauqua.[12]

Father 554 Jonathan Sacket b. 1727, d. 1777
Mother Hannah Phelps b. 1726/27, d. 1803

Jesse Sackett, son of Jonathan Sacket and Hannah Phelps, was born in Kent, Litchfield County, Connecticut, on 25 May 1769.[1, 2] He died aged 90 in New Orleans, Orleans Parish, Louisiana, on 1 August 1859 while visiting his daughter Sarah and son-in-law Horace Blakesley.[3] He is commemorated on gravestones at Indian Mound Cemetery, Moravia, Cayuga County, New York State, "Jess Sackett, 1769–1861",[4] and at Greenwood Cemetery, New Orleans, "Jessee Sackett, died July 31, 1859, aged 92 years."[4] Based on the ages of his children and the age of his known wife Elizabeth, Jesse is assumed to have married first say 1798, although a record has not been found. The supposed first wife would have been the mother of his two oldest children. He married say 1810, probably as his second wife, Elizabeth ___.[5] Elizabeth was born in 1785.[4] She died aged about 60 in 1845 and was buried at Indian Mound Cemetery.[4]

Jesse was named as a beneficiary in his grandmother Anne Filer's will made in Litchfield County, Connecticut, in June 1783.

Jesse was listed in the 1800 census as a householder in Hillsdale, Columbia County, New York State.[6] In 1810 he was a householder in Catskill, Greene County, New York State.[7] In 1820 he was a householder in Aurelius, Cayuga County.[8] In 1830 he was a householder in Brutus, Cayuga

County.[9] In 1840 he was a householder in Moravia, Cayuga County.[10]

In 1850 Jesse was living in Moravia in the household of his daughter Harriet King and son-in-law Beriah King, and was recorded in the census as Jesse Sacket, aged 82 and born in Connecticut.[11]

In 1855 he was living in Moravia in the household of his daughter Harriet and son-in-law Beriah King, and was recorded as Jesse Sackett, a widower aged 87.[12]

Father	554	Jonathan Sacket b. 1727, d. 1777
Mother		Hannah Phelps b. 1726/27, d. 1803

Almeron Sacket, a cooper, son of Jonathan Sacket and Hannah Phelps, was born in Hebron, Tolland County, Connecticut, about 1771.[1, 2, 3] A death record has not been found. He married first about 1793, probably in Pennsylvania, Rachel White. (A marriage record has not been found but Almeron and his wife Rachel were named administrators of the estate of Anson White on 29 August 1814 in Muskingum County, Ohio.)[1, 4] He married second in Bond County, Illinois, on 18 September 1823, Isabella Worley.[5]

Almeron's father Jonathan died when Almeron was six and Jonathan's brother Reuben was appointed as the child's guardian.[1]

Almeron was named as a beneficiary in his grandmother Anne Filer's will made in Litchfield County, Connecticut, in June 1783.

Almeron was listed in the 1800 census as a householder in Tioga, Lycoming County, Pennsylvania.[6]

Almeron served in the 19th US Infantry Regiment during the War of 1812, enlisting at Zanesville, Muskingum County, Ohio, on 26 December 1814 and being discharged there on 27 March 1815.[7] On 20 January 1818 he was granted 320 acres of land in Knox County, Illinois, under a Bounty Land Warrant following his army service.[8]

Almeron was listed in the 1820 census as a householder in Alexander County, Illinois.[9]

Father 555 Deacon & Captain Justus Sacket b. 1729/30, d. 1815
Mother Lydia Newcomb b. c 1731, d. 1808

Benjamin Sackett, son of Deacon & Captain Justus Sacket and Lydia Newcomb, was born in Kent (later Warren), Litchfield County, Connecticut, on 28 July 1762.[1, 2] He died aged 81 in Warren on 14 July 1844[2] and was buried at Warren Center Cemetery.[3, 4, 5, 6] He married first in Warren on 21 November 1782, Betty Eldred.[2, 7] She was born in Connecticut about 1761.[8] She died aged 58 on 9 March 1819[2, 9] and was buried at the Old Cemetery, Warren.[10] He married second in Warren on 5 October 1819, Mercy Gaylord.[2, 11] She died in 1856.[12]

Benjamin Sacket served as a soldier in the American Revolutionary War. In August 1778 he was a Private in Enos' Regiment, Connecticut State Troops.[13, 14]

In 1790 Benjamin was living in Warren, Litchfield County, Connecticut. In his household were one man, three boys, and three females.[15]

Benjamin and Betsey were admitted to the Congregational Church of Christ, Warren, on 22 December 1799. Benjamin was listed as a pew holder there in 1816 and 1822.[16, 17]

Benjamin was listed in the census in 1800 and 1810 as a householder in Warren.[18, 19]

Benjamin was listed in the 1841 census of Revolutionary War pensioners. At the reference date of 1 June 1840, he was living in Warren and was aged 78.[20]

Benjamin died intestate. His sons, Justus and Benjamin Jr, were appointed as administrators on 22 July 1844 by the Court of Probate, Litchfield, to compile an inventory of estate. The gross value of the estate was some $2,900, including $2,250 for Benjamin's half-share of a 180-acre farm.[21]

In 1850 Benjamin's widow Mercy was living in Warren in the household of her stepson Benjamin and his wife Thalia, and was recorded in the census as Mercey Sackett, aged 71 and born in Connecticut.[22]

Salmon's obituary

Dea Salmon Sackett Obituary

Died in Akron at the house of his son E. C. Sackett, on the 23rd of Nov 1846 aged 83 years; Deacon Salmon Sackett.

Dea Sackett, was born in Warren, Conn, March 8th, 1864 [1764]: and removed to Tallmadge, in this State, in 1811. Owning only the land he designed to cultivate, and the team, which brought him with twelve children, he reached Tallmadge with but one dollar in his pocket, his wife was sick, and the dollar was soon parted with for a quart of poor wine, the best that could be obtained, and that, too, at a point no nearer than Canton. Previous to his setting out from Conn, he had procured a deed for a tract of land near the Center of Tallmadge, a tract evidently desirable; but upon his arrival, he found the ground already occupied and partially improved. The occupants, relying upon an agreement with the agent in the vicinity, had neglected to secure themselves by deeds in due time. With a magnanimity as rare as it was noble, Dea Sackett, surrendered his deed, went further back from the Center into what was then unbroken wilderness, and proceeded forthwith to the erection of a log house, his future residence for 18 years. With one of his oxen he bought some wheat, and with one of his horses he bought some swine.

In the next harvest season he began to be rewarded for his toil, and successive crops, and a handsome property, gradually acquired, attested his skill, his industry and his success. Dea Sackett, professed a healthy and vigorous constitution, a sober and steady judgement, and an indomitable energy, and perseverance the straight forward and unostentatious prosecution of his plan of life. He made the interest of the town his own interest; contributed always and substantially to the various public improvements, the construction of roads, the building of bridges, the building of an Academy and Meeting House. He made his religion his constant and paramount concern. He made a profession of religion at the age of 16 (1780) and was in early manhood elected a deacon of the church in his native town (about 1807). He was a warm, substantial and valuable supporter of the institutions of religion. He was characterized by an ardent attachment to the ministers of the gospel; by a readiness to leave his plough in the field, and go from house to house if the state of feeling seemed to encourage, and to labor for the revival of religion in the church, and for the conversion of sinners, and when the infirmities of 80 years and two attacks of palsy had caused reason to totter on its throne, he had, at any time, up to within a few days of his death, but to be asked to lead his children and his grand children in prayer at the family altar, and his mind was instantly recalled from its wanderings, his sentences were correct and well expressed, and his soul was animated as in earlier days, with the sentiments, the hopes and the spirit of an intelligent and unfeigned piety.

Mother		Lydia Newcomb b. c 1731, d. 1808

Homer Sackett, son of Deacon & Captain Justus Sacket and Lydia Newcomb, was born in Kent (later Warren), Litchfield County, Connecticut, on 6 August 1765.[1, 2] He died aged 87 in Warren on 17 May 1853[2, 3] and was buried at the Old Cemetery, Warren.[4] He married in Warren on 19 August 1787, Sarah Carter, daughter of Lieut Samuel Carter and Martha Buell, and sister of Benjamin Carter who married Homer's sister Lydia.[2, 5, 6] Sarah was born in Warren on 30 October 1768.[6] She died there aged 84 on 25 October 1852[6, 7] and was buried at the Old Cemetery, Warren.[8]

In 1790 Homer was living in Warren, Litchfield County, Connecticut. In his household were one man, two boys, and one female.[9]

Homer was listed in the census in 1800 and 1810 as a householder in Warren.[10, 11]

Homer was a pew holder in the Congregational Church of Christ, Warren, in 1816 and in 1822.[7, 12, 13]

Homer was listed in the census in 1830 and 1840 as a householder in Warren.[14, 15]

Homer made a will at Warren in 1844. He left his real estate to his wife during her lifetime, the estate then to go to their son Homer Jr, subject to Homer making cash payments to the other children. In the event, Homer's wife Sarah predeceased him. Appraisers appointed in June 1853 to make an inventory found the estate to be insolvent. At the request of Homer Jr as sole executor, commissioners were appointed by the Litchfield Probate Court to settle the claims of creditors.

In 1850 Homer was living in Warren, Litchfield County, and was recorded in the census as Homer Sackett, a farmer, aged 85. Living with him were his wife Sarah, 81, their son Homer Jr, 48, and daughter-in-law Flora, 42, and Homer and Flora's children, Edward, 14, Homer S, 11, Augustine, 9, and Flora, aged three. There were also two male laborers in the household and an 18-year-old female, perhaps a servant or farm worker.[16]

Abstract of Will of Homer Sackett of Warren, Litchfield County.
Submitted to Probate Court, Litchfield: 4 Jun 1853.
Date of will: 1844.
Beneficiaries:
Wife (not named), all land & buildings during her lifetime, $1,000 cash, all furniture.
Son Homer, all land & buildings, farm & stock, subject to wife's lifetime interest, & subject to paying $1,600 to other beneficiaries.
Daughters Aurella, $100; Polly, $200; Maria, $200.
Residue of estate, real & personal, equally to children: Augustine, Aaron, Orange, Seth, Homer, Polly, Aurella, Patty, & Maria, & grandson Frederick Starr Executors: son Homer Jr.
Witnesses: John Keep?, JohnTaylor, Augustus Colman.
Appraisers appointed to make an inventory found the estate to be insolvent.

Executor Homer Sackett Jr requested Probate Court to appoint Commissioners to settle the claims of creditors. Commissioners appointed 18 Jun 1853.

Father	556	Reuben Sackett b. 1732, d. 1803
Mother		Mercy Finney b. 1729/30, d. 1805

Samuel Sackett MD, son of Reuben Sackett and Mercy Finney, was born in Kent, Litchfield County, Connecticut, on 1 April 1754.[1, 2] He died aged 78 in Georges Township, Fayette County, Pennsylvania, on 13 February 1833[2] and was buried at Mount Moriah Baptist Cemetery, Smithfield, Fayette County.[3, 4] He married first in Sharon, Litchfield County, on 10 February 1777, Sarah Manning.[2, 5, 6, 7] She died in 1813.[2] He married second in Fayette County on 10 January 1819, Eve Stentz, daughter of Philip Daniel Stentz and Catharine Elizabeth Hertzog.[7] Eve was born in 1765.[4] She died aged about 81 in 1846 and was buried at Mount Moriah Baptist Cemetery.[4]

Samuel was an army surgeon during the American Revolutionary War, serving in Adjutant John Minten's 2nd Regiment from 1778 to 1781.[8, 3]

Samuel was an inhabitant and taxpayer of Menallen, Fayette County, Pennsylvania, in 1783.[9] He bought a plot of land in Union Township, Fayette County, on 22 June 1786[10] and was a taxpayer there in 1786 and 1788.[11]

In 1790 Samuel was living in Springhill Township, Fayette County, Pennsylvania. In his household were one man, three boys, and four females.[12]

In 1798 Samuel owned and occupied a log-built house in Springhill Township. The house measured 26 feet by 30 feet on a plot of 40 perches (a quarter of an acre). The value of the property was assessed at $140 on which he paid a tax of 28 cents. He was also the tenant of 67 acres of land in Springhill. He also owned unoccupied land comprising 216 acres in Wharton Township, Fayette County.[13], [14], [15], [16]

Samuel was listed in the 1800 census as a householder in Springhill.[17]

Samuel was named as a beneficiary in his father's will made in Warren, Connecticut, on 19 March 1800. He was then living away and would receive his inheritance if he returned and made claim within ten years. He was to receive £10 from his brother Alexander, the only son still living in Warren, who would then inherit their father's estate.[18]

Samuel was named as a beneficiary in his mother's will made in Warren, Connecticut, on 16 October 1804. He was living some way away and would receive his inheritance if he returned and made claim within five years.

Samuel was listed in the 1810 census as a householder in German Township, Fayette County.[19]

Samuel and his second wife, Eve, were among the original members who met at Dr Sackett's house, a mile south of Smithfield, to organize the Smithfield Methodist Episcopal Church in about 1819.[20] In 1820 he was listed in Springhill.[21] In 1830 he was living in Georges Township, Fayette County.[22]

Dr Samuel evidently had a sense of history and carefully kept his personal papers. Family letters have been preserved in the Museum at Yuma Territorial Prison State Park, Arizona. Images and transcriptions may be viewed on the Sackett Family Association website.

929 Alexander Sackett

Line 3 Reuben[M], Jonathan[L], William[K], John[J], Simon[I], Thomas[H], Thomas[G]

Father 556 Reuben Sackett b. 1732, d. 1803
Mother Mercy Finney b. 1729/30, d. 1805

Alexander Sackett, son of Reuben Sackett and Mercy Finney, was born in Kent, Litchfield County, Connecticut, on 6 March 1758.[1, 2] He died aged 71 in Warren, Litchfield County, on 17 March 1829[2, 3, 4] and was buried at the Old Cemetery, Warren.[3] He married Patience Fuller, daughter of Amos Fuller.[2] Patience was born about 1761.[5] She died aged 68 in Warren on 8 May 1829[6] and was buried at the Old Cemetery.[7]

Alexander served in the American Revolutionary War, first as a fifer in 1776 in the 13th Regiment, Connecticut Militia, and later as a sergeant in 1778 in Enos' Regiment, Connecticut State Troops.[2, 8, 9]

In 1790 Alexander was living in Warren, Litchfield County, Connecticut. In his household were one man, one boy, and two females.[10]

Alexander was admitted to the Congregational Church of Christ, Warren, on 22 December 1799. His wife Patience was admitted on 1 January 1801. Both were members on 11 May 1825.[11]

Alexander was listed in the census in 1800 and 1810 as a householder in Warren.[12, 13]

Alexander was named as a beneficiary in his father's will made in Warren, Connecticut, on 19 March 1800. He was the only one of the four sons still living in Warren. He was to inherit their father's estate subject to paying monetary amounts to each of his three brothers.[14]

Alexander was named as a beneficiary in his mother's will made in Warren, Connecticut, on 16 October 1804.

A letter written on 11 August 1814 by Alexander in Warren, Connecticut, to his brother Dr Samuel Sackett in Fayette County, Pennsylvania, survives in the Museum at Yuma Territorial State Park, Arizona. Alexander gives news of their recently widowed sister Aner who, although well provided for, is "rather lonely, living in her house with only one little boy about 13 years old." (Aner did not have children, so it is assumed that the boy would have been a servant.) Their sister Lucinda's health had also "not been well this summer." The children of their sister Violitty (who had died in 1807) were being well cared for by their father and stepmother. Their uncle Justus Sackett, then 83, had had a fall, breaking a thigh.

Other remarks in his letter show Alexander to have been a God-fearing man and to have had a strong public conscience, expressing anger "to hear of so much blood wantonly shed" (in the War of 1812, then still continuing), which had begun "as I beleave under the influence and directions of Buonapart".

Alexander was a pew holder in the Congregational Church of Christ, Warren, in 1816 and in 1822.[15]

Alexander made his will in Warren on 19 November 1827. Alexander and his wife Patience did not have children. Under the will, Patience was to have the use of the house and home farm during her lifetime. After her death, half the farm was to go to Amzi Gaylor who, it appears, cared for Alexander and Patience, the inheritance being subject to the care continuing to be provided during their lifetimes. The rest of the farm would also go to Amzi Gaylor and to Robert Gaylor, subject to the latter returning to work the farm, and subject to payment of $250 in various proportions to Alexander's sister Mercy Fuller's sons, Cyrus & William Fuller, and to Alexander's deceased sister Violitty's sons, Bennet, Reuben, & John Bates. Alexander also owned a separate lot of land, the Townhill lot, and a half share of a grist mill, which he left, subject to certain conditions, to Isaac Hazen, Amzi Hazen, Alexander S Hazen, and Amzi Hazen's two daughters. These were probably Patience's nephews and grand-nieces, the sons and granddaughters of Patience's sister Hannah who had married Eleazer Hazen.

Mother		Mercy Finney b. 1729/30, d. 1805

Cyrus Sackett, son of Reuben Sackett and Mercy Finney, was born in Kent, Connecticut, on 5 January 1764.[1, 2] He died aged 82 in Bellbrook, Greene County, Ohio, on 13 October 1846[3] and was buried at Fairview Primitive Baptist Church Cemetery, Bellbrook.[4, 5, 6] He married in Bourbon County, Kentucky, on 7 January 1792, Nancy Anne Stapleton, daughter of Joseph Stapleton and Sarah Lewis.[7] Nancy was born in Maryland on 6 March 1767. She died aged 88 in Bellbrook on 18 September 1855[8] and was buried at the Fairview Primitive Baptist Church Cemetery, Bellbrook.[8, 4, 9]

Cyrus Sacket served in the American Revolutionary War.[2]

Cyrus was a taxpayer in Union, Fayette County, in 1786.[10]

Cyrus was named as a beneficiary in his father's will made in Warren, Connecticut, on 19 March 1800. He was then living away and would receive his inheritance if he returned and made claim within ten years. He was to receive £35 from his brother Alexander, the only son still living in Warren, who would then inherit their father's estate.[11]

Cyrus was named as a beneficiary in his mother's will made in Warren, Connecticut, on 16 October 1804. He was living some way away and would receive his inheritance if he returned and made claim within five years.

Cyrus was listed in the census in 1820 and 1830 as a householder in Sugar Creek, Greene County, Ohio.[12, 13]

In 1850 Cyrus's widow was living in Sugar Creek and was recorded in the census as Nancy Sackett, aged 84 and born in Maryland. She was living next door to her son Alexander.[14]

History of Greene County, Ohio

Sackett Farm, in one name, from 1799 To 1899.

The following is taken from the "Bell Brook Moon:" "One hundred years ago Cyrus Sackett, accompanied by his wife and three children, came from Kentucky and settled on what has been known in later years as the Alexander Sackett farm. Mr. Sackett bought this farm of one hundred and fifty acres at two dollars per acre. They arrived there on October 17, at three o'clock in the afternoon. The land was then covered with dense forests. He, however, cleared a small space, where they pitched their tents made of bed clothes, in which they managed to live for some time. Mr. Sackett then built a log cabin, which was called a round-log cabin, in which they lived for several years. He then built a large hewed-log house, which was at that time considered very fine. Here Mr. Sackett and wife spent the remainder of their lives. After their death the farm was divided into two parts and sold. Alexander Sackett bought the eastern part containing eighty acres, and Preston Poague bought the remainder of the farm, which is now owned by the heirs of the late Benjamin Vaughan. Alexander Sackett held this farm in his possession until his death, which occurred April 10, 1893. The farm was then purchased jointly by Phineas Wilson and Emily Sackett, grandchildren of Cyrus Sackett. The farm remained in their possession until the end of the year 1899, when they sold it to Jacob Carey. Thus it passed out of the Sackett name after being in their possession one hundred years, two months and eighteen days. This is a very rare occurrence."

In the old Baptist graveyard about one mile south of the village of Bell Brook lies all that is mortal of Cyrus Sackett, Sr. Many more of historic worth also are buried there; among the number are Rev. Josiah Carman, the veteran pioneer Baptist preacher, Captain Ammi Maltbie, who made a name for himself in the war of 1812, Andrew Byrd, Sr., and others. Mr. Cyrus Sackett, Sr., died at his home July 13, 1846, aged eighty-three years, leaving his wife, Nancy, and the following children: sons, Alexander, Joseph, Samuel and Cyrus Sackett, Jr.; daughters Sarah Hand, Mrs. Anna Hoblet and Mrs. Poague.

Line 3 Reuben[M], Jonathan[L], William[K], John[J], Simon[I], Thomas[H], Thomas[G]

Father 556 Reuben Sackett b. 1732, d. 1803
Mother Mercy Finney b. 1729/30, d. 1805

Aner Sackett, daughter of Reuben Sackett and Mercy Finney, was born in Kent, Connecticut, on 10 April 1766.[1, 2] She died after 1814. She married before 1804, Reuben Williams. He was born about 1761.[3] He died aged 51 in Warren, Litchfield County, Connecticut, on 11 March 1813[4, 5] and was buried at the Old Cemetery, Warren, Connecticut.[6]

Aner was named as a beneficiary in her father's will made in Warren, Connecticut, on 19 March 1800. She was to inherit a 26-acre woodland lot known as Johnson's Pitch.[7]

Aner, listed as Anar Williams, was named as a beneficiary in her mother's will made in Warren, Connecticut, on 16 October 1804.

Reuben made his will in Warren on 6 March 1813, appointing Homer Sacket (Aner's first cousin) as executor. Reuben's estate was valued at some $2,000, including his 32-acre farm with dwelling house and barn, valued at $700. Homer compiled a most thorough inventory of Reuben's assets and effects, including crops, livestock (gray mare $40), and personal clothing (1 yellow silk handkerchief 60 cents). Reuben was apparently a man of some means and his inventory included loans (with accumulated interest) made to various family members and others. There were outstanding loans of $12 to Benjamin Sacket and $5 to Alexander Sacket. The extent and complexity of the inventory are reflected in Homer's statement of expenses which included an item "to ten days taking inventory & examining accounts $17.00."

Reuben left the use of all his real and personal estate to his wife Aner during her lifetime, after which his brothers Sturges and Jesse and sister Betty Arsbourn were to inherit.[7]

Aner's brother Alexander, writing from Warren to their brother Samuel in Pennsylvania on 11 August 1814, reported that "Sister Aner lives in her house with only one little boy about 13 years old. her situation is rather lonely tho she has property so she can support her self comfortably. She keeps one horse and one cow and that is all she pretends to winter. She is not very healthy but has a feble Constitution."[8]

It is clear from Reuben's will that he and Aner did not have children, and it would appear that the 13-year-old boy would have been a servant. In the 1810 census Reuben's household in Warren comprised one male aged 45+ and one female aged 26 to 44, with no children.

Father	556	Reuben Sackett b. 1732, d. 1803

Violitty Sackett, daughter of Reuben Sackett and Mercy Finney, was born in Kent, Litchfield County, Connecticut, on 18 July 1771.[1, 2] She died aged 35 in Connecticut on 9 May 1807[3, 4] and was buried at Good Hill Cemetery, Kent.[5, 6] She married in Cornwall, Litchfield County, on 24 November 1791, John Bates, son of Isaac Bates and Jemima Carter.[7, 8] John was born in Cornwall about 1771.[9] He died aged 46 in Kent, Litchfield County, on 20 January 1818[10] and was buried at Good Hill Cemetery.[6]

Violitty was named as a beneficiary in her father's will made in Warren, Connecticut, on 19 March 1800. She was left a sum of ten shillings.[11]

Violitty, listed as Voilet Beats, was named as a beneficiary in her mother's will made in Warren, Connecticut, on 16 October 1804.

Violitty died shortly after the birth of her daughter Violitta (or, perhaps, also Violitty). John Bates, with a number of young children to care for, soon remarried. Violitty's brother Alexander, writing from Warren, Connecticut, in August 1814 to his brother Dr Samuel, in Fayette County, Pennsylvania, reported that Violitty's children were living with their father who, although "not a very healthy man is a man that is doing well and makes property" and that "his second wife does very well in the family."[12]

John died aged 46 in 1818. His will stated that he had nine children. After the "widow's third" left to his widow Margaret, he left the rest of his estate to his children, to be shared such that his sons each received double that of his daughters.[11]

Father	563	William Sacket b. 1730, d. 1802
Mother		Lydia Weller b. 1739, d. 1828

Lydia Sacket, daughter of William Sacket and Lydia Weller, was born in Westfield, Hampden County, Massachusetts, on 27 October 1764[1, 2, 3] and baptized at the Church of Christ, Westfield, on 4 November 1764.[4] She died aged 73 in Westfield on 23 August 1838[3, 5] and was buried at the Old Burying Ground, Westfield.[6] She married first at the First Church, Westfield, on 16 March 1785, Solomon Noble, son of Samuel Noble and Catharine Fowler.[3, 5, 7, 8, 9] Solomon was born in Westfield on 17 May 1760.[5] He died there aged 25 on 11 May 1786.[5] She married second at the First Church, Westfield, on 12 July 1797, Amos Bush, son of Aaron Bush and Mary Ashley.[5, 10] Amos was born on 1 April 1754.[5, 11] He died aged 56 on 10 March 1810[5] and was buried at the Old Burying Ground, Westfield.[6]

Lydia was named in her father's will made in Westfield on 24 January 1797 and proved on 2 March 1802. She was to inherit 64 acres of land, and was also left a sum of $10.[12]

Weygant, The Sacketts of America, stated that Lydia married third in about 1813 Samuel Judd. This record, which appears to have been taken from Lucius Boltwood's History and Genealogy of the Family of Thomas Noble (1878), is found to have been mistaken. Lydia was buried as Lydia Bush. Samuel Judd, himself a Sackett descendant (he was Lydia's second cousin), married another cousin, Sylvia Sackett, in 1807.

Moses Sacket, a farmer, son of William Sacket and Lydia Weller, was born in Westfield, Hampden County, Massachusetts, on 3 December 1766[1, 2, 3] and baptized at the Church of Christ, Westfield, on 7 December 1766.[4] He died aged 83 in Westfield on 21 March 1850[1, 5, 6] and was buried at West Parish Cemetery, Westfield.[7] He married at the First Church, Westfield, on 24 December 1795, Tryphena Hiscock, daughter of William Hiscock.[1, 8, 9, 10] Tryphena was born in Massachusetts in 1772.[7, 11] She died aged about 82 in Westfield on 29 August 1854 and was buried at West Parish Cemetery, Westfield.[7]

Moses was listed in the 1800, 1810, 1820, 1830, and 1840 censuses as a householder in Westfield.[12, 13, 14, 15, 16]

Moses was named in his father's will made in Westfield on 24 January 1797 and proved on 2 March 1802. He was to inherit an equal share of the estate with his five brothers after specific bequests of lands to their two sisters.[17]

In 1850 Moses's widow Tryphena was living at Westfield, Hampden County, Massachusetts, and was recorded in the census as Tryphene Sacket, aged 77, and born in Massachusetts. Living with her were her daughter

Laura, aged 33, and granddaughter Laura, aged 11, (daughter of son Martin.)[18]

Royal Sacket, son of William Sacket and Lydia Weller, was born in Westfield, Hampden County, Massachusetts, on 12 June 1769[1, 2, 3] and baptized at the Church of Christ, Westfield, on 18 June 1769.[4] He died aged 34 in Westfield on 5 May 1804.[1, 5] He married at the First Church, Westfield, on 30 January 1794, Catharine Noble, daughter of Gad Noble and Catharine Noble.[1, 6, 7, 8, 9] Royal's widow Catherine married second at the First Church, Westfield, on 3 June 1806, Amos Bush Jr, son of Amos Bush who was Royal's sister Lydia's second husband.[10, 11] Catharine was born on 2 June 1769.[9] She died aged 43 in Westfield on 18 May 1813.[12]

Royal was listed in the 1800 census as a householder in Westfield.[13]

Royal was named in his father's will made in Westfield on 24 January 1797 and proved on 2 March 1802. He was to inherit an equal share of the estate with his five brothers after specific bequests of lands to their two sisters. In a codicil to the will, in June 1799, Royal's share was reallocated in equal shares to his children, perhaps indicating that Royal had been taken ill by that date.[14]

Line 3 William[M], Henry[L], Thomas[K], Thomas[J], John[I], George[H], Thomas[G]

Father 580 William Sackett b. 1741, d. 1819
Mother Anne Ansell b. c 1739, d. 1833

Thomas Sackett, shipwright, son of William Sackett and Anne Ansell, was born in St Peter in Thanet, Kent, on 9 December 1777 and baptized there on 25 December 1777.[1] He died aged 79 in Hereson, St Lawrence in Thanet, on 30 August 1857[2, 3, 4] and was buried at the Ebenezer Independent Chapel, Ramsgate, on 3 September 1857.[3] He married in St Lawrence in Thanet on 17 June 1804, Mary Ansell.[5] Mary was born in St Lawrence about 1778.[6, 7] She died aged 93 at Hereson on 23 February 1872[8, 9] and was buried at the Ebenezer Independent Chapel on 29 February 1872.[9]

In 1841 Thomas was living at Hereson, St Lawrence in Thanet, and was recorded in the census as Thomas Sackett, a carpenter, aged 60+ and born in Kent. Living with him were his wife Mary, also 60+, and children, Mary, 30+, Elizabeth, 20+, and William, 19. Thomas and Mary's son Thomas was living next door.[10]

In 1851 he was living at Hereson, St Lawrence in Thanet, and was recorded as Thomas Sackett, a shipwright, head of household, married, aged 73 and born in St Peter in Thanet. Living with him were his wife Mary, aged 72, born in St Lawrence, their daughter Elizabeth aged 32, and their granddaughter Rachel, aged 10. [The parents of the 10-year-old

Rachel Sackett have not been identified. A record has not been found in the GRO indexes.].[11]

Thomas made his will in Hereson, St Lawrence in Thanet, on 14 June 1844, naming as beneficiaries his wife Mary, his sons Thomas, William, and George, and his daughters Sarah, Mary, and Elizabeth.[12] He left all his personal estate (valued at under £100) to his wife Mary, and she was to have the freehold property for life. After her death the property was to be sold and the proceeds divided equally among the children. Thomas stated in his will that his daughter Sarah was to be treated as a daughter in wedlock. Her baptism record gave her mother's name as Sarah, not Mary, although Thomas and Mary had been married for a year before Sarah's birth. The will was proved at Canterbury on 7 August 1858.

In 1861 Thomas's widow Mary was living at Hereson, St Lawrence in Thanet, and was recorded in the census as Mary Sackett, head of household, a widow, aged 82, house proprietor. Living with her was her unmarried daughter Elizabeth, aged 42, a shop keeper.[13]

In 1871 she was living at Sackett Cottages, Hereson, St Lawrence in Thanet, and was recorded as Mary Sackett, head of household, a widow, aged 92. Her unmarried daughter Elizabeth was living with her.[14]

Thomas's widow Mary died intestate. Administration of her estate was granted to her daughter Elizabeth on 19 October 1872.[15]

Father 581 John Sackett b. 1743, d. 1827
Mother Catherine Andrews b. c 1753, d. 1831

Jeremiah Sackett, master tailor of Ramsgate, Kent, son of John Sackett and Catherine Andrews, was born in St John in Thanet, Kent, on 9 January 1775 and baptized there on 29 January 1775.[1] He died aged 72 in Ramsgate on 2 March 1847.[2, 3] He married at St Peter in Thanet on 13 April 1797, Sarah Hodgeman, daughter of Thomas Hodgeman and Mary Cock.[4] Jeremiah was also a witness on the same day to the marriage of Elizabeth Hodgman and Thomas Hope. It would appear that Sarah and Elizabeth were sisters who had arranged a double wedding. Sarah was baptized at St Peter in Thanet on 4 July 1779.[5] She died aged 71 in Ramsgate on 8 July 1850.[6]

Jeremiah was apprenticed to master tailor William Blackburn of St Peter in Thanet on 30 January 1790. He completed his apprenticeship by 1799 when he, in turn, took on an apprentice.[7]

Jeremiah was named as a beneficiary in his father's will made in St Peter in Thanet, Kent, on 26 April 1823. A loan of £100 received from his father was waived.[8]

In 1840 Jeremiah was trading as a tailor at 26 Harbour Street, Ramsgate.[9]

In 1841 Jeremiah was living at Harbour Street, Ramsgate, and was recorded in the census as Jeremiah Sackett, a tailor, aged 65 and born in Kent. Living with him were his wife Sarah, 61, and their children, William, 30, Eliza, 23, and Mary, 22, and granddaughter, Sarah Bayley, aged 12. Also in the household was a female servant, Sarah Hope, who was perhaps related to Jeremiah's sister-in-law, Elizabeth.[10]

Jeremiah made his will in Ramsgate on 24 February 1825, naming as beneficiary his wife Sarah.[11] He left her all his real and personal estate. The will was proved on 6 May 1847.

Father	581	John Sackett b. 1743, d. 1827
Mother		Catherine Andrews b. c 1753, d. 1831

Ann Sackett, daughter of John Sackett and Catherine Andrews, was born in St Peter in Thanet, Kent, on 19 December 1779[1] and baptized there on 2 January 1780.[1] She died aged 89 in Ash next Sandwich, Kent, in 1869.[2] She married at Ash next Sandwich on 12 October 1797, John Cook.[3, 4]

Ann and John had a record number of twenty-one children, and the feat was recorded by Peter Laslett in The World We Have Lost: "The child-producing record amongst women known to historical demographers is at present shared between the wife of a solicitor of Geneva who had 21 births in the late 17th century and a girl from Kent, Ann Sackett, who was born in 1779 at Ash in that county. At 18 she married John Cook, a labourer there. By 1823 they had had 21 children at 20 births, and Ann was still alive in 1851."

Ann was named as a beneficiary in her father's will made in St Peter in Thanet, Kent, on 26 April 1823. She was to be paid £100 out of a loan received from her father by her husband John Cook.[5]

In 1851 Ann was living in Ash next Sandwich and was recorded in the census as Ann Cook, a landed proprietor, head of household, a widow, aged 72. Living with her were her unmarried sons, Edward, 40, Zachariah, 30, and Samuel, aged 28.[6]

In 1861 she was living in Ash next Sandwich in the household of her unmarried son Thomas, and was recorded as Ann Cook, of independent means, a widow, aged 82.[7]

Father 581 John Sackett b. 1743, d. 1827
Mother Catherine Andrews b. c 1753, d. 1831

Vincent Andrews Sackett, farmer of Northwood, St Peter in Thanet, Kent, son of John Sackett and Catherine Andrews, was born in St Peter in Thanet on 4 May 1793 and baptized there on 20 May 1793.[1] He died aged 90 in Northwood on 5 June 1883[2, 3, 4] and was buried at St Peter in Thanet on 11 June 1883.[5] He married at St Peter in Thanet on 29 October 1814, Mary Browning, daughter of William Browning and Sarah ___.[6] Mary was baptized at Stourmouth, Kent, on 19 October 1789.[7] She died aged 68 in Thanet[8] and was buried at St Peter in Thanet on 4 January 1858.[9] Mary was a sister of Jane Browning, the wife of Barzillai Cock who was a witness at the marriage of Vincent and Mary.[10, 11, 12] Also living in Vincent and Mary's household was Elizabeth Cock, a niece of Mary's brother-in-law Barzillai Cock. Vincent had two illegitimate children by Elizabeth: Vincent in about 1837 and Barzillai in 1844. They were brought up in Vincent and Mary's household alongside their legitimate child Mary. Elizabeth continued to live in the household, being described in the 1841 census as a servant and in 1851 as Vincent's niece and a domestic servant. Elizabeth was the daughter of William Cock and Sarah ___ and was baptized at St John in Thanet, Kent, on 4 July 1819.[13]

Vincent was named as a beneficiary in his father's will made in St Peter in Thanet, Kent, on 26 April 1823. He was left all remaining property and personal estate after other bequests, and was appointed an executor of the will.[14]

In 1841 Vincent was living at Northwood, St Peter in Thanet, and was recorded in the census as Vincent Sackett, a farmer, aged 48 and born in Kent. Living with him were his wife Mary, 48, their daughter Mary, 15, and Vincent's son Vincent Cox Sackett, aged four, by Elizabeth Cox. Elizabeth, 25, was also in the household, described as a servant.[15]

In 1851 he was living at Northwood, St Peter in Thanet, and was recorded as Vincent A Sackett, head of household, a farmer with 15 acres, aged 57 and born in St Peter's. The other members of his household were his wife Mary, aged 59 and born in Stourmouth, Kent, his unmarried daughter, Mary, aged 23, his sons, Vincent, 13, and Barzillai, 6, his granddaughter Julia, 5, and his niece, Elizabeth Cox, a domestic servant aged 30.[16]

In 1861 he was living at Northwood and was recorded as Vincent Sackett, a farmer of 13 acres, head of household, a widower, aged 67. Living with him were E Cox, niece and housekeeper, unmarried, aged 40, and B Cox, a servant, aged 17, and described as Vincent's niece. [E Cox would be Elizabeth Cock; it is unclear who B Cox would have been, although it is likely to have been a wrongly recorded Barzillai Sackett, son of Vincent and Elizabeth, who has not been found elsewhere in this census.].[17]

In 1871 he was living at Northwood and was recorded as Vincent Sackett, a farmer "out of business", head of household, a widower, aged 77. Living with him was Elizabeth Cox, aged 50, described as a general domestic servant.[18]

In 1881 he was living at Northwood and was recorded as Vincent A Sackett, a former farmer, head of household, a widower, aged 87. Living with him was Elizabeth Cox, housekeeper, unmarried, aged 60 and born in Canterbury.[19]

Vincent's will, made in Northwood on 15 March 1882, was proved at Canterbury on 21 July 1883. Named as beneficiaries were his son Barzillai, his grandson George Taylor, and his granddaughter Mary Jane Matilda Taylor. He appointed his son Barzillai and Charles Giles, husband of his granddaughter Julia, as executors and trustees. He placed his homestead of 5½ acres, with two cottages, in trust, one cottage to continue to be occupied by his son-in-law George Taylor, and the other to be occupied by his grandchildren George Taylor and Mary Taylor, the two grandchildren to be responsible for their father's maintenance. He left to his common-law wife Elizabeth Cock "commonly called Elizabeth Sackett" all household furniture and effects, and the right to live in his cottage for six months after his death. The residue of his estate was to go to his son Barzillai. The value of his personal estate was £147.[20]

Edward Newing Sackett, shipwright of Bermondsey, Surrey, son of Jeremiah Sackett and Hannah Newing, was born in St Lawrence in Thanet, Kent, on 19 February 1780 and baptized there on 12 March 1780.[1] He died aged 73 in Bermondsey[2] and was buried at St James' Church, Bermondsey, on 18 June 1853.[3] He married Ann ___. Ann was born in Ireland about 1781.[4] She died aged 60 in Bermondsey[5] and was buried at St James' Church, Bermondsey, on 5 January 1842.[6]

Edward Newing Sackett became a shipwright apprentice in 1795.[7]

Edward was named as a beneficiary in his father's will made in Northwood, St Lawrence in Thanet, Kent, on 12 March 1838.[8] He was to inherit a house next to that of his brother Benjamin at Sackett's Hill, St Peter's, and a half-share with his brother Benjamin in a third adjoining house. Edward and his brother Benjamin were also left jointly two houses at Northwood, one of which was occupied by their father's brother Edward and their father's great-niece Ann Darby who was the housekeeper. Edward and his brother were to provide financially for their aged uncle and for Ann.

In 1841 Edward was living at George Row, St Mary Magdalen, Bermondsey, Surrey, and was recorded in the census as Edward Sackett, a shipwright, aged 60 and born outside Surrey. The other members of his household were his wife Ann, aged 55 and described as Irish, and his son Edward, aged 20.[9]

Edward Sackett, then of Rotherhithe, London, was issued a merchant seaman's ticket on 21 August 1845. He worked at sea as a carpenter on voyages in 1845 and 1846. The detailed record reveals that he was literate, 5' 8" in height, had dark grey hair, a fair complexion, hazel eyes, and had "E.S." tattooed on his right arm. He had first gone to sea as a carpenter in 1833.[10]

In 1851 he was living at 9 James Place, Bermondsey, and was recorded as Edward Sackett, a shipwright, head of household, a lodger, aged 76 [actually 71] and born in Ramsgate.[11]

(1789 - 1854)

Line 3	Jeremiah[M], Henry[L], Thomas[K], Thomas[J], John[I], George[H], Thomas[G]

Father	584	Jeremiah Sackett b. 1749/50, d. 1838
Mother		Hannah Newing b. c 1761, d. 1816

Benjamin Sackett, son of Jeremiah Sackett and Hannah Newing, was born in St Lawrence in Thanet on 30 September 1789 and baptized there on 14 October 1789.[1] He died aged 64 and was buried at St Lawrence in Thanet on 25 January 1854.[2, 3, 4] Benjamin's first partner, Ann Cox, died in childbirth in July 1811 following the birth of a son.[5] Benjamin married at St George's Church, Hanover Square, Westminster, Middlesex, on 11 October 1815, Mary Gore, daughter of John Gore and Martha ___.[6] Mary was born near Faversham, Kent, about 1787[7] and baptized at Eastling, Kent, on 18 March 1787.[8] She died aged about 75 and was buried at St Lawrence in Thanet on 7 October 1862.[9, 10]

Benjamin was named as a beneficiary in his father's will made in Northwood, St Lawrence in Thanet, Kent, on 12 March 1838.[11] He was to inherit the house in which he was already living at Sackett's Hill, St Peter's, and a half-share with his brother Edward in an adjoining house. Benjamin and his brother Edward were also left jointly two houses at Northwood, one of which was occupied by their father's brother Edward and their father's great-niece Ann Darby who was the housekeeper. Benjamin and his brother were to provide financially for their aged uncle and for Ann.

Benjamin did not remain at Sackett's Hill very long after his father's death.

In 1841 he was living at High Street, Ramsgate, Kent, and was recorded as Benjamine Sacket, a gardener, aged 50 and born in Kent. Living with him was his wife Mary, 50. Also in the household was a ten-year-old Mary Gore, presumably a relation of Benjamin's wife.[12]

In 1851 he was living at Pegwell, St Lawrence in Thanet, Kent, and was recorded as Benjamin Sackett, a gardener, head of household, married, aged 61, and born in St Lawrence. Living with him was his wife Mary, aged 63, and born in Faversham.[13]

In 1861 Benjamin's widow Mary was living at 19 Hertford Place, Ramsgate, in the household of Edmund Edney and family, and was recorded in the census as Mary Sackett, a widow, aged 78, and born in Faversham, Kent.[14]

John Henry Sackett, son of Henry Sackett and Hannah Foott, was born in Rotherhithe, Surrey, on 7 July 1789 and baptized at Jamaica Row Independent Chapel, Bermondsey, Surrey, on 7 August 1789.[1] He died, aged 18, presumably in Kent, in 1808.

John disappeared after visiting a Mr Harvey at Parsonage House, Woodnesborough, Kent, on 22 April 1808. Harvey placed a newspaper advertisement on 3 May offering a reward of ten guineas for information. It was feared that John, who suffered from fits, may have drowned, or possibly was on board a Royal Navy ship.

John was named as a beneficiary in his father's will made in Kennington Green, Lambeth, Surrey, on 15 June 1807. He was left, equally with his sisters Ann and Mary, a sum of £2,000, together with the proceeds from the sale of all real estate, and the residue of his father's personal estate after other bequests.[2]

John was named as a beneficiary in his uncle Ambrose Sackett's will made in St John in Thanet on 6 February 1808. He was left an amount of £500 in Government stocks (initially in his father's custody) "to set him up in business". He was also left £20 in his own right.[3]

Ten Guineas Reward.

Whereas John Henry Sackett left Mr. Harvey's, the Parsonage-House, Woodnesborough, near Sandwich, Kent, on the 22d of April, 1808; he is about 20 years of age, five feet nine inches high, dark complexion, with short dark hair; had on a new hat, corderoy jacket and breches, short boots and brown gaiters; it is supposed he is either drowned, or on board one of his Majesty's ships or cutters; he is much afflicted with fits, which renders him totally unfit for that service:—Any person giving an account where he may be found, and returned to his friends, shall receive the above Reward,—Address to Mr. Harvey as above; or Henry Sackett, No. 20, Kennington-Green, Surry [sic].

Ann Sackett, daughter of Thomas Sackett and Martha Grant, was born in Rotherhithe, Surrey, on 27 January 1802 and baptized at St Mary, Rotherhithe, on 26 February 1802.[1] She died aged 72 in Loddon, Norfolk,[2] and was buried at the City of London and Tower Hamlets Cemetery on 29 December 1874.[3] She married at St Mary, Bermondsey, Surrey, on 28 March 1819, Wales Peck, mariner, later a Trinity House pilot, son of Wales Peck and Judith Brooks.[4, 5] Wales was born in Great Yarmouth, Norfolk, on 2 November 1797 and baptized there on 20 November 1797.[6] He died aged 51 in Stepney, London, on 5 April 1849[7] and was buried at the City of London and Tower Hamlets Cemetery on 13 April 1849.[8, 9]

In 1841 Ann was living at Havering Street, Stepney, in the household of her husband Wales Peck, 43, a pilot, and was recorded in the census as Ann Peck, aged 39. Their daughter Ann, 15, was living with them.[10]

In 1851 she was living at 28 Jubliee Street, Stepney, and was recorded as Ann Peck, an annuitant, head of household, a widow, aged 49. Her daughter Ann, 25, was living with her.[11]

In 1861 she was living in Brooke, Loddon, Norfolk, and was recorded as Ann Peck, an annuitant, head of household, a widow, aged 59. Her unmarried daughter Ann, 35, was living with her.[12]

In 1871 she was living in Brooke and was recorded as Ann Peck, an annuitant, head of household, a widow, aged 69. Her daughter Ann, 45, was living with her.[13]

Wales died intestate. Administration of his estate was granted to his widow Ann by the Prerogative Court of Canterbury in July 1849. However, she did not complete the administration and a further grant was made by the Principal Registry to their daughter Ann on 25 November 1876.[14]

Mother		Mary Hughes b. c 1757, d. 1827

Thomas Sackett, a carrier, son of John Sackett and Mary Hughes, was born in St John in Thanet, Kent, on 27 February 1791 and baptized there on 27 March 1791.[1] He died aged 69[2] and was buried at the Zion Chapel, Margate, on 7 August 1860.[3] He married at St John in Thanet on 7 October 1819, Martha Setterfield.[4] Martha was born in Minster, Kent, about 1793.[5, 6] She died aged 68[7] and was buried at the Zion Chapel on 6 September 1861.[8]

In 1841 Thomas was living at King Street, St John, Margate, Kent, and was recorded in the census as Thos Sackett, a carrier, aged 50 and born in Kent. Living with him were his wife Martha, 42, and their children, Thomas, 15, George, 14, Elizabeth, 11, Eliza, 10, and Emma, aged nine. Their other children, Edward, 8, Catherine, 6, William, 5, and Stephen, aged two, were living a few doors away in the household of Richard Fagg.[9, 10]

In 1851 he was living at King Street, St John, Margate, and was recorded as Thomas Sackett, a carrier, head of household, married, aged 60, and born in Margate. Living with him were his wife Martha and their children, Elizabeth, 20, Edward, 18, William, 14, Stephen, 12, and Emma, aged six.[11]

In 1861 Thomas's widow Martha was living in St Olave, Southwark, Surrey, and was recorded in the census as Martha Sackett, aged 61 [actually

Line 3.2 Thomas[M]

Father	607	Thomas Sackett of Hopewell b. say 1720
Mother		Sarah Haywood b. say 1720

Elijah Sackett, son of Thomas Sackett of Hopewell and Sarah Haywood, was born probably in Pennsylvania in 1751.[1, 2, 3] He died aged 85 in Delaware, Ohio, on 29 August 1837[1, 4] and was buried at Oak Grove Cemetery, Delaware.[5, 6] He married first in 1779, Catharine Gibson, daughter of William Gibson Jr. and Anna Seaton.[1] Catharine was born in Hopewell, Mercer County, New Jersey, in 1760.[5] She died aged about 70 in West Berlin, Delaware County, Ohio, on 7 December 1830 and was buried at Oak Grove Cemetery, Delaware.[5] He married second say 1832, Martha ___.[7] She died on 28 September 1848 and was buried at Oak Grove Cemetery, Delaware.[5]

Elijah served in the American Revolutionary War in the 6th Battalion in Pennsylvania in 1780.[6, 8, 9, 10, 11]

Elijah paid taxes in Fannett, Franklin County, Pennsylvania, in 1781 on 100 acres of land, a horse and two cows. He paid state tax there in 1785 and 1786.[12] He was listed there in the 1786 septennial census.[13]

Elijah was listed in the 1800 census as a householder in Tyrone, Crawford County, Pennsylvania.[14] He was also listed as a taxpayer in Toboyne, Cumberland County, Pennsylvania, in 1800.[15] In 1810 he was a householder in Toboyne.[16] In 1820 and 1830 he was a householder in Berlin, Delaware County, Ohio.[17, 18]

After Catharine's death, and although now about 80, Elijah evidently married again. His second wife, Martha, was the subject of an agreement with Elijah's sons, Milton, Guy, and Augustine, setting aside part of Elijah's real estate as a widow's dower.[7, 19]

Azariah Sackett, son of Thomas Sackett of Hopewell and Sarah Haywood, was born, presumably in Pennsylvania, say 1753.[1] He died in Ohio about 1805.[2] He married Elizabeth Young.[1]

Azariah served as a sergeant in the Cumberland County (Pennsylvania) Militia in the American Revolutionary War.[3, 4]

Azariah was listed as a freeman of Fannett, Franklin County, Pennsylvania, in tax lists from 1779 to 1785.[5] In 1786 he was a taxpayer in Armagh, Cumberland County, Pennsylvania. He paid tax there on two horses and two cows in 1788 and on 400 acres of land in 1789.[6]

In 1790 Azariah was living in Mifflin, Pennsylvania. In his household were one man, one boy, and three females.[7]

Azariah removed, probably in the late 1790s, to Ohio. He was named on a petition to Congress, dated 20 February 1801, by settlers on the public land between the "Waters of Muskingum, and Sciota River" seeking pre-emption rights for the land they had settled and improved.[8]

Unnamed Sackett, child of Jonathan Sackett and Mary Ford, was born in New Haven, Connecticut, in 1766.[1, 2]

This child is the subject of a hypothesis that, if male, he may have been the Jonathan Sacket who married Lucinda Plumb in Milford, Connecticut, in 1802, and had children, Daniel in about 1803, Gad (later renamed James) in 1804, and Isaac in 1806.

Another possibility, again if male, is that he could have been Ezra Sackett, of whom mention is found in a memoir, but for whom no other historical record has been found.

Father	616	Samuel Sackett b. 1741, d. 1826
Mother		Abigail Blakeslee b. 1746, d. 1813

Abigail Sackett, daughter of Samuel Sackett and Abigail Blakeslee, was born in North Haven, New Haven County, Connecticut, on 4 September 1782[1, 2] and baptized at St John's, North Haven, in 1782.[2] She died aged 85 in North Haven on 1 April 1868 and was buried at New Center Cemetery, North Haven.[3, 4] She married first in North Haven on 15 October 1806, Benjamin Dixon, son of John Dixon and Jane Gordon.[2] Benjamin was born in Voluntown, New London County, Connecticut, on 14 May 1776.[5] He died aged 31 in New Haven on 9 July 1807 and was buried at Grove Street Cemetery, New Haven.[3, 6, 7] She married second in Wallingford, New Haven County, on 4 June 1809, James Munson, son of Jonathan Munson and Mary Taintor.[2, 8] James was born on 20 October 1780.[9] He died on 9 September 1858 and was buried at New Center Cemetery, North Haven.[3, 10, 11]

Abigail and her father Samuel Sackett were appointed administrators of Benjamin Dixon's estate by the New Haven Court on 20 July 1807, with Elisha Jones, a mariner, standing surety. An inventory valued the estate at $669 with debts of $203.[12]

In 1850 Abigail was living in North Haven in the household of her husband James Munson, 69, a farmer, and was recorded in the census as Abigail Munson, aged 67 and born in Connecticut. Living with them were their [presumably unmarried] children, George, 40, Olive, 37, Willis, 31, and Louisa, 29, and their married daughter Eunice Cooper, 34. There was also a male pauper in the household.[13]

In 1860 she was living in North Haven in the household of her son George, 50, and was recorded as Abigail Munson, aged 78. Her daughter Olive, 45, was also living with them.[14]

Administration of Abigail's estate was granted to her son George by the New Haven Court on 4 May 1868, with her son-in-law Willis Cooper as surety. Her estate was valued at $2,972 which included several lots of land as well as the home lot, a US Treasury note, and a bank savings account.[12]

Father	617	Eli Sackett b. 1743, d. 1826

Joseph Sackett, son of Eli Sackett and Sarah ___, was born about 1790.[1] He died aged 44 in North Haven, New Haven County, Connecticut, on 9 April 1834[1, 2] and was buried at the Old Center Cemetery, North Haven.[3, 4]

Joseph was listed in the 1830 census as a householder in North Haven.[5]

Joseph died intestate. His brother Daniel Sackett and brother-in-law Philemon Pierpont were appointed by the New Haven Court of Probate on 14 April 1834 as administrators of his estate. An inventory valued his real estate at $1,413 and his personal estate at $116. After claims against the estate, the net value was $1,267. Equal beneficiaries were Joseph's brothers, John, Eli, and Daniel Sackett, his sisters, Sarah Ives, Lydia Todd, and Betsey Clark, and the heirs of his late sisters Mehitabel Pierpont and Bede Barns. (The entry in the Distribution of the Real Estate of Joseph Sackett dated 22 January 1835 referring to "the heirs of Bede Barns dec'd" would appear to have been in error as Bede's death on 18 September 1867 is well documented.)

Capt Joel Sackett, son of Solomon Sackett and Mary ___, was born in North Haven, New Haven County, Connecticut, about 1770[1] and baptized at the Congregational Society, North Haven, on 24 July 1774.[2, 3] He died aged about 30 in Cheshire, New Haven County, in 1800.[2, 4] He married at the Congregational Society Church, North Haven, on 6 December 1789, Lydia Todd, daughter of Hezekiah Todd and Lydia Frost.[2, 1, 5] After Joel's death, Lydia married, second, Enos Moss at the Congregational Society, Cheshire, on 26 January 1804.[2]

In 1790 Joel was living in North Haven, New Haven County, Connecticut. The census record is of a household comprising only one man although Joel had married the previous year. There is no evidence of another Joel Sackett living in North Haven at this time.[6]

Joel died intestate. Lydia, his widow, and Caleb Todd were appointed administrators of his personal estate by the Wallingford Probate District Court on 1 October 1800. An inventory valued his estate at $605. His widow and children, Butler and Maria, each received items to the value of one-third of that sum.[7]

(1801 - 1868)

Line 4 Solomon[M], Samuel[L], John[K], John[J]

Father	619	Solomon Sackett b. 1748, d. 1823
Mother		Miriam Davis b. c 1764, d. 1806

Joel Sackett, son of Solomon Sackett and Miriam Davis, was born in Sandisfield, Berkshire County, Massachusetts, on 12 April 1801.[1, 2, 3] He died aged about 67 in Chautauqua County, New York State, in 1868 and was buried at Open Meadows Cemetery, Blockville, Chautauqua County.[4] He married in Norfolk, Litchfield County, Connecticut, on 20 April 1829, Louisa Robbins.[5] Louisa was born in Connecticut in 1802.[6] She died aged about 85 in Chautauqua County in 1887 and was buried at Open Meadows Cemetery, Blockville.[4]

Joel was listed in the census in 1830 and 1840 as a householder in Harmony, Chautauqua County.[7, 8]

In 1850 Joel was living in Mina, Chautauqua County, and was recorded in the census as Joel Sacket, a farmer, aged 49 and born in Connecticut. Living with him were his wife Louisa, 48, and their children, Louisa, 16, and Sylvia, aged nine.[9]

In 1855 he was living in Harmony, Chautauqua County, and was recorded as Joel Sackett, head of household, aged 53 and born in Massachusetts. Living with him were his wife Louisa, 52, and their daughter Sylvia, aged 14.[10]

In 1860 he was living in Harmony and was recorded as Joel Sacket, a farm laborer, aged 59. Living with him were his wife Louisa, 57, and their daughters, Julia, 28, and Sylvia, 19. Also in the household was Dwight Sacket, aged one, whose parents are not identified.[11]

In 1865 he was living in Harmony and was recorded as Joel Sacket, a farmer, aged 64. Living with him were his wife Louisa, 63, their married daughter Julia Slater, 33, and Julia's son Henry Slater, aged six.[12]

In 1870 Joel's widow Louisa was living in Mina, Chautauqua County, in the household of Henry Babbitt, a farmer, and was recorded in the census as Louisa Sackett, aged 68. Dwight Sackett, aged eleven, was living with her. Dwight was probably the same as Henry Slater of the 1865 census.[13]

There were two Joel Sackets of about the same age living in New York State in the adjacent Cattaraugus and Chautauqua counties. Both were born in Massachusetts. The Joel Sacket who was married to Louisa Robbins is assumed to have been the Joel Sackett born in Sandisfield, Massachusetts, to Solomon Sackett. The other Joel Sacket, who was married to Sally V ___, is assumed to have been the son of Joel Sacket who died in Turin, Lewis County, New York. A definitive record to confirm the assumption has not been found.

3. Transcriptions of the birth date are doubtful. An image of a handwritten record of Sandisfield births has: "Family of Solomon Sackett. Sackett Enos son of Solomon Sackett and wife Miriam was born Sept 19th 1798. Sackett Joel son to Solomon Sackett and Miriam his wife was born April. Sackett Lucretia daughter to Solomon Sackett & Miriam his wife was born Nov 11th 1803. Sackett Sylva daughter to Solomon Sackett & Miriam his wife was born Oct 11th 1805." The missing part of Joel's birth date is illegible. It has been variously transcribed as 12 Apr 1802 and 16 Apr 1800. A date of 1801 is assumed, to match the year on the gravestone (assuming also that Joel born in Sandisfield, MA, is the same as Joel buried in Blockville, NY.)

Lucretia Sackett, daughter of Solomon Sackett and Miriam Davis, was born in Sandisfield, Berkshire County, Massachusetts, on 11 November 1802.[1, 2] She died aged about 77 in Harmony, Chautauqua County, New York State, in 1880 and was buried at Wild Rose Cemetery, North Harmony.[3] She married in Norfolk, Litchfield County, Connecticut, on 1 May 1828, Edwin Gleason, son of Rufus Gleason and Mirriam Granger.[4, 5] Edwin was born in Litchfield, Litchfield County, on 31 August 1803.[5] He died aged 60 on 21 July 1864[5] and was buried at Wild Rose Cemetery, North Harmony.

Edwin and Lucretia removed to Harmony, New York State, shortly after their marriage in 1828.

In 1850 Lucretia was living in Harmony in the household of her husband Edwin Gleason, 47, a farmer, and was recorded in the census as Lucretia Gleason, aged 47. Living with them were their children, Mark, 21, Emily, 19, Henry, 14, and Edwin, aged eight.[6]

In 1855 she was living in Harmony in the household of her husband Edwin Gleason, 51, a farmer, and was recorded as Lucretia Gleason, aged 52. Their children, Henry, 18, and Edwin, 14, were living with them. Also in the household were their daughter Emily, 24, with her husband John Lovejoy, 26, and Lucretia's brother Enos Sacket, 56.[7]

In 1860 she was living in Harmony in the household of her husband Edwin Gleason, 56, a farmer, and was recorded as Lucretia Gleason, aged 57. Also in the household were their children, Mark, 31 (with his wife Isme), Henry, 23 (with his wife Matilda and their children), and Edwin B, 18, and Lucretia's brother Enos Sackett, 61.[8]

In 1865 she was living in Harmony in the household of her son Mark and daughter-in-law Isme, and was recorded as Lucretia Gleason, aged 62.[9]

In 1870 she was living in Harmony in the household of her son Mark and daughter-in-law Isme, and was recorded as Lucretia Gleason, aged 67.[10]

In 1880 she was living in Harmony in the household of her son Edwin, 39, and was recorded as Lucretia Gleason, a widow, aged 77. Her granddaughter Mary Gleason, 22, was also in the household.[11]

Jesse Sackett Sr, possibly a son of Reuben Sackett, was born, presumably in Vermont in say 1770. He married say 1790, ___ ___.

Jesse was listed as Jesse Sacket Senr in the 1830 census as a householder in Logan, Dearborn County, Indiana.[1]

Reuben's son Enoch was also in Logan in 1830, suggesting that Jesse Sackett Sr and Enoch may have been brothers. No other record for this Jesse Sackett has been found. He is assumed to have been the father of Jesse Sackett who was in nearby Lawrenceburg in 1830.

Father 621 Reuben Sackett b. say 1735, d. after 1800
Mother ___ ___

Reuben Sackett Jr, son of Reuben Sackett and ___ ___, was born in Vermont say 1775. He died in Belleville, St Clair County, Illinois, on 28 February 1845.[1] He married say 1803, Elizabeth ___.[2, 3] Elizabeth was born in Pennsylvania about 1783.[2]

Reuben was listed in the 1800 census as a householder in Pottstown, Luzerne County, Pennsylvania.[4]

Enoch Sackett, known to be a son of Reuben Sackett of Vermont, was also in Pottstown in 1800. It is then assumed that Reuben Jr and Enoch would have been brothers.

Reuben was listed in the census in 1830 and 1840 as a householder in St Clair County, Illinois.[5, 6]

In 1850 Reuben's widow Elizabeth was living in Twelve Mile Prairie, St Clair County, Illinois, in the household of her son Myron and daughter-in-law Elizabeth, and was recorded in the census as Elizabeth Sackett, aged 67 and born in Pennsylvania.[7]

In 1870 she was living in Township 3, Monroe County, Illinois, in the household of her daughter Sarah and son-in-law Henry Hill, and was recorded as Elisabeth Sacket, aged 87.[8]

Line 4 Samuel[M], Joseph[L], Joseph[K], John[J]

Mother		Thankful Wood

Hon Jehial Sackett, son of Samuel Sackett and Thankful Wood, was born in Dutchess County, New York State, on 24 July 1768.[1, 2] He died there aged 63 on 4 April 1832[1, 2] and was buried at Bangall Baptist Church Cemetery, Bangall, Dutchess County.[3] He married about 1790, Samantha Knapp, daughter of Phineas Knapp and Mercy Rundle.[1] Samantha was born on 28 April 1773.[4] She died aged 71 on 5 April 1845 and was buried at Bangall Baptist Church Cemetery.[5]

Jehiel was taxed on his house and farm in Stanford, Dutchess County, in the years 1799 to 1803.[6]

In 1800, 1810, 1820, and 1830 Jehiel was listed in the census as a householder in Stanford, Dutchess County, New York State.[7, 8, 9, 10]

Jehial was named in his father's will made in Stanford on 1 April 1812. He was to inherit a sum of $1,000, to be received after his mother's death. He and his brother Samuel Jr were appointed executors of the will, which was proved in Poughkeepsie on 3 September 1816.[11]

Jehial's widow Samantha made her will at Stanford on 2 October 1844. Probate was granted by the Dutchess County Surrogate's Office on 7 May 1845 to her sons Artemus and Phineas, executors of the will. Of her eleven surviving children (Cornelia, her eldest child, had died in 1826), all were named in the will except for Niram, who had removed in 1829 to Chautauqua County in the far west of New York State.[11]

Isaac Sackett, son of Joseph Sackett and Comfort ___, was born in Vermont about 1780.[1] He died in St Lawrence County, New York State, after December 1862.[2] He married Sarah "Sally" ___. Sarah was born in Vermont about 1797.[1]

On 14 February 1807 Isaac, then of Panton, Vermont, bought a landholding of 101 acres in Potsdam, New York, for $117 from two New York City merchants, the deed being recorded on 26 February 1811.[3]

Isaac was listed in the 1810 census as a householder in Panton, Addison County, Vermont.[4] It would appear that he removed to Potsdam in 1810 or 1811.

Isaac was listed in the census in 1820, 1830, and 1840 as a householder in Potsdam, St Lawrence County, New York State.[5, 6, 7]

Isaac and his wife Sarah sold land in Potsdam on 26 January 1824 for $311.[8] On 20 March 1829 they sold land to their son Ethan for $140.[9]

In 1850 Isaac was living in Potsdam and was recorded in the census as Isaac Sackett, a farmer, aged 70 and born in Vermont. His farm was valued at $1,300. His wife Sally, 53, was living with him. Also in the household were David Davis, 20, a farmer, and Cynthia Davis, 16. Also in the household, but with his own farm, were Isaac and Sally's son Benjamin, 34, his wife Jane, 24, and their son Gilbert, aged four.[10]

On 1 February 1855 Isaac bought a further 15 acres for $86, the land to be under contract to his son Benjamin.[11]

In 1860 he was living in Potsdam and was recorded as Isaac Sackett, farmer, aged 80. Living with him were his wife Charlott, 63, [see note] and their sons, Isaac B, 49, and Levi, 48. There was also a female servant iin the household.[12], [13]

On 4 December 1862 a document was drawn up between Isaac and his sons, Isaac B, Levi, and Benjamin P, providing for Isaac's care in his old age.[14]

Father	625	Joseph Sackett b. before 1750

Chauncey Sackett, son of Joseph Sackett and Comfort ___, was born, presumably in Addison County, Vermont, about 1780. He died aged 47 in Marlow, Addison County, on 21 April 1827 and was buried at Advent-Smith Cemetery, Addison.[1, 2] He married about 1814, Polly ___.[3] Polly was born in Vermont about 1792.[4] She died aged about 72 in Michigan on 22 November 1864 and was buried at Follett Cemetery, Bellevue, Eaton County, Michigan.[2]

Chauncey was listed in the 1820 census as a householder in Addison, Vermont.[5]

Chauncey died intestate. The Probate Court at New Haven, Addison County, appointed Joseph Spencer Jr as administrator of the estate on 14 May 1827. An inventory dated 6 June 1827 valued the 47-acre land holding at $517, and personal estate, including livestock, at $924. A list of claims against the estate amounting to $121 was drawn up on 14 November 1827. Several years later, in October 1831, the Court appointed a committee to value the real estate and set out a one-third widow's share. The land, comprising 52 acres, was valued at $624, and two parcels of land, valued together at $208, were allotted to Polly.

In June 1836, Polly was formally appointed guardian of her children Alonzo and Polly Mariah, they being minor heirs to Chauncey's estate who would inherit when they came of age. Polly's elder daughter Eliza was by then of full age, and her husband Almon Murray stood surety.[6]

In 1830, Chauncey's widow Polly was listed as a householder in Addison.[7]

Polly was listed in the 1840 census as a householder in Canton, St Lawrence County, New York State.[8]

In 1850 Polly, aged 57, was living in Bellevue, Eaton County, Michigan, with her son Alonzo in the household of George Hyer, a farmer.[9]

In 1860 she was living in Bellevue in the household of her son Alonzo and daughter-in-law Maria, and was recorded as Polly Sackett, aged 68 and born in Vermont.[10]

1092	Jonathan Sacket, of Milford, New Haven County, Connecticut, b. Connecticut, say 1770	m. Milford, 1802, Lucinda Plumb

Jonathan Sacket, of Milford, New Haven County, Connecticut, was born probably in Connecticut say 1770. He married in Milford on 25 June 1802, Lucinda Plumb, daughter of John Still Plumb and Elizabeth ___.[1] Lucinda was born in Milford on 22 July 1785[2, 3] and died aged 58 in Fair Haven, New Haven, on 4 December 1843.[4]

In 1790 Jonathan was living in Milford, New Haven County, Connecticut. He was living on his own.[5]

Who was Jonathan Sacket?

The parents of Jonathan Sacket who married Lucinda Plumb have not been identified, nor have birth or death records been found.

Families of Early Milford, Connecticut[6] states that he was the Jonathan Sackett who died in Milford in 1849. However, further research shows that that Jonathan Sackett moved to Milford from Newtown, Queens County, New York, sometime between 1810 and 1820, and therefore after the marriage in Milford of Jonathan and Lucinda and after the birth of their children.

DNA test results of a known descendant of Gad/James Sackett (See New Haven DNA chart 2), now identified as a son of Jonathan, indicate that Jonathan and Gad/James were descendants in the John Sackett of New Haven line. This suggests that Jonathan was probably born locally.

A current hypothesis is that Jonathan may have been the unnamed illegitimate child born in New Haven in 1766 to another Jonathan Sackett and Mary Ford.

This older Jonathan, who died in New Haven in 1797, was a descendant in the New Haven line. He is recorded to have married (his wife's name is not known) and to have had seven children from about 1767. His wife would not have been Mary Ford as she married a John Russell in 1771

Father	629	John Sackett b. 1723, d. 1800

John Sackett, hoyman of Margate, Kent, son of John Sackett and Mary Ayles, was born in St John in Thanet on 17 November 1757[1] and baptized there on 30 November 1757.[1] He died aged 76 in St John in Thanet on 28 March 1834[2] and was buried there on 4 April 1834.[3, 2] He married at St John in Thanet on 12 May 1787, Ann Hooper.[4, 5] Ann was born about 1756.[6] She died aged 85 and was buried at St John in Thanet on 24 December 1841.[7]

John was the owner of a hoy (a small coastal sailing ship for carrying goods and passengers) named the Margate which, in 1802, was wrecked in a storm, with the loss of 22 passengers. Six passengers survived by clinging to the rigging. The ship was en route from Margate to London with, in addition to the passengers, a full load of corn for the London market. John Sackett was not aboard. The ship's master, John Goodburn, was also lost, but the other four crew members survived.

The disaster made nationwide headlines, with London newspaper reports being repeated across the regional press. A fund was set up for public donations to alleviate the financial hardship of bereaved families. A book, A Circumstantial Narrative of the Stranding of a Margate Corn Hoy, was published, "the Profits arising from the Sale being applied to the Benefit of the Orphans, and other Sufferers by the Calamity."

It would appear that John Sackett disposed of the Margate soon after the shipwreck, either in its wrecked state or after making repairs. The ship was offered for sale by auction by the assignees of Edward Curling, a bankrupt, in July 1804. It was described as in good repair and fit for immediate service. John Sackett was named in the advertisement as a contact for enquiries, along with the auctioneer.

In 1826–7 John was living at Hawley Square, Margate, and was listed in Pigot's Directory of Kent under "Gentry and Clergy."[8]

John was named as a beneficiary in his uncle Francis Sackett's will made at Margate, Kent, on 13 October 1763.[9] He was left one guinea.

John made his will in St John in Thanet on 21 July 1831, naming as beneficiaries his wife Ann, his daughter Mary, his grandsons John Sackett Swinford, Daniel Swinford, Stephen Swinford, and Henry Herbert Swinford, and his granddaughter Ann Swinford.[10] He left much of his substantial lands and investments to his wife Ann, but also left to his surviving daughter Mary investments worth £1,700. He stated that this sum was the equivalent of the value of premises left to his son-in-law John Swinford, the husband of John Sackett's deceased daughter Ann. He left sums of money in trust to be inherited by his five grandchildren at 21.

In 1840 John's widow Ann was living at 27 Hawley Square, Margate, and was listed in Pigot's Directory of Kent under "Gentry and Clergy."[11]

John's widow Ann made her will in Margate, Kent, on 2 April 1840, naming as beneficiaries her daughter Mary, her grandsons John Sackett Swinford and Daniel Swinford, and her granddaughter Ann Swinford.[12] She left her personal estate to her unmarried daughter Mary, and various specified personal items to her three Swinford grandchildren, the children of her deceased daughter Ann.

John Sackett, son of Henry Sackett and Martha Higgs, was baptized in Hornchurch, Essex, on 3 May 1764.[1] He died aged 68 according to the record but probably a few years younger and was buried at St Andrew, Hornchurch, on 3 February 1828.[2, 3] He married first at St Mary le Bone Church, Marylebone, Middlesex, on 23 September 1791, Charlotte Tucker, daughter of Jeremiah Tucker and Elizabeth ___.[4] Charlotte was born in 1764.[5] She died aged about 33 in Romford, Essex,[6] and was buried at St Andrew, Hornchurch, on 9 March 1797.[6] He married second at St Mary le Bone Church on 18 February 1800, Sarah Fallover.[7] She was born about 1770[8] and died aged 39 in Hornchurch on 17 July 1809.[8, 9] She was buried at St Andrew, Hornchurch, on 23 July 1809.[9, 10, 11]

On 6 September 1792, John was licensed to keep the Fox & Hounds public house at South Street, Romford. One of John's two sureties was Edward Thomas Carder, a Romford brewer and husband of John's cousin, Penelope Arnold. John's license was renewed annually and granted for the last time on 6 September 1798. At the 1799 session, the license was granted to David Warwicker.[12]

John Sackett was employed as a bailiff to the sheriff of Essex when, on 1 July 1801, he was called to give evidence for the prosecution at London's Central Criminal Court, the Old Bailey, in the case of a thirteen-year-old

Thomas Sackett, son of Henry Sackett and Martha Higgs, was born in Hornchurch, Essex, in 1766 and baptized at St Andrew, Hornchurch, on 28 February 1766.[1] Thomas Sackett died aged 51[2] and was buried at St Andrew's Church, Hornchurch, on 7 January 1817, described in the record as "of Romford."[2] He married first at St Leonard's Church, Shoreditch, Middlesex, on 18 August 1794, Rachel Baker.[3] Rachel died in September 1809[4] and was buried at St Andrew's Church, Hornchurch, on 1 October 1809.[4] He married second at St Leonard's Church, Shoreditch, on 20 May 1813, Catherine Cox.[5] She died aged 79 in Orsett, Essex, in 1840[6] and was buried at St Michael's Church, Aveley, Essex, on 10 March 1840.[7]

Thomas was a butcher and had a shop and slaughterhouse in Hornchurch. An advertisement in the London Times in 1796 showed that he had a 21-year lease on the premises from 1794 at £25 a year. He was later described (in newspaper reports of his son's arrest for highway robbery) as a "calves' salesman to a very great extent, constantly attending Romford-market."[8] He was in a business partnership with John Eve Sr, of Grays, also a salesman, the partnership being dissolved on 24 June 1806.[9]

Rachel Baker would appear to have had a daughter, Elizabeth Baker, born illegitimately in about 1790. Elizabeth died aged 40 in Colchester in 1831. She married at St Mary's Church, Bocking, Essex, on 1 November

1813, Lionel Garrard, a merchant and private banker. Lionel Garrard was a signatory to the petition to the King, pleading for the life of Thomas Baker Sackett who had been convicted of robbery in 1827. Lionel Garrard described himself on the petition as a brother-in-law to the convicted man, and it is on this basis that his wife Elizabeth is identified as a daughter of Rachel Baker.[10]

William Sackett, farmer of Orsett, Essex, son of Henry Sackett and Martha Higgs, was baptized at Hornchurch, Essex, on 23 April 1769.[1] He died aged about 50 in Orsett on 25 April 1819 and was buried at St Giles and All Saints, Orsett.[2, 3] He married in Walthamstow, Essex, in 1795, Catherine Sargeant.[4] Catherine was born in Binfield, Berkshire, about 1770. She died aged 84 in Orsett on 30 April 1855[5, 6] and was buried at St Giles and All Saints, Orsett, on 7 May 1855.[2, 7]

Administration of William's estate was granted on 3 June 1819 to his widow Catherine.[8]

In 1841 William's widow was living in Orsett, Essex, and was recorded in the census as Catherine Sackett, of independent means, aged 70 and born in Essex. Living with her was her unmarried daughter Martha Ann, aged 35.[9]

In 1851 she was living in Orsett, Essex, and was recorded as Catherine Sackett, head of household, a widow, aged 80, and born in Binfield, Berkshire. Living with her was her unmarried daughter Martha, 45, a schoolmistress. Also in the household were three schoolchildren, and two female servants.[10]

(1780 - 1859)

Father	669	Thomas Sackett b. say 1750
Mother		Sarah (___) Bonden b. say 1753

Mary Sackett, daughter of Thomas Sackett and Sarah (___) Bonden, was born at Minster in Thanet, Kent, on 16 December 1780 and baptized there on 31 December 1780.[1] She died aged 78 at Shooters Hill, Plumstead, Kent, on 21 June 1859[2, 3] and was buried at Greenwich, Kent, on 29 June 1859.[4] Mary had two illegitimate daughters, Mary in 1800 and Ann in 1802, the latter dying in infancy.[5, 6, 7] She married at St Mary, Whitechapel, Middlesex, on 12 November 1820, Francis Lidgbird.[8, 9] Francis was born in 1747[10] and baptized at St Nicholas, Plumstead, on 3 April 1747.[11] He died aged 81 in 1828 and was buried at St Marylebone, London, on 6 October 1828.[12]

Francis Lidgbird made his will in London on 16 November 1820. He was described as of Margate but residing at that date at 26 Great Prescott Street, St Mary's Whitechapel. He left all his personal and real estate, including properties in Woolwich, Plumstead, and Chatham, to his wife Mary, who was also appointed executor. It is noteworthy that the will was made just a few days after he and Mary were married, perhaps suggesting a longer-term relationship, although it is noted, too, that he would have been aged 73 at the date of the marriage. The will was proved by Mary in London on 29 August 1829. The will was recorded in the Inland Revenue Death Duty Register, suggesting an estate of significant value.[13, 14]

In 1841 Mary was living at Shooters Hill, Plumstead, in the household of her daughter Mary and son-in-law Thomas Dallin, and was recorded in the census as Mary Lidgbird, aged 60 and born in Kent.[15]

In 1851 she was living at Wickham House, Shooters Hill, Plumstead, in the household of her daughter Mary and son-in-law Thomas Dallin, and was recorded as Mary Lidgbird, a widow, a landed proprietor, aged 70 and born in Minster.[16]

Mary left a will which was proved by her daughter Mary Dallin as sole executrix on 4 July 1859. The value of the personal estate was stated as under £20,000.[2]

(1785 - 1866)

John Sackett, mariner, was born in Garlinge, Margate, Kent, in 1785.[1, 2] His parents have not been identified. He died aged 80 in Margate in 1866[3, 4] and was buried at Zion Chapel, Margate, on 3 April 1866.[3] He married at St Peter in Thanet, Kent, on 9 May 1811, Sarah Tucker.[5] She was born about 1780.[2] She died aged 68 in Thanet[6] and was buried at St John in Thanet on 17 February 1848.[7]

A record for John in the 1841 census has not been found. He may have been at sea. His wife Sarah, 60+, and daughter Elizabeth, 15+, were living in St John in Thanet.[8]

John Sackett, then of Margate, was issued a merchant seaman's ticket on 4 January 1845. He worked as a seaman on voyages in 1845, 1846, and 1851. The detailed record reveals that he was literate, 5' 8¼" in height, had light brown hair, a fair complexion, and light blue eyes. He had first gone to sea as an apprentice in 1802.[9]

In 1851 John was living at 68 High Street, St John's, Margate, Kent, and was recorded in the census as John Sackett, a mariner, head of household, a widower, aged 66, and born in Garlinge, Kent. Living with him was his unmarried daughter Elizabeth, aged 29.[10]

In 1861 he was living at 128 High Street, Margate, and was recorded as John Sackett, a mariner, head of household, a widower, aged 75, and born in Margate. Living with him was his unmarried daughter Elizabeth, aged 38.[11]

1142 Anson W Sackett

(c 1793 - after 1865)

Anson W Sackett was born in Massachusetts about 1793.[1] His parents have not been identified, but see below. He married first, probably by about 1825 when a son William was born. The name of the first wife, who was probably also the mother of children Harvey and Almira, is not known. He married second Lydia Raymond, daughter of John Raymond, before 1839 when their daughter Elizabeth was born. Lydia would also have been the mother of Edwin and Henry. Lydia was born in Onondaga County, New York State, about 1802.[1]

Anson served for six months as a Private in Colonel Benedict's Regiment of New York Militia during the War of 1812, enlisting in July 1812. In 1853, he received a warrant for 160 acres of land in Edgar, Illinois. The late grant of a warrant may have been because he was unaware of his right to land or because eligibility had been expanded by the 1850 Bounty Land Act. Evidently, Anson did not remove to what would probably have been undeveloped land several hundred miles away. It is likely that he sold the warrant on. At age 64 in 1857 he further received $92 plus interest in respect of six months' unpaid service and the cost of equipment and clothing he had supplied during his service.[2, 3, 4, 5]

Anson was listed in the 1820 census as a householder in Sullivan, Madison County, New York State.[6]

In 1850 Anson was living in Manlius, Onondaga County, New York State, and was recorded in the census as Anson W Sackett, a shoemaker, aged 57 and born in Massachusetts. Living with him were his wife Lydia, 48, and their children, William, 25, Harvey, 22, Edwin, 19, and Henry, aged six.[7]

Anson was appointed US Postmaster for Kirkville, Onondaga County, New York State, on 7 October 1851.[8]

In 1855 he was living in Manlius and was recorded as Anson W Sacket, a shoemaker, aged 62. Living with him were his wife Lydia, 52, their sons, Edwin, 14, and Henry, 10, and their grandson Eugene Tupper, aged three.[9]

Lydia was named as a beneficiary in the will of her father John Raymond, made in Manlius on 1 November 1854 and proved there on 21 November 1856. She was left the house in Kirkville which she and Anson then occupied and an annuity of $75.[10]

In 1860 he was living in Manlius and was recorded as A W Sackett, a mail carrier, aged 67. His wife Lydia, 57, was living with him.[11]

In 1865 he was living in Manlius and was recorded as Anson W Sackett, aged 74. His wife Lydia, 62, was living with him. Their children, Harvey, Almira, and Edwin, and their families were living in the same house.[12]

Anson was listed in the Post Office, Mail Messenger Service, records in 1865, receiving a payment of $35.[13]

A Lydia Sackett aged 8 [sic] listed in the 1870 census in the household of Benjamin and Almira Jordan in Manlius was probably Anson's widow Lydia, then about 78.[14]

Anson's parents

Birth and death records for Anson have not been found. Census records state that he was born in Massachusetts. His age in those records and in military records indicates a birth date of about 1793.

Of the families resident in Massachusetts at that time, Zavan Sacket Sr and his wife Abigail Bills would be possible parents. Although no direct evidence has been found, some circumstantial evidence would support such a theory.

Zavan and Abigail, and three of their sons, each with their families, had moved west from Westfield, Massachusetts, to Meadville, Pennsylvania, by about 1820. In making this journey, their most likely route would have been via the Great Genesee Road, a major route for settlers moving west through New York State, from Albany, through Schenectady, Utica, and on to Syracuse. Nearby Sullivan, where Anson was living in 1820, and Manlius, then a notable provision stop, where he lived in later years, are on this route.

He could have met and married his wife in or near Manlius and remained there near her family

Anson's wives and children

The 1865 census indicates that Anson and Lydia's marriage was a second marriage for them both, making uncertain the identity of the mother of Anson's children. Lydia's father John Raymond named Anson and Lydia's daughter Elizabeth in his will, but did not name other grandchildren. Elizabeth was evidently a sickly child and lived with her grandfather, perhaps singling her out for special treatment in his will. Given the gap in their ages, it is assumed that Anson's first three children were of his first marriage, the next three being of his marriage to Lydia

1143 Elizabeth "Betsey" Sackett

Elizabeth "Betsey" Sackett was born in Massachusetts on 21 February 1793.[1, 2] She died aged 75 in Meadville, Crawford County, Pennsylvania, on 26 July 1868 and was buried at Greendale Cemetery, Meadville.[3] Her parents have not been positively identified, but see below. She married on 19 June 1817, John Ellis, son of John Ellis.[4] John Ellis Jr was born in Massachusetts on 30 January 1796.[1, 2] He died aged 75 in Pennsylvania on 3 November 1871 and was buried at Greendale Cemetery, Meadville.[3]

In 1850 Elizabeth was living in Meadville in the household of her husband John, 53, a farmer, and was recorded in the census as Elizabeth Ellis, aged 56 and born in Massachusetts. Living with them were their children, Shephard, 28, David, 22, and Wilson, 19, and Shephard's wife Frances, 23.[5]

In 1860 she was living in Meadville in the household of her husband John, 63, a farmer, and was recorded as Elisabeth Ellis, aged 66. Living with them were their son David, 29, and his wife Lucy, 22. A John Sacket, 16, also in the household, would appear to have been enumerated twice, also appearing in the household of his parents Rolin and Pamelia Sackett.[6]

Betsey's parents

Betsey, listed as Elizabeth Ellis, was living in Meadville in 1850 and 1860 with her husband John. Sacketts also living in Meadville included Zavan Sacket Sr and his sons, Rolin, James, and Jabez, each with their families. These were all born in Massachusetts and had moved to Meadville by about 1820. John Ellis Jr was also in Meadville by 1820, as was his father John Ellis Sr. John Ellis Jr's 1820 household comprised one male 16-

25, one female 16-25, one male under 10, and one female under ten. These would have been John and Betsey, their daughter Mary, and a son of whom we have no record.

This circumstantial evidence suggests that Betsey may have been a daughter of Zavan Sacket, removing from Massachusetts to Meadville, Pennsylvania, with her father and/or one or more of her brothers sometime before 1820. (John and Betsey married in 1817, location not known, and had a daughter, Mary, in Meadville, in 1818).

The 1860 census suggests a further link between the Ellis household and the household of Rolin Sacket. A John Sacket, aged 16, appears in both households. These entries would appear to refer to the same John F Sackett, enumerated twice. He would have been Rolin's son, and by the above hypothesis, Betsey's nephew.

It may be further conjectured that Betsey was the same as either Emily Sacket or Ann Sacket, stated by Weygant to have been daughters of Zavan, but for whom no other records have been found.

Nathaniel Sackett was born say 1770. He died on 15 August 1817.[1] His parents have not been identified. He married first on 8 October 1799, Polly Odle.[1] She died on 17 September 1815.[1] He married second about 1816, Elizabeth Gray.

Although Nathaniel's parents have not been identified, a DNA test completed by a descendant matches the results of tests of others in the Thanet line, indicating that he would have been a descendant of Simon Sackett the colonist.

Research notes

Data for the family of Nathaniel Sackett and Polly Odle is taken from the undated, but apparently old, manuscript note in the possession of descendant Michele Auseth.

The son Nathaniel Baldwin Sackett, born in 1817, is described in that note as a half-brother. Polly Odle had died in 1815. It is assumed that Nathaniel Baldwin Sackett's mother was Elizabeth Gray, named in the writings in 1931 of Cassius Morell Sackett, son of William Walker Sackett[1]

Mother ___ Douglas

Nelly Sackett, daughter of an unidentified Sackett father and ___ Douglas, was born say 1730.[1] She married in Kent, Litchfield County, Connecticut, on 22 August 1754, Simeon Kelsey.[1, 2]

Nelly was recorded in The Sacketts of America as a daughter of a Josiah Crego Sackett and Miss Douglass. Josiah Crego Sackett was recorded as a son of Captain Richard Sackett of New York. Later research revealed that Josiah Crego was Captain Richard's stepson and not therefore a Sackett.

Mother ___ Douglas

Skene Douglas Sackett, son of an unidentified Sackett father and ___ Douglas, was born in New Milford, Litchfield County, Connecticut, in 1765.[1] He died in Windsor, Ashtabula County, Ohio, on 9 June 1852[1, 2] and was buried at Windsor Township Cemetery.[3] He married first about 1788, Hannah Saxton, daughter of Ebenezer Saxton and Elizabeth ___.[1] Hannah was born in Waterbury, New Haven County, Connecticut, on 8 March 1764.[4] She died aged 61 on 17 February 1826 and was buried at Windsor Township Cemetery.[3] He married second in Ashtabula County on 27 June 1832, Lorilla Dorathy.[5] Lorilla was born in Connecticut about 1787.[6] She died aged about 90 in Windsor on 10 June 1877.[3]

Skene Douglas Sackett was recorded in The Sacketts of America as a son of a Josiah Crego Sackett and Miss Douglas. Josiah Crego Sackett was recorded as a son of Captain Richard Sackett of New York. Later research revealed that Josiah Crego was Captain Richard's stepson and not therefore a Sackett.

Although Skene's father has not been identified, a DNA test completed by a descendant matches the results of tests of others in the Thanet line, indicating that he would have been a descendant of Simon Sackett the colonist.

Skene served in the American Revolutionary War in the 2nd Connecticut Regiment of the Continental Army. He enlisted for three years on 23 January 1780.[1, 7]

Skene was listed in the 1800 census as a householder in Paris, Oneida County, New York State.[8] He was taxed there on real and personal estate in 1800.[9] In 1820, 1830 and 1840 he was a householder in Windsor, Ashtabula County, Ohio.[10], [11], [12]

In 1827 Skene was taxed on three horses and two cattle in Windsor.[13]

Skene was listed in the 1841 census of Revolutionary War pensioners. At the reference date of 1 June 1840, he was living in Windsor and was aged 76.[14]

In 1850 he was living in Windsor and was recorded as Skene D Sackett, a farmer, aged 85. His wife Lorilla, 64, was living with him.[15]

In 1860 Skene's widow Lorilla was living in Huntsburg, Geauga County, Ohio, in the household of Ambrose Davis, a farmer, and was recorded in the census as Lorrilla Sackett, aged 74.[16]

In 1870 she was living in Windsor in the household of Ambrose Davis, a stonemason, and was recorded as Lorilla Sackett, aged 83.[17]

(say 1770 -)

Richard Sackett was born say 1770.[1] His parents have not been identified. He married in Cummington, Hampshire County, Massachusetts, on 9 January 1794, Hannah Porter, daughter of Jacob Porter and Rachel Reed.[2, 3] Hannah was born in Abington, Plymouth County, Massachusetts, on 18 January 1773.[3] She died aged 83 in Rushville, Yates County, New York State, on 17 December 1856 and was buried at the French Cemetery, Rushville.[3]

Richard is found in the records in Pittsfield, Berkshire County, Massachusetts, in 1791 and 1793, and in Worthington, Hampshire County, Massachusetts, in 1793.[4]

He was taxed on real estate in Pittsfield in 1795.[5]

Richard was listed in the 1800 census as a householder in Pittsfield.[6]

In 1855 Richard's widow Hannah was living in Potter, Yates County, New York State, in the household of her son Thomas and daughter-in-law Sina, and was recorded in the census as Hannah Sackett, a widow, aged 83.[7]

(say 1760 - c 1820)

Ezra Sackett, whose parents have not been identified, is thought to have been born in Connecticut say 1760. He died of ague, probably in Mount Carmel, Wabash County, Illinois, about 1820.[1] His wife may have been named Catherine.[1] She may also have died of ague in Mount Carmel about 1820.[1]

Evidence for this family is found in a memoir written in 1894 by Catherine Francis Hotchkiss and now in the possession of Sackett Family Association member Bery Bryan. No historical records have so far been found.

Catherine Hotchkiss was Ezra's granddaughter and she referred in her memoir to a diary kept by her mother Mary Sackett (Ezra's daughter).

According to her memoir, Catherine was taken in 1819, when a small child, with her parents Seymour and Mary (Sackett) Hotchkiss, and grandparents Ezra and (Catherine?) Sackett, from Butternuts (now Gilbertsville), New York, to Mount Carmel, Illinois, the family travelling west by riverboat on the Ohio River.

The memoir records that Catherine Hotchkiss was left an orphan after her father Seymour died on the way, and her mother Mary dying soon after arrival. The memoir suggests that other Sackett family members were also in the party, many of them succumbing to fever in 1820.[1]

Who was Ezra Sackett?

Although supporting historical records have not yet been found, Ezra's daughter's diary, as quoted in his granddaughter's memoir, does provide some clues.

Based on his probable place of birth and approximate age, he could have been the Unnamed Sackett, born in New Haven in 1766 to Jonathan Sackett and Mary Ford. However, it is not known that the child was male, nor whether it survived infancy or childhood

Father 674 Paul Sackett b. 1736, d. 1781
Mother Margaret Wheatley b. c 1738, d. 1774

Paul Sackett, innkeeper and coach operator of Margate and Ramsgate, son of Paul Sackett and Margaret Wheatley, was born in Margate, Kent, on 11 March 1767[1] and baptized at St John in Thanet on 29 March 1767.[1] He died aged 38 in Ramsgate, Kent, on 28 November 1805 and was buried at St John in Thanet on 4 December 1805.[2, 3] He married at St John in Thanet on 12 March 1791, Hannah Bloxham.[4, 5] Hannah was born about 1772.[6] She died aged 81 and was buried at St John in Thanet on 11 December 1854.[7, 8]

Paul was named as a beneficiary in the will of his aunt Ann Sackett made at St John in Thanet on 1 May 1781.[9] He was to inherit jointly with his brother Thomas all her lands and the residue of her estate at age 21, the income from the estate being used in the meantime to provide for the boys' support and education.

Paul owned and ran the George Inn in Margate in 1793. He was also a partner in a coaching business operating between Aldersgate Street in the City of London and Margate. Coaches ran three times each week, taking twelve hours to complete the 75-mile journey.[10]

Paul later moved to Ramsgate where he had a coaching business attached to the King's Head Inn. The premises, including livery stables for 40 horses and coach-houses for 12 carriages, were offered for sale in March 1804, shortly before Paul made his will.[11]

Paul made his will in Ramsgate, Kent, on 1 May 1804, naming as beneficiaries his wife Hannah, his sons Samuel, John, and Paul, and his daughter Sarah.[12] He gave his wife the option of selling all his properties to create an investment fund sufficient to provide for her and the children, or of continuing to run the business until the children all reached 21, when they would inherit. Among the properties, in addition to his dwelling house, were Assembly Rooms and the Old Yard across the road, a part share of a house in Margate, three houses in Cold Harbour, and a share in land and buildings in St Peter's and St Lawrence. In a codicil to the will, reference is made to an inheritance of an additional share in the St Peter's and St Lawrence properties following the recent death of his brother Thomas Wheatley Sackett, with the request that this be added to the estate.

The several properties detailed in Paul's will, including the Old King's Head Inn in Ramsgate, were put up for sale by auction on 1 August 1808, with possession of the Inn from 1 December.[13], [14] Although it appeared that Paul Sackett had substantial assets, the business had evidently been struggling, probably because of his ill health leading to his untimely death. A hint that the hotel was losing money was contained in the sale particulars in June 1808 when it was stated that the premises were "capable by good management of being made a most profitable concern." The attempt to sell the Old King's Head Inn as a going concern before Paul's death had failed, leaving his widow Hannah with no option but to struggle on. Her efforts were in vain and, at the same time as the hotel was put up for auction, she was declared bankrupt.[15]

Mother		Alice Reynolds b. c 1753, d. 1826

Stephen Sackett, law stationer of London, son of Paul Sackett and Alice Reynolds, was born in Margate, Kent, on 12 April 1779 and baptized at St John in Thanet on 29 April 1779.[1] He died aged 41 in Holborn, Middlesex, on 26 July 1820 and was buried at St John in Thanet on 2 August 1820.[2, 3] He married at St Andrew's by the Wardrobe, Holborn, London City, on 13 October 1803, Elizabeth Hughes.[4]

Stephen's widow Elizabeth married second at St Andrew's, Holborn, on 25 December 1822, Thomas Ruscoe.[5]

Stephen was named as a beneficiary in his brother Thomas's will made in New Cross, St Paul's, Deptford, Kent, on 25 August 1804. He was left a sum of £50, and he and his wife Elizabeth were each left £5 for mourning.[6]

Stephen Sackett carried on a business as a law stationer at 8 Quality Court, Chancery Lane, from about 1804, when he advertised for an apprentice.[7] He took a Thomas Devonshire as an apprentice, paying the requisite duty on the indenture of apprenticeship on 10 December 1805.[8] The business was listed in numerous city directories from 1805.[9, 10, 11] He was a frequent advertiser in the Times of London from about 1817. The advertisements were mainly for junior positions in the legal profession, suggesting that the business was used as a recruitment agency or perhaps as an accommodation address. The business subsequently traded under the name of Sackett & Ruscoe.

Abraham Sackett, son of Joseph Sackett and Eleanor LaRue, was born in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, on 27 May 1788.[1, 2] He died aged 79 in Bucks County on 10 September 1867 and was buried at Penns Park United Methodist Church Cemetery, Bucks County.[3] He married about 1815, Susannah ___.[1] Susannah was born in Pennsylvania about 1786.[1] She died aged about 81 in 1867 and was buried at Penns Park United Methodist Church Cemetery.[4]

Abraham was listed in the census in 1810, 1820, 1830, and 1840 as a householder in Wrightstown, Bucks County, Pennsylvania.[5, 6, 7, 8]

Abraham was taxed in Wrightstown, Bucks County, from 1811 until at least 1863. For most of those years he was a farmer, his farm comprising 72 acres. Over the years he owned from two to four horses and from two to five cattle. On the 1863 tax record he was described as a gentleman, indicating his retirement from active farming.[9]

In 1850 he was living in Wrightstown, Bucks County, and was recorded as Abraham Sackett, a farmer, aged 62 and born in Pennsylvania. Living with him were his wife Susan, 64, and their son Charles, 32.[10]

Abraham proved his mother Eleanor's will in Bucks County on 3 April 1855. Her estate was valued at $1,328.[11]

Father	702	Joseph Sackett MD b. 1733/34, d. 1799
Mother		Hannah Alsop b. 1735, d. 1817

Dr James Sackett, son of Joseph Sackett MD and Hannah Alsop, was born, presumably in New York State, on 20 March 1755.[1] He is assumed to have died before 1799 (not named in his father's will made on 12 March 1799). He was unmarried.[1]

James Sackett was a surgeon's mate in the 14th Virginia Infantry during the American Revolutionary War and later became a surgeon in the Navy.[2] While serving in the Virginia regiment, Doctor Sackett was court-martialled for "neglecting to visit and procure necessaries [i.e. latrines] for the sick of the regiment", and for "absenting himself and going to the State of New York without leave". He was acquitted of the first charge, but found guilty of the second, and was sentenced to be reprimanded by the Commanding Officer of his Regiment. Doctor Sackett resigned from the army later that month.[3]

James was named in the will, made on 2 August 1780 and proved in New York on 20 September 1784, of his unmarried great aunt Johanna Clowes. He was to receive, jointly with his brother Peter and sister Millicent, one-seventh of the residue of her estate.[4]

In 1790 James was living in New York City Montgomery Ward. In his household were one white male (16+), one white male under 16, three white females, and one slave.[5]

Father	702	Joseph Sackett MD b. 1733/34, d. 1799
Mother		Hannah Alsop b. 1735, d. 1817

Peter Sackett, son of Joseph Sackett MD and Hannah Alsop, was born in Newtown, Long Island, New York State, on 4 November 1757.[1] He married there about August 1779, Esther Palmer, daughter of Charles Palmer, (but see note.)[1, 2] Esther was born about 1761.[1]

Sergeant Major Peter Sackett served in the American Revolutionary War.[3] In 1776 he was appointed Adjutant of the 4th Regiment of the Continental Line. He resigned his commission in September 1778 apparently in consequence of his involvement as a witness in two courts martial. Although he was not the accused in either case, the verdict of the court suggested that his evidence had not found favor.

Peter was named in the will, made on 2 August 1780 and proved in New York on 20 September 1784, of his unmarried great aunt Johanna Clowes. He was to receive, jointly with his brother James and sister Millicent, one-seventh of the residue of her estate.[4]

In 1790 Peter was living in Norwalk, Fairfield County, Connecticut. In his household were two men, one boy, and three females.[5]

Peter was named in his father's will made in New York City on 12 March 1799. He and each of his siblings were to receive a book chosen by their mother.[6]

1. Weygant, Charles, The Sacketts of America, "762. Peter Sackett, b. Nov. 4, 1757; m. Esther Palmer."
2. Weygant states that Esther's father was Charles Palmer, "a prominent and highly respected citizen." However, a probate record (undated but appearing in the 1803–1815 section of Abstracts of Probate Records for the District of Stamford, County of Fairfield, Connecticut by Spencer P Mead LLB) suggests that Esther's father was Messenger Palmer. The abstract (at p 34) reads, "Palmer, Messenger, late of Greenwich, (no date), executors deed, according to his will to his daughter Esther Sackett and her children Peter Sackett and James Sackett, of land in Dutchess County, NY, approved." Spencer Mead, in his History of Greenwich, Connecticut (1911) further states that Esther Palmer was a daughter of Messenger Palmer and his first wife Hannah Ferris. However, that wife died in 1746, meaning that a daughter Esther would have been at least twelve years older than Peter Sackett, and not therefore a playmate, as described by Weygant. Messenger Palmer's third wife was another Esther Palmer, daughter probably of John and Rebecca Palmer of Throggs Neck, Westchester County, New York, Esther Palmer being named in John Palmer's will and also being described as "of Frogneck, Westchester County" in her marriage record. It is probable that Peter Sackett's wife Esther Palmer was the daughter of Messenger and Esther (Palmer) Palmer.

Ann Sackett, daughter of John Sackett and Polly ___, was born in Orange County, New York State, on 3 March 1790.[1, 2, 3] She died aged 82 in New York State on 12 December 1872 and was buried at Ovid Union Cemetery, Ovid, Seneca County, New York State.[4, 5] She married Elijah Horton.[1] Elijah was born in New York State on 8 January 1769.[6] He died in New York State on 22 March 1851 and was buried at Ovid Union Cemetery.[4, 7] (Elijah's date of birth is calculated from the age at death, 82-2-14, inscribed on his gravestone. Conflicting evidence, that he was 62 at the 1850 census, suggests he was 20 years younger. Other records to confirm his date of birth have not been found.)[8]

Ann was named as a beneficiary in her father's will made in Orange County, New York State, on 25 September 1810.[9]

In 1850 Ann was living in Romulus, Seneca County, New York State, in the household of her husband Elijah, 62, a farmer, and was recorded in the census as Ann Horton, aged 61 and born in New York.[10]

In 1860 she was living in Romulus and was recorded as Ann Horton, a farmer, aged 70 and born in Orange County. Her nephew Samuel L Sackett was living next door.[11]

In 1870 she was living in Romulus and was recorded as Ann Horton, aged 80.[12] Ann was listed in a schedule of agricultural holdings in Romulus in 1870 as owner of 38 acres of improved farmland and 12 acres of woodland, valued at $4,000. She owned one milk cow. Crops included wheat, Indian corn, oats, and barley.[13]

Ann made a will of real and personal estate which was proved at the Surrogate's Court, Seneca Falls, New York State, on 2 June 1873 by executor Robert G Ward.[14]

Mother		Jane ___

Justus Sackett, son of John Sackett and Jane ___, was born in Cornwall, Orange County, New York State, about 1804.[1, 2] He died aged about 72 in Cornwall in 1876.[3] Late in life, he married, sometime between 1870 and 1875, Annie Bacon, daughter of Sarah ___. Annie was born in Orange County about 1834.[4] After Justus's death, she married in Cornwall on 2 October 1882, William Harris.[5]

Justus was named as a beneficiary in his father's will made in Orange County, New York State, on 25 September 1810.[6]

Justus was listed in the 1840 census as a householder in Cornwall, Orange County.[7]

In 1850 Justus was living in Cornwall and was recorded in the census as Justus Sackett, a farmer, aged 46 and born in New York. Living with him were his sisters, Julia Sackett, 49, and Charity Tole, 45.[8] His farm, comprising 450 acres, including 60 acres of improved land, was valued at $5,000.[9]

In 1855 he was living in Cornwall and was recorded as Justus Sackett, a farmer, aged 51. His sisters, Julia, 53, and Charity, 55, were living with him. All three were lifelong residents of Cornwall.[10]

In 1860 he was living in Cornwall and was recorded as Justice Sacket, a farmer, aged 55. His sisters, Julia, 59, and Charity, 57, were living with him.[11]

In 1865 he was living in Cornwall and was recorded as Justus Sackett, a farmer, aged 63. His sisters, Charity, 50 [probably 60], and Julia, 45 [probably 64], were living with him.[12]

In 1870 he was living in Cornwall and was recorded as Justus Sackett, a farmer, aged 67. His sister Julia, 71, was living with him.[13] His farm comprised 90 acres of improved land and 4 acres of woodland and was valued at $10,000.[14]

In 1875 he was living in Cornwall and was recorded as Justus Sackett, a harness maker, aged 72. His wife Annie, 41, was living with him. Also in the household were Annie's mother Sarah Bacon, 72, and sister Louisa Bacon, 27.[15]

Justus made a will of real and personal estate which was proved at the Surrogate's Court, Newburgh, Orange County, on 29 June 1876 by executrix Annie Sackett.[16]

In 1880 Justus's widow Annie was living in Cornwall and was recorded in the census as Annie Sackett, head of household, aged 46. Her mother Sarah Bacon, 78, and sister Louisa Bacon, 44, were living with her.[17]

Edwin was named as a beneficiary in his father's will made in Brooklyn, New York City, on 23 February 1822. He was to receive an annual income of up to $250 to be administered in trust by the executors of the will, who included his three younger siblings. This provision and the fact that he was not named with his siblings as an executor suggest that Edwin suffered a disabilty and was not able to manage his own affairs.[5]

1181 Hon Clarence Daniel Sackett

(1798 - 1858)

Line 3 Samuel[N], Samuel[M], Joseph[L], Joseph[K], Simon[J], Simon[I], Thomas[H], Thomas[G]

Father 709 Samuel Sackett b. 1765, d. 1822
Mother Elizabeth Kissam b. 1766, d. 1816

Hon Clarence Daniel Sackett, lawyer of New York, son of Samuel Sackett and Elizabeth Kissam, was born on 21 October 1798.[1, 2] He died aged 59 in New York City on 8 March 1858[1, 3, 4, 5, 6] and was buried at the Green-Wood Cemetery, Brooklyn, New York State.[4, 6] He married first in Brooklyn on 19 December 1826, Gertrude Onderdonk Tredwell, daughter of Adam Tredwell and Jane Moore.[1, 7, 8] Gertrude was born in New York City on 22 April 1802.[9] She died aged 25 in Brooklyn on 14 January 1828[10, 11] and was buried at the Old Episcopal Burying Ground, Brooklyn.[11] He married second in Brooklyn on 17 September 1833, Emeline F Fleet, daughter of Samuel Fleet.[12] Emeline was born on 25 October 1806.[13] She died aged 77 on 22 January 1884[14] and was buried at Green-Wood Cemetery, Brooklyn.[13]

Clarence was named as a beneficiary in his father's will made in Brooklyn, New York City, on 23 February 1822. He had already received a gift from his father of land in Onondaga County and had also received an expensive education, paid for by his father. His inheritance was to be adjusted to allow for these factors, resulting in his share of the estate being $1,500 less than that of each of his siblings.[15]

Clarence was listed in Spooner's Brooklyn Directory in the 1820s. As well as his work as a lawyer, he was at various times an inspector of Common Schools, trustee of a district of Brooklyn village, and trustee of the Brooklyn Savings Bank. He was listed in the 1829–30 Manhattan New York City Directory as a counsellor with an office at 42 Pine, and in the 1838 and 1840 New York City Directories at 13 Pine. In 1857 he was listed in the New York City Directory, having his law office at 34 Liberty in partnership with his brother Grenville.[16], [17], [18], [19]

Clarence was listed in the 1840 census as a householder in King's County, New York State.[20]

In 1850 Clarence was living in New York City and was recorded in the census as Clarence Sackett, a lawyer, aged 52 and born in New York. His wife Emeline, 43, and brother Grenville were living with him. There were also two young women in the household, probably servants.[21]

Clarence made his will in New York City on 27 June 1853, naming his wife Emeline as beneficiary, to inherit all his real and personal estate. The will was proved at the Surrogate's Court, New York City, on 12 May 1858.[15]

Clarence Sackett was a militiaman, commissioned Captain in the 82nd Regiment, New York Infantry.

Shortly before his death, Clarence Sackett and Coleman E Bishop bought the Chautauqua Journal from its proprietor, Frank W Palmer.[22]

Grenville A Sackett, lawyer of New York, son of Samuel Sackett and Elizabeth Kissam, was born in 1804.[1] He died aged 54 in Brooklyn, New York City, on 9 March 1858[1, 2, 3] and was buried at St George's Episcopal Church Graveyard, Flushing, Queens County, New York State.[4] He was unmarried.[1, 2]

Grenville was named as a beneficiary in his father's will made in Brooklyn, New York City, on 23 February 1822. He was to receive with his siblings an equal share of the estate after special provision for his elder brother Edwin, who it would appear was disabled, and after adjustment for the fact that his brother Clarence had already been given land by his father and had benefitted from an expensive education. Accordingly, Grenville's share was to be $1,500 more than that of Clarence.[5]

Grenville graduated AB at Columbia College, New York City, in 1823.[6]

In 1850 Grenville was living in New York City in the household of his brother Clarence and sister-in-law Emeline, and was recorded in the census as Grenville Sackett, a lawyer, aged 31 (actually 46) and born in New York.[7]

Grenville was listed in the 1829–30 Manhattan New York City Directory as an attorney at 42 Pine, and in the 1840 New York City Directory at 13

Pine with his brother Clarence. He was listed in the 1857 New York City Directory, having his law office at 34 Liberty in partnership with his brother Clarence.[8, 9, 10]

Administration of Grenville's estate was granted on 30 March 1858 to his nephew Adam Sackett on his bond for $10,000.[11]

(1806 - 1880)

Line 3	Samuel[N], Samuel[M], Joseph[L], Joseph[K], Simon[J], Simon[I], Thomas[H], Thomas[G]

Father	709	Samuel Sackett b. 1765, d. 1822
Mother		Elizabeth Kissam b. 1766, d. 1816

Elizabeth Kissam Sackett, daughter of Samuel Sackett and Elizabeth Kissam, was born in New York State on 6 December 1806.[1, 2] She died aged 73 in Brooklyn, New York City, on 22 March 1880[3, 4] and was buried at Flushing Cemetery, Flushing, Queens County, New York State, on 25 March 1880.[5] She married in New York City on 24 April 1844, Thomas Wickham Titus, son of John Titus and Mary Ustick.[1, 6] Thomas was born in Manhattan, New York City, on 4 May 1804.[2] He died aged 83 in Huntington, Suffolk County, New York State, on 9 October 1887.[7]

Elizabeth was named as a beneficiary in her father's will made in Brooklyn, New York City, on 23 February 1822. She was to receive with her siblings an equal share of the estate after special provision for her elder brother Edwin, who it would appear was disabled, and after adjustment for the fact that her brother Clarence had already been given land by his father and had benefitted from an expensive education. Accordingly, Elizabeth's share was to be $1,500 more than that of Clarence.[8]

In 1850 Elizabeth was living in Brooklyn in the household of her husband Thomas Titus, 45, a merchant, and was recorded in the census as Elizabeth K Titus, aged 44 and born in New York. Living with them were seven children of Thomas's first marriage. Two young Irish women in the household were probably servants.[9]

In 1870 she was living in Huntington, Suffolk County, New York State, in the household of her husband Thomas, 66, a warehouse owner, and was recorded as Elizabeth K Titus, aged 63.[10]

Elizabeth made her will in Brooklyn, New York City, on 21 April 1879. She left sums of $100 each to her husband's three sisters and to her sister-in-law Emeline Sackett, widow of her brother Clarence. She left $250 at age 21 to Grenviille Sackett Titus, son of her stepson Henry Titus. Her great-nephew Clarence Sackett and great-niece Gertrude Sackett, children of Adam T Sackett, were left, respectively, her gold watch and diamond ring. She left the residue of her estate in trust, the income to go to her husband during his lifetime and, upon his death, the residue to be split half to her husband's children and half to the children of her nephew Adam T Sackett. Elizabeth was evidently independently wealthy and the stipulation that the income of the trust be applied to the "proper support maintenance and reasonable wants" of her husband suggests that her husband was financially dependent upon her. The will was proved at the Kings County Surrogate's Court on 28 April 1880.[8]

Minerva Kezia Sacket (1804–1851) (Src: Find a Grave, Pythonyssa SoothSayer)

Minerva Kezia Sacket, daughter of Augustus Sacket and Minerva Camp, was born in New York State on 12 April 1804.[1, 2] She died aged 47 in North Carolina on 1 August 1851[1] and was buried at the First Presbyterian Church Cemetery, Morganton, Burke County, North Carolina.[3, 4] She married in Rutherford County, North Carolina, on 4 June 1822, Samuel Greenlee, son of James Ephraim Greenlee and Mary Mitchell.[1, 5, 6] Samuel was born in Burke County, North Carolina, on 26 January 1783.[3] He died aged 65 in Morganton on 23 May 1848 and was buried at the First Presbyterian Church Cemetery, Morganton.[3, 7]

In 1850 Minerva was living in Morganton and was recorded in the census as Minerva K Greenlee, aged 44 and born in New York. Living with her were her children, Samuel, 22, Emily, 21, Elizabeth, 17, Alexander, 15, and George, 13. Minerva owned real estate valued at $12,000 and each of her children owned real estate valued at $4,500. The family also owned 22 slaves, ten of whom, five males aged from four months to 38 years and five females aged from five to 60, were assigned to Minerva. Samuel owned eight slaves, Emily one, Ephraim one, and Alexander two.[8, 9]

The administrator of Minerva's estate drew up an inventory of items of personal estate sold on 8, 9, and 10 December 1851 on 12 months' credit. Sale proceeds totalled $5,492, and included the sale of slaves: negro boy Bob $690, negro boy Adam, wife and child $1,215, negro boy George $501, negro woman Leah and child $653, girl Laurah $290, girl Narcissa $705, and boy Harris $100.

Minerva's husband Samuel had died intestate three years earlier. At the time of Minerva's death, a committee formed after Samuel's death was still evaluating his estate. The committee reported on 17 July 1851 that $33,673 had been collected from debtors and $11,155 paid to creditors, leaving a balance of $22,518 in the hands of the administrators of his estate.

Among the papers concerning Samuel's estate is a numbered list of his 59 slaves. In respectful recognition of their part in the history of the Sackett family, the list is reproduced below, together with the administrators' further explanatory comments.

Numbered list of Samuel Greenlee's slaves, with their ages

In 1900 George's widow Harriet was living at Third Street, Geneva, and was recorded in the census as Harriet Sackett, aged 76.[17]

Obituary.

George A. Sackett was born in Jamaica, L.I., July 20, 1812, consequently was 70 years of age at the time of his death, which occurred at Geneva, Ill., April 1. He was brought up in New York City, and there received a good common-school education. At an early age he went to Sackett's Harbor with his father, for whom the town was named, and when 17 years old started in business on his own account, making some very successful ventures. During the Patriot War on Canada, which gave him an additional start, he became largely interested in vessels, and was one of the first to recognize the importance of Chicago as a grain market. Here he did considerable [business] in buying and shipping to Oswego in his own vessels. In 1854 he removed to Chicago and became engaged in the iron and coal trade. In 1858 he was succeeded in this by Hale & Ayer. He was one of the earliest members of the Board of Trade, and was prominent in its dealings, remaining in the organization until 1870, when he retired from business to his home in Geneva. He was one of the earliest members of Christ R. E. Church, was one its wardens for many years, was in sympathy with the rector, the Rev. C. E. Cheney, and took part in the movement that resulted in the formation of the Reformed Episcopal Church, always maintaining the greatest interest in the new organization. He was of a quiet and reserved disposition, and passed the last years of his life in the quietude and enjoyment of his library and garden. He was sick for three months with cancer of the stomach, and passed peacefully away at the 3 April 1883 last. He leaves a wife and five children to mourn his loss.

Mother		Minerva Camp b. 1780, d. 1837

Alexander Sacket, son of Augustus Sacket and Minerva Camp, was born in Meadville, Crawford County, Pennsylvania, on 17 August 1814.[1, 2, 3] He died aged 70 in Cleveland, Cuyahoga County, Ohio, on 24 September 1884 and was buried at Lake View Cemetery, Cleveland.[1, 4, 5] He married in Cleveland on 11 July 1836, Harriet Johnson, daughter of Capt Levi Johnson and Margaret Monteeth.[1, 6] Harriet was born in Cleveland on 10 December 1815.[7, 8] She died there aged 81 on 6 October 1897 and was buried at Lake View Cemetery, Cleveland.[5, 9]

Alexander was taxed on real and personal property in Cuyahoga County from 1836.[10]

Alexander was listed in the 1840 census as a householder in Cleveland.[11]

In 1850 Alexander was living in Cleveland and was recorded in the census as Alex R Sackett, a merchant, aged 36 and born in Pennsylvania. Living with him were his wife Harriet, 33, and their children, Margaret, 13, Levi, 8, Harriet, 6, and Mary, aged five.[12]

In 1860 he was living in East Cleveland, Cuyahoga County, and was recorded as Alex'r Sackett, a merchant, aged 45. Living with him were his wife Harriet, 40, and their children, Margaret, 22, Levi, 17, Harriet, 14, Mary, 12, and Ellen, aged nine.[13]

In 1870 he was living in East Cleveland and was recorded as Alexander Sackett, a real estate agent, aged 53. Living with him were his wife Harriet, 52, and their children, Levi, 26, Harriet, 24, Mary, 21, and Ellen, aged 18. There were also two female domestic servants and a male gardener in the household. Alexander's real estate was valued at $75,000 and his personal estate at $10,000.[14]

In 1880 he was living in Cleveland and was recorded as Alexander Sacket, a real estate dealer, aged 65. Living with him were his wife Harriet, 64, and their children, Levi, 32 [actually 37], Harriet, 25 [actually 35], and Ellen, 21 [actually 29]. There were also a coachman and two female servants in the household.[15]

Alexander applied for a US passport in Cuyahoga County on 7 July 1880. The ages of his daughters Harriet and Ellen were understated on the application by eight years and six years respectively.[3]

Alexander, his wife Harriet, and their daughters, Harriet and Ellen, visited England in 1881, returning to New York on the SS Gallia on 26 April 1881. The daughters had shed a few more years during the trip, Harriet's age now understated by twelve years and Ellen's by eight.[16, 17]

17. The understatement of the ages of Alexander's daughters Harriet and Ellen on his passport application, on the 1880 census, and on the ship's passenger list was clearly deliberate, albeit the numbers of years understated were inconsistent. It may be surmised that the intent was to improve the daughters' marriage prospects.

Line 3	William[N], William[M], Joseph[L], Joseph[K], Simon[J], Simon[I], Thomas[H], Thomas[G]

Father	715	William W Sackett b. 1765, d. 1833
Mother		Susan Smith b. 1771

James W Sackett, surveyor, millwright, lumberman and farmer, of Lumberland, Sullivan County, New York; Hickory Run, Carbon County, Pennsylvania; and Allegan County, Michigan, son of William W Sackett and Susan Smith, was born in New York State on 8 January 1803.[1, 2] He died in Wilkes Barre, Pennsylvania, on 15 December 1887.[1] He married on 31 July 1834, Nancy Beers, daughter of Silas Beers.[1]

James was listed in the 1840 census as a householder in Lumberland, Sullivan County, New York State.[3]

In 1850 James was living in Lumberland, Sullivan County, New York State, and was recorded in the census as J W Sacket, a millwright, aged 47 and born in New York. Living with him were hiis wife Nancy, 35, and their children, Laura, 15, William, 14, Susan, 12, James, 10, George, 7, Wesley, 3, and Frances, aged one.[4]

In 1860 Nancy was living in Lumberland and was recorded as Nancy Sacket, aged 59. Living with her were her children, James, 26, George, 25, Wesley, 22, Frances, 16, Margaret, 12, and Charles, aged five. This census record must have been the enumerator's, or perhaps a neighbor's, "best guess". It must refer to this family, but the ages are all wrong: Nancy was 45, James 20, George 17, Wesley 13, Frances 12, and "Margaret" was Martha, aged 10.[5]

1224 William Henry Sackett

(c 1800 - 1872)

Line 3	Nathaniel[N], Joseph[M], Richard[L], Joseph[K], Simon[J], Simon[I], Thomas[H], Thomas[G]

Father	733	Nathaniel Sackett b. 1763, d. 1812
Mother		Bethiah Reynolds b. 1767, d. 1809

William Henry Sackett, son of Nathaniel Sackett and Bethiah Reynolds, was born in Greenwich, Fairfield County, Connecticut, about 1800.[1, 2, 3] He died aged 72 in Brooklyn, New York City, on 23 October 1872 and was buried at Green-Wood Cemetery, Brooklyn.[4, 5] He married in New York City on 2 April 1822, Elethea A Higgins.[1, 6, 7] Elethea was born in New York State in 1805.[5] She died in Brooklyn on 26 September 1856[8] and was buried at Green-Wood Cemetery, Brooklyn.[5, 9]

William was named in his father's will made in Bedford, New York State, on 13 March 1812.[10]

In 1850 William was living in New York City and was recorded in the census as William H Sackett, aged 50 and born in New York. Living with him were his wife Elethea, 45, and their children, William, 25, James, 21, Eliza, 19, and Maria, 13.[11]

Research note

The Sacketts of America records William's death date as 28 February 1846 and his place of burial as Huntington, New York. However, he and Elethea are listed in the 1850 census. Their death and burial records, Elethea in 1856 and William in 1872, state that both were buried at Green-Wood Cemetery, Brooklyn. William's death record gives his birthplace as Greenwich, Connecticut (although the 1850 census gives it as New York). His relationship as a son of Nathaniel Sackett is not confirmed but a birthplace of Greenwich would fit with Nathaniel's general whereabouts at that time.

A William H Sackett was listed in the 1840 census in Huntington and was buried there on 28 February 1846. Although clearly not the William who married Elethea, he has not been further identified.

Frederick Augustus Sackett, son of Samuel Sackett and Mary Bailey, was born in Thompson, Sullivan County, New York State, on 5 October 1815.[1, 2] He died aged 75 in Goshen, Orange County, New York State, on 18 February 1891.[1, 3] He was unmarried.

In 1855 Frederick was living in New Windsor, Orange County, and was recorded in the census as Fredrick A Sacket, a labourer, aged 39 and born in Sullivan County. Living with him were his mother Mary, 80, and sister Elizabeth M, 35 (this must have been sister Mary who was then 45.)[4]

In 1875 he was living in New Windsor and was recorded as Frederic Sackett, a tract peddler, aged 60, single. His sister Mary, 65, was living with him.[5]

On 26 October 1876, Frederick was admitted to the Orange County Poor House, diagnosed with religious mania, a condition from which he was not expected to recover. His occupation was given as colporteur, i.e. a peddler of religious tracts. An assessment of the labor of which he was capable was "prayer, to an indefinite extent."[6]

Mother Elizabeth Terboss b. c 1771, d. 1822

William Augustus Sackett, son of Nathaniel Sackett and Elizabeth Terboss, was born in Dutchess County, New York State, on 8 September 1808.[1] He died aged 82 in East Norwood, Hamilton County, Ohio, on 6 March 1891[1] and was buried at Spring Grove Cemetery, Cincinnati, Ohio.[2, 3] He married at Butler County, Ohio, on 12 December 1832, Mary Greenlee Ross.[1, 4] Mary was born in Ohio on 11 February 1813.[5, 6] She died on 10 March 1870[7] and was buried at Spring Grove Cemetery.[8]

William was listed in the 1840 census as a householder in Middletown, Butler County, Ohio.[9]

In 1850 William was living in Cincinnati, Hamilton County, Ohio, and was recorded in the census as Wm A Sacket, a clerk, aged 44 and born in New York. Living with him were his wife Mary, 37, and their children, Mary, 17 [probably 11], Ann Eliza, 15 [probably 9], Nathaniel, 12 [probably 8], and Louisa, aged eight [probably 7].[10]

In 1860 he was living in Cincinnati and was recorded as Wm A Sackett, a clerk, aged 50. Living with him were his wife Mary, 46, and their children, Mary, 25 [21], Anna, 23 [19], Nathaniel, 21 [18], Louisa, 18 [17], and Ella, aged eight.[11] The stated ages of William's adult daughters in the census records are clearly fanciful.

In 1870 he was living in Cincinnati and was recorded as William Sacket, a US whisky superintendant, aged 60. Living with him were his unmarried children, Mary, 30, Nathaniel, 28, Anna, 26 [29], and Louisa, 24 [27]. There was also a female domestic servant in the household.[12]

In 1873 William was a registered gauger of Internal Revenue in Cincinnati.[13]

In 1880 William was living in Cincinnati, Hamilton County, Ohio, and was recorded in the census as W A Sackett, a collector, head of household, a widower, aged 69 and born in New York. Living with him were his unmarried daughters, Mary G, 34 [41], a school teacher, and Annie E, 28 [39], and Louise, 23 [37], both at home. Also in the household was a 19-year-old female servant.[14]

Mother		Miriam Bancroft b. 1781, d. 1874

Dexter B Sackett, son of Lieutenant Martin Sacket and Miriam Bancroft, was born in Massachusetts on 1 June 1806.[1, 2] He died aged 90 in Cortland, DeKalb County, Illinois, on 13 February 1897[1] and was buried at Mound Rest Cemetery, Cortland.[3] He married first on 10 October 1832, Electa Bement, daughter of Judah Bement.[1] Electa was born in Norwich, Chenango County, New York State, in August 1808.[3, 4] She died aged 55 in Plymouth, Chenango County, on 20 December 1863 and was buried at South Plymouth Cemetery, Chenango County.[3] He married second in Whiteside County, Illinois, on 7 September 1864, Eliza (Gregory) Ingham, widow of Luman H Ingham.[5] Eliza was born in 1819.[6] She died aged about 79 in 1898 and was buried at Mound Rest Cemetery, Cortland.[3]

Dexter was listed in the 1840 census as a householder in Plymouth, Chenango County, New York State.[7]

In 1850 Dexter was living in Plymouth and was recorded in the census as D B Sacket, a farmer, aged 43 and born in Massachusetts. Living with him were his wife Electa, 41, and their children, Judah, 15, Orville, 13, Addison, 11, Clarissa, 9, Mary, 7, Franklin, 5, and Lester, aged three.[8]

In 1860 he was living in Plymouth and was recorded as D B Sackett, a farmer, aged 54. Living with him were his wife Electa, 52, and their children, Mary, 17, Franklin, 15, Lester, 13, and Helen, aged nine.[9]

In 1870 he was living in Cortland, DeKalb County, Illinois, and was recorded as Dexter B Sackett, a coal dealer, aged 64. Living with him were his second wife, Eliza, 40, and his daughter-in-law Carrie, 22, widow of his son Franklin.[10]

In 1880 he was living in Cortland and was recorded as Dexter B Sackett, a retired farmer, aged 74. Living with him were his wife Eliza, 60, her son George, and George's two children.[11]

Dexter made his will at Cortland on 2 August 1888. He left to his wife Eliza her dower interest in the estate of her first husband Luman Ingham which Dexter had purchased from Luman's heirs. The remainder of his estate was to be shared equally among his children, De L [Lester], Clarissa, and Mary. The will was proved on 17 February 1897.

Abstract of will of Dexter B Sackett, aged 82, of Cortland, DeKalb County, Illinois.
Date: 2 Aug 1888.
Proved: Sycamore, DeKalb County, 17 Feb 1897.
Beneficiaries:
Wife Eliza, a $1,000 note held by her but owned by me.
Son De L Sackett and daughters Clarissa E Bennett and Mary E Sackett, to share equally residue of estate, real and personal.
Executor: Son De L Sackett.
Witnesses: J S Harroun, Robert Reed.
An explanatory note appended to the will explains that the $1,000 note related to the purchase by Dexter from the heirs of Eliza's first husband Luman H Ingham of Eliza's dower interest in Luman's estate.

1290 Rev Lester M Sackett

(1822 - 1860)

Line 3	Martin[N], Moses[M], Daniel[L], John[K], John[J], Simon[I], Thomas[H], Thomas[G]

Father	778	Lieutenant Martin Sacket b. 1776, d. 1862
Mother		Miriam Bancroft b. 1781, d. 1874

Rev Lester M Sackett, Methodist minister, son of Lieutenant Martin Sacket and Miriam Bancroft, was born in Plymouth, Chenango County, New York State, on 29 November 1822.[1, 2] He died aged 37 in Chenango County on 17 October 1860[1] and was buried at South Plymouth Cemetery, Chenango County.[3] He married in January 1854, Calphurnia Lucinda Garrett, daughter of Ulricus Garrett and Lucinda Murdock.[1] Calphurnia was born in Madison County, New York State, on 13 September 1834.[4, 5] After Lester's death, Calphurnia married second, Elijah Buell, in 1871, and third, Charles W Dain, in 1902. She died aged 80 in Norwich, Chenango County, on 22 July 1915.[5, 6]

In 1850 Lester was living in Hebron, McHenry County, Illinois, in the household of his sister Diana and brother-in-law William Tower, and was recorded in the census as Lester Sacket, a farmer, aged 27 and born in New York.[7]

In 1855 he was living in Plymouth and was recorded as Lester Sackett, a farmer, aged 32. His wife Calphurnia, 21, was living with him.[8]

In 1860 he was living in North Norwich, Chenango County, and was recorded as Lester M Sackett, a Methodist Episcopal clergyman, aged 37. His wife Calphurnia, 26, was living with him. There was also a six-year-old girl, Harriett Potter, in the household.[9]

Lester made his will in North Norwich, Chenango County, on 9 October 1860. He left the use of his estate to his wife Calphurnia during her widowhood, the residue of estate thereafter to go to the Methodist Episcopal Church. The will was proved on 27 November 1860.

Lester's will

> Abstract of Will of Lester M Sackett, aged 37, of North Norwich, Chenango County, New York
> Date: 9 Oct 1860.
> Proved: 27 Nov 1860.
> Beneficiaries:
> Wife Calphurnia Lucinda Sackett, all household goods, use of rest of estate during widowhood. If she remarries, estate to go to Trustees of Oneida Conference, subject to their ensuring her needs are met.
> Trustees of the Oneida Annual Conference of Methodist Episcopal Church, residue of estate after wife's death.
> Executor: brother William D Sackett.
> Witnesses: Daniel A Whedon, Lois U Harrington.

Calphurnia's obituary

> Norwich [Chenango Co., NY]: Mrs. Calphurnia Dain, widow of Charles W. Dain, passed away July 22 at her home on Guernsey street, aged 81. She was the daughter of Ulricus and Lucinda Murdock Garrett, in their day well known residents of Plymouth, and was born September 13, 1837 [sic: probably 1834]. About the year 1854 deceased married Rev. Lester Sackett, a Methodist minister, who served as pastor of several charges in this vicinity and was with the church in Kings Settlement at the time of his death in 1860. Eleven years later, in 1871, Mrs. Sackett married Elijah Buell, of Kings Settlement. They later took up their residence in Norwich, living on North Broad street at the time of Mr. Buell's death, in 1897. December 18, 1902, his widow married her third husband, Charles W. Dain, who died 1913.

1306 Charles D Sackett

(1829 - 1872)

Line 3	Israel[N], Moses[M], Daniel[L], John[K], John[J], Simon[I], Thomas[H], Thomas[G]

Father	784	Israel Sacket b. 1792, d. 1851
Mother		Lucy Doane b. 1799, d. 1870

Charles D Sackett, son of Israel Sacket and Lucy Doane, was born in Massachusetts in 1829.[1, 2] He died of gunshot wounds in Westfield, Hampden County, Massachusetts, on 3 December 1872 after being shot by an attacker five days earlier on 28 November.[3] He was buried at Pine Hill Cemetery, Westfield.[4] He was unmarried.

Charles was the victim of an attack by an apparently jealous assailant. By his confession, the gunman, Albert Smith, was visiting Westfield to see Jennie Bates with whom it would appear he was infatuated. He found that Charles and Jennie were together at a theatre and, meeting them later in the street, he shot them both. Charles died of his wounds a few days later. Jennie survived. Smith was tried for murder and was executed by hanging in June 1873 in Westfield.

Charles was named as a beneficiary in his father's will made in Westfield on 8 April 1844. He was left the residue of real and personal estate with his brother Francis, subject to their paying one-third of the value of the real estate to their sisters Harriet and Mary.[5]

In 1850 Charles was living in Westfield in the household of his parents Israel and Lucy, and was recorded in the census as Charles Sackett, a farmer, aged 21 and born in Massachusetts.[6]

In 1860 he was living in Westfield in the household of his mother Lucy, and was recorded as Charles D Sacket, a farmer, aged 31.[7]

In 1870 he was living in Westfield and was recorded as Charles Sackett, a farmer, aged 41. Living with him were his mother Lucy, 69, and sister Harriett, aged 44.[8]

Charles made his will in Westfield on 3 January 1871. He left $50 each to a nephew and niece, the rest of his estate to be shared by his sisters, Harriet and Mary. Charles owned a substantial property in Westfield, valued in excess of $20,000, but funded in part by bank borrowings. After a sale of the properties in 1873, the executor, Charles's brother-in-law Henry Plimpton, paid the net proceeds of some $10,000 to the beneficiaries. One of the beneficiaries named in the will, Henry's wife Mary, had predeceased her brother Charles by two months and her share, of some $5,000, was then to be held in trust by Henry Plimpton as guardian of their children George and Lucy.

Charles's making of a will when only in his early 40s would seem unusual but may have been prompted by the death some months earlier of his brother Frank of similar age. Certainly, his being gunned down in the street near his home in the following year could not have been imagined.[5]

Charles was included in a list of principal tax payers of Westfield published in the Westfield News-Letter in August 1872.[9]

Charles was listed as a tobacco grower in the Westfield City Directory in 1873 (the directory having been compiled before his death in 1872). The inventory of Charles's estate included various crops valued at some $1,400 of which tobacco accounted for $1,100. Also listed among his effects was a gold watch valued at $100, perhaps indicative of his standing in the community.

Mary Eliza Sacket, daughter of Israel Sacket and Lucy Doane, was born in Westfield, Hampden County, Massachusetts, on 7 May 1838.[1, 2, 3] She died aged 34 in Boston, Suffolk County, Massachusetts, on 29 September 1872 and was buried at Mount Auburn, Boston.[4] She was also commemorated on her husband Henry's gravestone at Vine Lake Cemetery, Medfield, Norfolk County, Massachusetts.[5] She married in Westfield on 14 October 1856, Henry Richardson Plimpton, son of Leonard Plimpton and Sarah ___.[1, 6] Henry was born in Massachusetts in 1820.[7, 8] He died aged about 71 in 1891.[8]

Mary was named as a beneficiary in her father's will made in Westfield on 8 April 1844. She was left an amount of two-ninths of the value of the real estate, to be paid to her by her brothers Francis and Charles, who were to inherit the land jointly.[9]

In 1850 Mary was living in Westfield in the household of her parents Israel and Lucy, and was recorded in the census as Mary Sackett, aged ten and born in Massachusetts.[10]

In 1860 Mary was living in Boston in the household of her husband Henry, 39, a furniture dealer, and was recorded in the census as Mary E Plympton, aged 21. Their son George, aged one, was living with them.

There were also two furniture craftsmen in the household.[11]

In 1870 she was living in Boston in the household of her husband Henry, 54, a retired furniture dealer, and was recorded as Mary Plympton, aged 30. Their son George, 10, was living with them.[12]

Mary was named as a beneficiary in the will of her brother Charles made in Westfield on 3 January 1871. She was to share equally with her sister Harriet in the residue of the estate. In the event, Mary died two months before her brother and her share, some $5,000, was then held in trust by her widower Henry for their children, George and Lucy.[9]

Line 3 Cynthia[N], Israel[M], Daniel[L], John[K], John[J], Simon[I], Thomas[H], Thomas[G]

Father 792 Elijah Sackett b. 1784, d. 1851
Mother 786 Cynthia Sackett b. 1784, d. 1862

Clarissa Bagg Sackett, daughter of Elijah Sackett and Cynthia Sackett, was born in Westfield, Hampden County, Massachusetts, on 30 July 1812.[1, 2] She died aged 89 in Springfield, Hampden County, on 24 November 1901[3] and was buried at Springfield Cemetery.[2, 4] She married in West Springfield, probably in 1830, Noah Pease Ashley, son of Noah Ashley and Abigail Pease.[5] Noah Pease Ashley was born in West Springfield on 26 March 1808.[2, 6] He died aged 62 in Springfield on 15 May 1870 and was buried at Springfield Cemetery.[2, 7]

In 1850 Clarissa was living in Springfield in the household of her husband Noah P Ashley, 42, a laborer, and was recorded in the census as Clarrissa Ashley, aged 38 and born in Massachusetts. Living with them were their children, Justin, 18, Gilbert, 13, and Joseph, aged six.[8]

In 1860 she was living in Springfield in the household of her husband Noah Ashley, 52, a farmer, and was recorded as Clarrissa Ashley, aged 48. Living with them were their children, Joseph, 16, and Justin, 28, with his wife Harriet, 21, and their son Gilbert, aged one month.[9]

In 1870 she was living in Springfield and was recorded as Clarasa Ashley, aged 58. Her son Joseph, 26, was living with her.[10]

In 1880 she was living at Carew Street, Springfield, and was recorded as

Clarissa B Ashley, aged 67.[11]

Noah Ashley died intestate. On their petition, his widow Clarissa and son Justin were appointed administrators of the estate by the Hampden County Probate Court on 12 July 1870. Sons Gilbert and Joseph were also named as interested parties. Appraisers were appointed by the Court and they valued the real estate, at Carew Street, Springfield, at $4,863 and personal estate at $203. On 7 March 1871, the Court allowed the items comprising the personal estate to Clarissa as necessaries for herself. Some land was sold by the heirs but the estate was not settled by April 1873 when Joseph Ashley, then of Agawam, petitioned the Court to order the administrators to settle the account. (The delay may have been the result of Justin Ashley having removed to Brattleboro, Vermont.) In May 1874, the Court appointed Commissioners to determine and seek agreement on a widow's dower to be assigned to Clarissa. A tract of land with buildings on the southerly side of Carew Street was set aside as a dower for Clarissa, and this was agreed by her sons. Subject to Clarissa's right of dower, sons Justin, of Brattleboro, Gilbert, of Springfield, and Joseph C, of Agawam, were each to receive one-third of the estate. Commissioners partitioned the estate at Carew Street, setting off a defined tract to Justin and Gilbert and awarding them an adjusting payment of $200 from Joseph. A further defined tract was set off for Joseph. The arrangements for the widow's dower and the division among the sons was agreed by all parties and was ratified by the Court on 7 July 1874.[12]

By announcement in the Springfield Republican newspaper on 24 November 1900, Clarissa was named for non-payment of taxes. She was to pay $27.01 by 4 December, failing which her house and land at 179 Carew Street, Springfield, would be sold that day at public auction. It is to be hoped that the then 88-year-old widow was spared this disproportionate threat and that she was able to celebrate Christmas with a roof over her head.[13]

Justin Sacket, landscape gardener, son of Elijah Sackett and Cynthia Sackett, was born in Westfield, Hampden County, Massachusetts, on 5 September 1814.[1] He died aged 82 in Springfield, Hampden County, on 3 March 1897.[1, 2, 3] He married at the First Church, Springfield, on 1 October 1840, Sophia Marsh, daughter of Apollo Marsh.[4, 5, 6] Sophia was born in Springfield about 1825.[7, 8]

In 1860 Justin was living in Springfield and was recorded in the census as Justin Sacket, a gardener, aged 45. Living with him were his wife Sophia, 36, and their children, Alice, 19, Edward, 15, and James, aged six.[9]

In 1870 he was living in Springfield and was recorded as Justin Sackett, a landscape gardener, aged 55 and born in Massachusetts. Living with him were his wife Sophia, aged 44 and born in Massachusetts, and children, Alice, 29, Edward, 26, and James, 16. Also in the household was George Finning?, a laborer.[10]

In 1900 Justin's widow Sophia, aged 75, was living at Spring Street, Springfield, in the household of her son James.[11]

Biography, Leading Citizens of Hampden County

Justin Sackett, an extensive contractor of Springfield, was born in Westfield, September 5, 1814. His grandfather, Joel Sackett, was an old resident of Westfield, having moved thither from Agawam when that village was flooded. Mr. Sackett's father, Elijah Sackett, was born in Westfield, and lived there until 1817, when he came to West Springfield. His wife, Cynthia, whose family name was the same as his own, bore him five children: Israel, deceased; Clarissa, the wife of Noah Ashby, of West Springfield; Justin; Cynthia; deceased; and Elijah.

Justin, having attended school at Ashleyville, West Springfield, came to Springfield when a boy, and hired himself to a farmer for a number of years. In 1840, he went to work in the old Springfield cemetery, where he was employed for thirteen years. He then went to St. Johnsbury, Vt., and took the contract for laying out a cemetery there. Having complete charge of this work, Mr. Sackett gained a considerable reputation for skill and executive ability. The tracks and dike of Hampden Park were built by him, the length of the two tracks being a mile and a half. He here employed a force of thirty men. At the same time Mr. Sackett was busily engaged in fulfilling a contract for the Northampton Hospital, and one-half of each day was given to the supervision of the respective works. He continued taking contracts for earth works, and in 1859–1860 he was superintendent of the city streets. For nine years he held this important position, which he finally resigned. His main line of work was building of streets, putting in sewers, and grading lawns, which gave employment for a large number of men, and was the means of supplying many families. This especial work he continued until 1892, when his last contract, which was for the building of the Forest Park roads, was completed. He was one of the originators and directors of the Oak Grove Cemetery, which he took charge of personally, and which was mainly laid off upon his own ground.

Mr. Sackett married Miss Sophia O. Marsh, a daughter of Mr. Apollo Marsh, who was a soldier in the War of 1812 and a representative of the old and well-known Marsh family of Springfield. Three children have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Sackett: Edward, the eldest, who is a railroad man and engaged in the city; Alice, the wife of Mr. Charles Rust; and James, who has succeeded his father in business. The family attend the Unitarian church. Mr. Sackett, though formerly a Whig and later a Republican voter, has not been an active politician. Mr. Sackett has owned a large amount of real estate in and about the city. He has also built several residences. His own home, which is surrounded by a lawn covering an acre of ground, was built in 1861, and was then considered a long way out, though now in the heart of the city. The family still occupy this attractive old place, endeared by the associations of so many years. Mr. Sackett was for some time a member of the Board of Public Works, in which body he was an acknowledged authority.

Line 3 Russel[N], Gad[M], Daniel[L], John[K], John[J], Simon[I], Thomas[H], Thomas[G]

Father	791	Russel Sackett b. 1782, d. 1839
Mother		Polly Brass b. c 1787, d. 1870

Lemuel H Sackett, son of Russel Sackett and Polly Brass, was born in Westfield, Hampden County, Massachusetts, on 28 May 1821.[1, 2] He died there aged 36 on 22 November 1857 and was buried at Pine Hill Cemetery, Westfield.[3] He married at the First Church, Springfield, Hampden County, on 25 June 1849, Lydia Chapman, daughter of Asa Chapman and Lucretia Gaylord.[4, 5, 6, 7, 8] Lydia was born in Westfield on 28 December 1819.[9] After Lemuel's death she married second in Westfield on 18 December 1860, Hiram K Caswell, son of Hiram Caswell and Lucinda ___.[10, 11] She died aged 97 on 24 August 1917 and was buried at Pine Hill Cemetery, Westfield.[12, 13]

In 1850 Lemuel was living in Westfield and was recorded in the census as Lemuel Sacket, a mason, aged 29, and born in Massachusetts. Living with him were his wife Lydia, aged 28, and born in Massachusetts, and their four-month-old son Samuel.[14]

In 1855 he was living in Westfield in the household of Rachael Sacket, 70, and was recorded as Lemuel Sacket, a mason, aged 34. Living with him were his wife Lydia, 33, and their children, Samuel, 5, Emma, 4, and Lydia, aged two. Rachael Sacket would have been Rachel Morse, widow of Lemuel's father Russel's first cousin John Sacket.[15]

In 1860 Lemuel's widow Lydia was living in Westfield and was recorded in the census as Lydia Sacket, a washerwoman, aged 40 and born in Massachusetts. Living with her was her daughter Fanny, aged two.[16]

In 1870 she was living in Westfield in the household of her husband Hiram, 37, and was recorded as Liddie Caswell, keeping house, aged 46. Living with them was their son, Hiram Caswell, 8, and Lydia's daughters, Fanny Sackett, 12, and Sophia Sackett, 17.[17]

In 1880 she was living in Greenwich, Hampshire County, Massachusetts, in the household of her husband Hiram Caswell, a farm laborer, and was recorded as Lydia Caswell, housekeeper, aged 58.[18]

In 1900 she was living in Greenwich in the household of her husband Hiram, and was recorded as Lydia Caswell, born in Massachusetts in December 1824, aged 75, married 40 years, with six children of whom three were living.[19] Lydia was also enumerated in the 1900 census in the household of her daughter Fannie and son-in-law Herbert Sackett in Westfield.[20]

Lydia's obituary

Westfield

Mrs. Lydia Caswell Dead

Aged Resident Had Spent Most of Life in Town

Mrs. Lydia Caswell, 98, of 27 Bartlett street, one of Westfield’s oldest residents, died at her home yesterday morning after an illness of several months. She had lived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wetmore of Bartlett street for many years.

Mrs. Caswell was born in Middle Farms, December 28, 1819, and was one of a family of six girls and three boys, of whom she was the last survivor. She was the daughter of Asah and Lucretia (Gaylord)

Chapman. She often spoke of her girlhood days, and of many of her playmates of that period, many of whom attained prominence in the world in later years. She had been a resident of Westfield practically all her life and had seen many changes in the town.

Mrs. Caswell injured one of her eyes a few years ago, and her hearing was also slightly impaired by the accident, but she had retained most of her faculties up to a short time before her death. She was a fine conversationalist and a great reader. She was a singer of note during her younger days, and was much in demand at church and concert affairs. She rode on the second train that was run over the Boston and Albany railroad, from Hinsdale to Westfield.

Mrs. Caswell was twice married, her first husband being Lemuel Sackett, by whom she had five children, one of whom, Mrs. Hebert L. Sackett, of Pochassic street, survives. Her second husband was Hiram Caswell, a veteran of the civil war, by whom she had one son, Hiram Caswell, Jr., who is now living in Springfield. She was a member of the Methodist church.

The funeral will take place at 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon at Parks chapel. Rev. Robert Tucker will officiate. Burial will be in Pine Hill cemetery.

Mother Polly Brass b. c 1787, d. 1870

Roland Sackett 2nd, son of Russel Sackett and Polly Brass, was born in Westfield, Hampden County, Massachusetts, on 15 July 1827.[1, 2, 3] He died there aged 40 on 5 February 1868 and was buried at Pine Hill Cemetery, Westfield.[1, 4, 5] He married in Springfield, Hampden County, on 20 October 1860, Chloe Boles Stebbins, daughter of William Stebbins and Mary ___.[1, 6, 7] Chloe was born in Hartford, Hartford County, Connecticut, on 25 March 1837.[3, 8] She died aged 64 on 10 June 1901 and was buried at Pine Hill Cemetery, Westfield.[4, 9]

In 1850 Roland was living in Cornwall, Litchfield County, Connecticut, in the household of William Stoddard, a farmer, and was recorded in the census as Rowland Sackett, a laborer, aged 22 and born in Massachusetts.[10]

In 1855 he was living in Westfield in the household of his mother Polly, 66, and was recorded as Roland Sacket, a whip maker, aged 28.[11]

In 1860 he was living in Westfield and was recorded as Roland Sacket, a whip maker, aged 32. Living with him were his mother Polly, 72, his sister Mercy, 44, and his nephew Samuel, aged ten, son of his recently deceased brother Lemuel. Also in the household was William Halliday, 21, a whip maker, who would have been Mercy's son.[12]

Roland died intestate. His wife Chloe was initially appointed administratrix of his estate but was replaced by a professional administrator following the discovery of creditors of the estate. Roland's real estate, comprising a 1¼ acre lot next to his widowed mother Polly's home lot on Prospect Hill, Westfield, was valued at $800. This was put up for auction in November 1870 and was eventually bought by Roland's brother Henry for $600, the sale being completed by April 1872. Creditors amounted to $537. This sum included $275 owing to Henry, presumably a loan to Roland.[13]

In 1900 Roland's widow Chloe was living at 24 Prospect Street, Westfield, and was recorded in the census as Chloe B Sackett, a nurse, aged 63. There was also a female servant in the household.[14]

Chloe died intestate. Administration of her estate was granted to her daughter Clara on 10 July 1901.[13]

Frederick Sackett.

Mr. Frederick Sackett, a well-known attorney of this city, died yesterday, at the age of 62, at his residence, No. 812 West Adams street, of Bright's disease. Mr. Sackett began his practice in Whiteside County, where he remained for a number of years. Some thirteen years ago he removed to this city, and has since been an honored member of the Chicago bar. He was author of "Instructions to Juries," the second and final volume of which he had but recently completed for publication.

Edward Sackett, merchant, son of Asher Sacket and Nancy ___, was born in Massachusetts on 8 November 1817.[1, 2] A record confirming Edward's parentage has not been found but it is assumed that he was the Edward named in The Sacketts of America as a son of Asher Sacket. Edward died aged 65 in Hartford, Connecticut, on 31 May 1883[3] and was buried at Cedar Hill Cemetery, Hartford.[1] He married Mary Charlotte Janes, daughter of Obadiah Janes and Ma[ry?] Chapman. Mary Charlotte was born in Easthampton, Hampshire County, Massachusetts, on 16 May 1818.[4, 5] She died aged 88 in Hartford on 28 December 1906 and was buried at Cedar Hill Cemetery.[4]

In 1848 Edward was a bricklayer in South Hadley, Hampshire County, Massachusetts.[6]

In 1850 Edward was living in South Hadley and was recorded in the census as Edward Sacket, aged 32 and born in Massachusetts. Living with him were his wife Mary, 32, and their children, Frederick, aged about 7 [although the census shows age 1], Oscar, 4, and Mary, aged one.[7]

In 1860 he was living in Hartford, Connecticut, and was recorded as Edward Sacket, a lime dealer, aged 42. Living with him were his wife Mary, 42, and their children, Frederick, 17, Oscar, 13, Mary, 11, and Arthur, aged six.[8]

Edward served as a Private in the American Civil War in the Third Connecticut Volunteer Regiment, enlisting on 25 April 1861 and being mustered out on 12 August 1861.[9]

Edward served on a jury of inquest in Hartford in August 1869. The jury recorded a verdict of death by accidental drowning of a 16-year-old boy who had fallen overboard while sculling a boat on the Connecticut River.[10]

In 1870 he was living in Hartford and was recorded as Edward Sackett, a merchant, aged 52. Living with him were his wife Mary, 52, and their children, Frederick, 26, Mary, 19, Edward, 16, and Elaly, aged eight.[11]

In 1880 he was living in Bloomfield, Hartford County, and was recorded as Edward Sackett, a merchant, head of household, married, aged 62. Living with him were his wife Mary, 62, and their children, Mary, 31, Frederick, 35, Oscar, 31, Arthur, 26, and Emma, aged 18.[12]

In 1900 Edward's widow Mary was living in West Hartford, Hartford County, in the household of her daughter Emily and son-in-law Franklin Griswold, and was recorded in the census as Mary C Sackett, aged 82.[13]

    Boy Drowned—His Body Recovered.
    A boy about sixteen years of age, son of Alfred E. Barber, Tolland, who has lived with his grandfather, A. S. Barber, at No. 126 Wells street in this city, was drowned in the Connecticut river between 7 and 8 o'clock Saturday evening. He had been to the East Hartford side in a yawl boat, and was returning with two lads, when in sculling the boat his oar slipped and he went overboard. Yesterday morning several men dragged the river, and at about 10½ o'clock the body was recovered by Mr. Joseph Schalk. Coroner Holmes summoned a jury of inquest, consisting of Charles B. May foreman, Ralph Wallace, Henry A. King, John N. Palmer, Edward Sackett, and Francis Flynn, and a verdict of accidental drowning was rendered. The deceased has been one of the Courant carriers for three years, and was one of the most faithful in service.

Benjamin's obituary

Death of an Aged Man.

Mr. Benjamln F. Sackett Dies in Appomattox.

The sad intelligence of the death of Mr Benjamin F. Sackett, who died yesterday morning in Appomattox, reached the city yesterday, and was a grievous shock to his relatives and friends. Deceased was born in the State of Connecticut 87 years ago, and, though of such advanced age, retained to the last that strength and vigor of intellect that distinguished him throughout his long and useful career. Early in life he removed from his northern home and located at New Orleans, where he resided for many years.

At one time in his life, he made his home in Lynchburg, and one of the old landmarks, Sackett's Hill, now stands as a monument to his memory. Many years ago the building on the site of the present Hurt's Mill was used by Mr. Sackett for storing lumber. The latter years of his life, he passed in the county of Appomattox, where for several terms he filled the position of deputy treasurer. Mr. Sackett was a member of the Presbyterian church, and a man of consistent piety. His bright mind and store of knowledge rendered him a most interesting conversationalist, while his ready wit and courteous manner won him friends wherever he went.

He leaves two children—Mr. Charles H. Sackett, a prominent lawyer of this city, and Mrs. George T. Peers, wife of the county clerk of Appomattox.

The remains will be brought to the city for interment this afternoon by the 2.10 Norfolk and Western train.

Funeral of the Late Mr. Sackett.
The funeral services of the late Mr. Benjamin F. Sackett, who died on Thursday at Hotel Appomattox in West Appomattox, took place yesterday afternoon at 2:10 o'clock from the Union station. The remains had been brought up from Appomattox, and upon their arrival were conveyed direct to the Presbyterian cemetery. The services at the grave were conducted by Rev. Dr. R. H. Fleming and were of a touching character. Deceased was laid to rest beside his wife, who preceded him to the grave many years ago.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Jno. W. Harvey, J. M. Armistead, John C. Woodson, F. S. Kirkpatrick, A. F. Thomas and E. G. Hix.

Father 815 Major Buell Sackett b. 1763, d. 1840
Mother Sally Earl Beach b. 1761, d. 1815

John Sackett MD, son of Major Buell Sackett and Sally Earl Beach, was born on 31 July 1785.[1] He died aged 41 in Nassau County, New York State, on 17 February 1827.[1, 2] He married first say 1810, ___ ___. He married second in Colchester, Chittenden County, Vermont, on 10 May 1818, Lorrain Lawrence.[1, 3] She was born in Essex, Vermont, about February 1794.[4] She died in Vermont on 27 August 1879.[5]

In 1876, Loraine applied for a pension as the widow of a veteran of the War of 1812. She claimed that she and John had married on 17 May 1814, four years before their actual marriage, apparently to show that they were married before the ending of the war in 1815. Her application was rejected as she had not provided proof of the marriage date. The law was changed in 1878 and, on 24 April 1878, Loraine filed a new declaration, this time stating the marriage date as 17 May 1816, still two years before the actual date but within the new rules. The application was accepted, regard being had to her already having received bounty land and to the testimony of John's uncle Isaac Sackett, given in the claim for the bounty land, that he had attended the marriage ceremony. Loraine was granted a pension of $8 a month backdated to 9 March 1878, the date of the new Act.

Loraine stated in the pension applications that neither she nor John Sackett had been previously married. However, the birth of John Buel Sackett in 1812, if correctly assigned to Dr John Sackett, suggests that Dr John would have had an earlier marriage. Records of such a marriage and of John Buel Sackett's birth have not yet been found.[2]

Father	815	Major Buell Sackett b. 1763, d. 1840
Mother		Sally Earl Beach b. 1761, d. 1815

Philo Sackett, son of Major Buell Sackett and Sally Earl Beach, was born on 13 June 1786.[1] He died aged 75 in Hector, Schuyler County, New York State, on 12 October 1863[1] and was buried at Hector Union Cemetery.[2] He married on 6 January 1814, Gratia "Grace" Perkins, daughter of Sands Perkins and Mary Plumb.[1] Gratia was born in Kingston, Washington County, Rhode Island, on 16 January 1787. She died aged 82 in Hector on 10 September 1869 and was buried at Hector Union Cemetery.[2]

Philo was listed in the 1820 census as a householder in Nassau, Rensselaer County, New York State.[3]

In 1850 Philo was living in Hector, Tompkins (later Schuyler) County, and was recorded in the census as Philo Sacket, a farmer, aged 60 and born in New York. Living with him were his wife Gratia, 62, and their children, Mary, 24, Roxana, 22, and Burt (Buel), 20.[4]

In 1860 he was living in Hector, Schuyler County, and was recorded as Philo Sackett, a farmer, aged 72. Living with him were his wife Gracie, 73, and [presumably their daughter] Mary, 24 [who would have been 34]. Their sons, John and Buel, were living on adjacent farms.[5]

Grace's obituary

Deaths

In Bennettsburg, N.Y., Sept. 10th, Mrs. Gratia Sackett aged 82 years.

She became a member of the Baptist church in early life, and was permitted to witness the conversion of her husband and a large family of children. A mother in Israel has gone to her reward.

—The Examiner and Chronicle, New York, NY, 18 Nov 1869, p 5

Died, near Bennettsburg, at the residence of her son, Sept. 10th 1869, Gratia Sackett, aged 82 years 7 months and 24 days.

The subject of this notice, whose maiden name was Gratia Perkins, was born at South Kingston, R.I. At about the age of 14 years she was hopefully converted and united with the Baptist church at that place, where she lived until a short time previous to her marriage, in 1814, to Philo Sackett of Columbia Co., N.Y. In 1828 they removed to the town of Hector, now Schuyler Co., where she has since resided. She lived nearly 50 years with her companion when death separated them in 1863. It was a great satisfaction to the aged parents to see all their children pleasantly settled near them, and entertaining a like precious hope in the blessed Redeemer. But their labours are ended and they have entered their rest. Truly "the memory of the just is blessed."

Elisabeth Stebbins Sackett, daughter of Lieutenant Elijah Sacket and Dorothy Hitchcock, was born in New York State on 11 December 1791.[1, 2] She died aged 69 in Fowler, St Lawrence County, New York State, on 22 March 1861[1, 3] and was buried at Riverside Cemetery, Gouverneur, St Lawrence County, New York State.[4] She married John Parker, son of Joshua Parker and Mary Adams.[1] John was born in Canterbury, Windham County, Connecticut, in 1784.[4] He died aged about 81 in Fowler, St Lawrence County, New York State, on 26 May 1866 and was buried at Riverside Cemetery, Gouverneur.[4]

A history of Gouverneur records that Elisabeth was the teacher in the first district school there: "Miss Betsy S. Sackett was solicited to fill the vacancy, which we believe she did with credit to herself and the satisfaction of her employers." The vacancy had arisen after the first teacher left after only a week. The school was opened in 1809, catering for about a dozen children in a log school house measuring twelve feet by sixteen. The history also records that: "Later, Miss Sackett was married to John Parker and settled in the town of Fowler, where she died March 22nd, 1861, in the 71st year of her age."[3]

In 1850 Elisabeth was living in Fowler, St Lawrence County, New York State, in the household of her husband John Parker, 67, a farmer, and was recorded in the census as Elizabeth S Parker, aged 60 and born in New York. Their son Oscar, 32, was living with them.[5]

In 1860 she was living in Fowler in the household of her husband John, 77, a farmer, and was recorded as Elisabeth S Parker, aged 68. Their son Oscar, 42, was living with them.[6]

Mother		Dorothy Hitchcock b. 1767, d. 1828

Electa Sackett, daughter of Lieutenant Elijah Sacket and Dorothy Hitchcock, was born in New York State on 26 July 1800.[1, 2] She married Harmon Van Buren, son of Barent Van Buren and Grace Denison.[1] Harmon was born in Mayfield, Fulton County, New York State, on 2 March 1793 and baptized there on 14 July 1793.[3] He died aged 61 in Syracuse, Onondaga County, New York State, on 28 June 1854.[4]

In 1850 Electa was living in Gouverneur, St Lawrence County, New York State, in the household of her husband Harmon, 57, a farmer, and was recorded in the census as Electa Van Buren, aged 50 and born in New York. Living with them were their children, William, 17, Starr, 12, and Louisa, aged nine.[5]

Letters of administration of Harmon Van Buren's personal estate were granted to his widow Electa at the Surrogate's Court in Potsdam, St Lawrence County, New York State, on 9 September 1854.[6]

In 1860 Electa was living in Sterling, Whiteside County, Illinois, and was recorded in the census as Electa Van Buren, a widow aged 60. She was living with her sons, Barent, 32, and Dennison, 23, and daughter Louisa, 19.[7]

In 1870 she was living in Chicago, Cook County, Illinois, in the household of her son Barent and daughter-in-law Mary, and was recorded as Electa S Vanburen, aged 69.[8]

Harmon's obituary

A farmer by the name of Harmon Van Buren died of Cholera in Syracuse, on Wednesday. He had been very irregular in his habits for three or four days, and had eaten improper food. He died in 11 hours after the first attack.

—Rochester Daily American, 1 Jul 1854, p 2

The Cholera.—A case of Cholera which terminated fatally last night, has created some excitement among our citizens, and in order to correct any misapprehensions we have taken particular pains to learn the whole particulars; and we are glad to be able to show that in every particular the cautionary words of our authorities and of the press in general, deserve implicit attention.

Yesterday afternoon, a farmer named Harmon Van Buren, with a friend named Schermerhorn, arrived in this city from the west, and put up at the Hotel of Mr. Baker, corner of Fayette and Salina streets. Setting in the doorway, he was suddenly seized with diarrhoea and remarked that his sight was beclouded and he was faint, yet chilly. Dr. Shipman was sent for, and at once pronounced the case a fatal one, collapse having ensued upon the rice-water evacuation, & c. Dr. Samson was called in, and concurred with Dr. Shipman in tracing the identity of the symptoms with those of the cases occurring in 1832, under their observation and treatment.

Mr. Van Buren died at 9 o'clock last night—aged 62 1-2 years—only eleven hours after his first attack. The deceased had been formerly a farmer, at Gouverneur, St. Lawrence county, and had been to Illinois to purchase a farm; returning through Canada, he was among the passengers who were imperilled by a mishap at Princeton, C.W.; and, passing across the Lake, he took the Central Railroad at Rochester, taking no regular meals, but upon an empty stomach he ate some cold pie at a Saloon. On arriving here he was faint and exhausted, and sat in the draught at the doorway, where the first manifestation of the consequence of his persistent violation of nature was made. The long suspension of the natural course he had pursued as a farmer, under the aggravations of accumulated excitements—all of them sufficient separately to endanger any man's health under ordinary circumstances —are forcible arguments for quiet, orderly, cleanly and regular attention to nature's laws, and an avoidance of excitement. A studious regard to food, selecting supplies according to physical condition, are items of the utmost importance.

The Cholera has been here, in a fearfully retributive form, and it will be well for all to heed its lesson, avoiding the excesses which have in this instance been so signally chastised.

In 1880 he was living in Davenport, Scott County, Iowa, and was recorded as Erwin Sackett, head of household, aged 73, a shoemaker. Living with him was his wife Lucinda, aged 70.[11]

Erwin's obituary

Erwin Sackett, an old and highly respected citizen of this city, passed away at his home, 521 Brady street, last evening, his death being the result of old age.

The deceased was a native of Hartford, N. Y., and had attained the ripe old age of eighty-nine years. Mr. Sackett had been a resident of this city for many years and followed the occupation of a shoemaker. He ran a shop near the corner of Fifth and Brady streets and was always highly esteemed by all who came in contact with him. A wide circle of friends and acquaintances will regret to learn of his demise. About two years ago he turned his shop over to his grandson and has since led a retired life with his son, E.P. Sackett on Brady street.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon with interment in Oakdale cemetery.

Frances Sackett, daughter of Menardus Sacket and Fanny Nimocks, was born in Westfield, Hampden County, Massachusetts, on 27 June 1798.[1] She died aged 60 on 7 September 1858.[1] She married on 7 January 1819, Walter Noble, son of Luther Noble.[1]

Frances was named in the will of her brother Porter made in Natchez about 1837. She would inherit the estate, which comprised promissory notes totalling some $1,000, if both her parents predeceased Porter. In the event, the will was evidently mislaid and her brother Corydon was appointed administrator of the estate by the Adams County Probate Court on 30 April 1839, the court having been informed that Porter had died intestate.[2]

Father	848	Mark Sackett b. c 1791, d. after 1850
Mother		Sarah "Sally" Heald b. c 1803

Mark Sackett, son of Mark Sackett and Sarah "Sally" Heald, was born in Ohio on 19 July 1842.[1] He died aged 74 in Cleveland, Cuyahoga County, Ohio, on 27 April 1917 and was buried at Monroe Street Cemetery, Cleveland.[2, 3] He married first in Jefferson, Ashtabula County, Ohio, on 10 April 1865, Jennie Remington.[4] Jennie was born in Vermont about 1846[1] and died aged 39 in Geneva, Ashtabula County, on 19 November 1885.[5] He married second in Cuyahoga County on 13 June 1888, Mamie Rogers.[6] Mamie was born in Ohio in November 1867.[7]

In 1850 Mark was living in Dorset, Ashtabula County, in the household of his parents Mark and Sarah, and was recorded in the census as Mark Sackett, aged eight and born in Ohio.[8]

Mark served in the Union Army during the American Civil War. He enlisted on 14 April 1861, was discharged on 21 July 1861, credited with 3 months 8 days service, re-enlisted on 26 August 1861 in the 83rd Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, serving for 2 years 4 months until discharged on 26 October 1863. He fought in 14 battles and sustained gunshot wounds to his right leg and arm.[9]

Mark was listed in the 1890 veterans' census. He was then living at 85 Rhodes Avenue, Cleveland.[9]

In 1900 he was living in Cleveland and was recorded as Mark Sackett, a machine agent, head of household, aged 56. He rented his home. Living with him were his second wife, Mamie, 32, his children, James, 18, and Mary, 17, by his first marriage, and Mark and Mamie's children, Shirley, 10, and Clara Emma, aged eight.[10]

In 1910 he was living at Train Avenue, Cleveland, and was recorded as Mark Sackett, head of household, aged 67. Living with him were his second wife Mamie, 42, his unmarried daughter, Mary, 26, by his first marriage, and Mark and Mamie's daughters, Shirley, 20, and Emma, aged 18.[11]

Mamie was listed as Mark's widow in the 1917 Cleveland City Directory, living at 2901 Riverside Avenue, Cleveland. She moved to Auburn Avenue by 1921 and to Horton Road in 1922.[12]

(1844 - 1925)

Line 3	Mark[N], David[M], Isaac[L], John[K], John[J], Simon[I], Thomas[H], Thomas[G]

Father	848	Mark Sackett b. c 1791, d. after 1850
Mother		Sarah "Sally" Heald b. c 1803

Joseph Sheppard Sackett, son of Mark Sackett and Sarah "Sally" Heald, was born in Ohio in October 1844.[1] He died aged 80 in St Matthews, Jefferson County, Kentucky, on 10 March 1925[2] and was buried at Washington Cemetery, Washington Court House, Fayette County, Ohio.[3, 4] He married first Abigail Fuller.[5] Abigail was born in New York State about 1842.[1] She died before 1880 when Joseph was listed as a widower.[1] He married second about 1882, Ida Hill. Ida was born in 1859.[6] She died aged about 35 in 1894 and was buried at Washington Cemetery.[7] He married third in Indianapolis, Marion County, Indiana, on 5 November 1900, Harriet Abbett, daughter of Rev Oliver Hazard Perry Abbett and Emeline Staten.[8] Harriet was born in Bartholomew County, Indiana, on 8 January 1858.[1, 6, 7, 9] She died aged 86 in Los Angeles, California, on 1 November 1944 and was buried at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale, Los Angeles County.[7, 10]

In 1850 Joseph was living in Dorset, Ashtabula County, in the household of his parents Mark and Sarah, and was recorded in the census as Joseph Sackett, aged four and born in Ohio.[11]

In 1860 he was living in Kingsville, Ashtabula County, Ohio, in the household of Whitney Parker, a drover, and was recorded as Joseph Sackett, aged 15.[12]

Joseph served the Union during the American Civil War, enlisting first in Company D, 67th Ohio Infantry, on 24 December 1861 and being discharged on 8 May 1862. He re-enlisted in Company A, 46th Pennsylvania Infantry, at Waterford, Erie County, Pennsylvania, on 14 July 1863.[4, 13, 14, 15]

In 1870 he was living in Venango, Erie County, Pennsylvania, and was recorded as J S Sackett, a farmer, aged 26. Living with him were his wife Abigail, 28, and their daughter Rosa, aged three. Three older children, Frances, 12, Josephine, 10, and Edwin, 7, although named Sackett in the census, were probably Abigail's children from a previous marriage. Further records for these children in the Sackett name have not been found.[16]

In 1880 he was living in a hotel at 79 Margaret Street, Plattsburgh, Clinton County, New York State, and was recorded as J S Sacket, a sewing machine agent, a widower, aged 34. Also resident in the hotel were his daughter Rosa, 14, and a Miss Hill, 19, who would presumably be Ida Hill, his second wife.[17]

In 1900 he was living at 818 Madison Avenue, Covington, Kenton County, Kentucky, and was recorded as Joseph S Sackett, a life insurance agent, aged 55, a widower. His son Leroy, 16, was living with him.[18]

In 1910 he was living at Second Street, Williamsburg, Clermont County, Ohio, and was recorded as Joseph S Sackett, a laborer, aged 65. Living with him were his wife Harriett, 41, and his widowed daughter Rose from his first marriage.[19]

In 1920 he was living at Church Street, Anderson, Hamilton County, Ohio, and was recorded as Joseph Sackett, aged 75, superintendent of a fish hatchery. His wife Harriett, 59, was living with him.[20]

Joseph's obituary

Union Veteran, 80, Falls Dead in Yard

J. S. Sackett Formerly Operated Ohio Fish Hatcheries.

Joseph S. Sackett, 80 years old, veteran of the Union Army in the War Between the States, died unexpectedly at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the yard of his home at St. Matthews. Coroner Roy L. Carter pronounced death due to heart disease.

Mr. Sackett had moved to St. Matthews two months ago from Newton, Ohio, where he had been in charge of the State fish hatcheries. He was a member of the Knights Templar and the Odd Fellows.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Harriet A. Sackett; a daughter, Mrs. Rose D. Estes, of Cincinnati, and a son, Leroy H. Sackett. The body will be sent to Washington Court House, Ohio, for burial.

(1798 - 1881)

Line 3	John[N], Adnah[M], Isaac[L], John[K], John[J], Simon[I], Thomas[H], Thomas[G]

Father	851	John Sackett b. 1771, d. 1851
Mother		Lucinda Moseley b. 1773, d. 1855

Isaac Sackett, son of John Sackett and Lucinda Moseley, was born in Westfield, Hampden County, Massachusetts, on 20 November 1798[1] and baptized at the Church of Christ, Westfield, on 3 November 1799.[2] He died aged 82 in Winnebago County, Illinois, on 3 April 1881[1] and was buried at Laona Cemetery, Durand, Winnebago County, Illinois.[3] He married first in Newport, Newport County, Rhode Island, on 29 December 1822, Mary Johnson, daughter of John Johnson and Mary Lyon.[1] Mary was born in Rhode Island in 1805.[4, 5] She died aged about 64 in 1869 and was buried at Laona Cemetery, Durand.[3] He married second at Beloit, Rock County, Wisconsin, in 1872, Theresa A "Etta" Gage, daughter of Amos Nathaniel Gage and Sarah Bethania Randall.[1] Theresa was born in Laona, Illinois, on 30 June 1844.[6] She died aged 83 in Hennepin County, Minnesota, on 3 April 1928.[7]

Isaac was listed as a cabinetmaker in Providence, Rhode Island, from 1824 to 1836.[8]

In 1850 Isaac was living in Laona, Winnebago County, Illinois, and was recorded in the census as Isaac Sackett, a farmer, aged 53 and born in Massachusetts. Living with him were his wife Mary, 44, and their children, Caroline, 19, Richard, 12, and Almeny, aged nine.[9]

In 1860 he was living in Laona, Illinois, and was recorded as Isaac Sackett, a farmer, aged 62. His wife Mary, 55, was living with him. Also in the household were their daughter Mary, 35, with her husband Samuel Chapman, 33, and their children, Mary, 7, Mariah, 6, Hattie, 4, and Ada, aged one.[10]

In 1870 he was living in Durand, Winnebago County, and was recorded as Isaac Sacket, a farmer, aged 71. His daughter Caroline Smith was living next door.[11]

In 1880 he was living in Durand, Winnebago County, Illinois, and was recorded as Isaac Sackett, a retired farmer, head of household, married, aged 82. Living with him were his wife Theresa, 38, and their children, Adnah, 7, and Pomeroy, aged three.[12]

In 1900 Isaac's widow Theresa was living in Osage, Becker County, Minnesota. She was listed as Theresa A Sackett, a farmer, head of household, aged 55, a widow. She owned her home and farm freehold. Her unmarried son Pomeroy, 23, was living with her.[13]

Etta was listed in the St Paul, Minnesota, City Directory from 1914. Her son Pomeroy was living with her.[14]

Extract from The Sacketts of America

> [Isaac Sackett] was ... when a young man engaged for a considerable period in traveling from farm house to farm house, and from village to village, through New England and the western portion of New York State, purchasing from farmers and others, sheepskins, to be used in the manufacture of drum heads. Tiring of this business, he settled for a time at Buffalo, N. Y., and there learned the cabinet making trade, becoming an expert workman in that line. From Buffalo he went to Providence and there became foreman of a furniture factory, conducted by Rhodes G. Allen. A few years later he became associated with Judge Branch in the manufacture of furniture, in same city, under the firm name of Sackett & Branch, holding meantime the office of Justice of the Peace, and giving some attention to surveying. After a time the firm moved their business to Brooklyn, N. Y., locating on Fulton Street, where they opened salesrooms and became dealers as well as manufacturers. Meeting with gratifying success, they soon determined to remove to New York City, where they established warerooms at 322 Broadway and gave their principal attention to buying and selling, rather than to manufacturing. Here their business rapidly increased and their future prospects were most encouraging, when they were overtaken and carried under by the great tidal wave of disaster, known as the financial panic of 1837. Mr. Sackett then removed from New York City to Winnebago County, Ill. There fortune again attended him and he speedily became and remained to the day of his death, a prominent, wealthy and greatly esteemed citizen. It is a most unusual fact that had his oldest son Isaac lived, he would have been 53 years of age when the youngest son, Pomeroy, was born.

Before becoming a "prominent, wealthy and greatly esteemed citizen", Isaac had enjoyed an adventurous youth, as testified by this newspaper advertisement placed in 1818—

> "One cent reward!
> Ran away from the subscriber on the 4th inst., an indebted apprentice boy by the name of Isaac Sacket, supposed to have been enticed from his master’s service; is about 20 years of age, light complexion, has a knavish look, a quarrelsome disposition, knows more than anybody else, is a great liar and tattler."

Lucinda Sackett, daughter of John Sackett and Lucinda Moseley, was born in Westfield, Hampden County, Massachusetts, on 25 November 1811[1] and baptized at the Church of Christ, Westfield, on 19 April 1812.[2] She died aged 81 on 14 November 1893.[1, 3] She married at the First Church, Springfield, Massachusetts, on 28 February 1833, Thomas Hale Parker, son of Amos Parker and Anne Stebbins Hale.[1, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9] Thomas was born in Vermont in 1808[10] and died aged about 43 in 1851.

In 1850 Lucinda was living in Wilkes-Barre, Luzerne County, Pennsylvania, in the household of her husband Thomas, 42, a bricklayer, and was recorded in the census as Lucinda Parker, aged 38 and born in Massachusetts. Living with them were their twin daughters, Ann and Mary, 14.[11]

Lucinda's obituary

A Former Wilkes-Barre Lady Dead.

(Communicated.]

Mrs. Lucinda Sackett Parker, aged 82 years, the daughter of John Sackett of Westfield, Mass, and widow of Thomas Hale Parker, died in Springfield, Mass., Nov. 19. 1893. She was born in 1811 in Westfield, her father being proprietor of a hotel on the spot where the old Woronoco house stood. Her grandfather was a large landowner in Westfield. He made the present common there and was an important man in the town. When quite young she went to Albany with a sister and brother, Israel Sackett and after a few years' residence returned to Westfleld. In Albany her brother opened the first coffee house and hotel ever kept in the city. The family moved to Springfield in 1830 and in 1833 Miss Sackett married Thomas H. Parker, a mason, architect and builder, and they moved to Brooklyn about 1835. From here the family moved to Binghamton, N. Y., and later to Wilkes-Barre, where Mr. Parker died in 1851, After his death Mrs. Parker went to Springfield and lived there for 42 years. Mrs. Parker was a member of Olivet Church. She had six children, three died in infancy: Anna E. Bernie, aged 42, died in 1878, and Mary E. Howard, aged 45, died in 1881. One son survives, Thomas H. Parker, who was born in Wilkes-Barre.

Obituary.
Harvey Sacket.
Died—In Blooming Valley, Pa., Harvey Sacket, on Sunday morning, February 10, 1889, aged 82 years.

He was born in Norwich, Hampshire County, Mass., March 14, 1807. While a young boy his parents moved to this state and county, where they have died, and he has lived and died.

He was married in Saegertown to Miss Mary Straw June 17, 1830.

In 1838 he was hopefully converted and united with the Methodist church. For over fifty years he remained a consistent, active, devoted and useful member of this church, zealous and faithful in all its christian work and activities. During many of these years he was class leader, and nearly all his christian life he occupied some post of responsibility in the church, the duties of which he discharged acceptably. As long as he was able he was found in the house of God on His holy day, attending upon its ordinances with Christian faithfulness.

He spent the greater part of his life in Saegertown, where he served for some twentyy years as a Justice of the Peace. But a few years ago he left his home in that pretty village and came and lived with his brother, Edson S. Sacket, in whose family he died.

Five children were added to his family, three sons and two daughters. His last sickness was attended with distressing pain and suffering, which he endured with Christian fortitude and patience, often expressing his grateful sense of the kindness of those who administered to his wants.

His hope remained firm until the last, when, in the full assurance of faith in his Redeemer, he passed away to enjoy the felicities of the Heavenly Paradise.

Rev. J. A. Parsons officiated at his funeral, preaching from the text, "Thou shalt come to thy grave in a full age, like as a shock of corn in his season." Job V-36.

His remains were interred in the Saegertown Cemetery.

Through all his pain at time he'd smile,
A smile of heavenly birth,
And when the angels called him home,

He smiled farewell to earth.
Heaven retaineth now the treasure,
Earth the lonely casket keeps.
And the sunbeams long to linger,
Where our sainted brother sleeps.

Peaceful be thy silent slumber,
Peaceful in the grave so low;
Thou no more will join our number,
Thou no more our song will know.
Yet again we hope to meet thee,
When the day of life is fled;
And in Heaven with joy to greet thee,
Where no farewell tears are shed.

Father	860	Rolin Sackett b. early 1780s, d. 1863
Mother		Lovina Edson b. 1786, d. 1824

Laura B Sackett, daughter of Rolin Sackett and Lovina Edson, was born in Cattaraugus County, New York State, on 31 March 1816.[1] She died in Blue Earth City, Faribault County, Minnesota, on 5 November 1896.[2] She married about 1832, probably in Cattaraugus County, New York State, Martin Lewis Chase.[3]

In 1850 Laura was living in Meadville, Crawford County, Pennsylvania, in the household of her husband Martin L Chase, 40, a farmer, and was recorded in the census as Laura Chase, aged 36 and born in New York. Living with them were their children, Leonard, 17, Harrison, 11, Levina, 10, Francis, 8, Laura, 6, Ursula, 5, George, 2, and Naomi, aged one.[4]

In 1857 she was living in Town 106, Olmsted County, Minnesota, and was recorded as L B Chase, aged 42. Living with them were their children, Harrison, 18, Lavina, 16, F M, 15, L A, 13, G M, 9, Nimi, 7, Nathaniel, 5, H E, 3, and E S, aged one month.[5]

In 1860 she was living in Marion, Olmsted County, in the household of her husband Martin, 50, a farmer, and was recorded as Laury Chase, aged 45. Eight of their children were living with them. Several of the children's names appear to have been entered wrongly on the census form.[6]

Laura's obituary

Chase - In this city, Thursday night Nov. 5, 1896, Laura B. Chase, aged 80 years, 7 months and 5 days.

Laura B. Sackett was born in Cattaraugus county, New York, in 1816. She was married in 1832 to M. L. Chase of that county. Shortly after marriage they settled in Ohio, where they resided several years after which they removed to Pennsylvania where they remained ten years. They then came to Minnesota, settling in Olmsted county in 1854. Some years later they settled in Faribault county. Since her husband's death she has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Peter Fitch, where she has had the tenderest care possible. She was converted to christianity at the tender age of fourteen years and has been a faithful follower of Christ all through her life. She had a kind and pleasant word for everyone, and her hand was always open to those in need. She was the mother of twelve children, ten of whom survive her. She prayed at home while three sons and four son-in-laws fought the battle of their country during the dark days that overcast our country from 1861 to 1865. She was an indulgent mother and her words of christian teaching now come to us with a peculiar charm, like the safe and gentle murmur of a low fountain stealing its way along amidst the roses, or the whisper of an angel in the bright and joyous dream of sleeping innocence. The funeral occurred at 2 p.m. Saturday at the residence of Peter Fitch, Rev F. D. Newhouse officiating.

Mother		Lovina Edson b. 1786, d. 1824

Erastus E Sacket, son of Rolin Sackett and Lovina Edson, was born in Pennsylvania on 2 August 1817.[1, 2] He died aged 51 in Missouri on 17 April 1869 and was buried at Combs Cemetery, Luray, Clark County, Missouri.[3] He married in Rome, Perry County, Indiana, on 5 March 1848, Isabella Frisby, daughter of Samuel Frisby and Margaret Connor.[4] Isabella was born in Indiana on 12 May 1827.[1, 2] She died aged 82 in Clark County, Missouri, on 18 April 1910 and was buried at Combs Cemetery.[3, 5]

In 1850 Erastus was living in Tobin, Perry County, Indiana, and was recorded in the census as Erastus Sacket, a miller, aged 32 and born in Pennsylvania. Living with him were his wife Isabel, 22, and their son Samuel, aged one.[6]

Erastus was appointed a US Postmaster in Eldorado, Clark County, Missouri, on 10 July 1857 and was serving in that role in September 1865.[7, 8]

In 1860 he was living in Wyaconda, Clark County, and was recorded as Erastus Sackett, a merchant, aged 40. Living with him were his wife Isabell, 31, and their children, Samuel, 11, and Mary, aged seven.[9]

Erastus served in the Union army in the American Civil War. He was a sergeant in the 1st Missouri Volunteer Infantry, a regiment operating for three months in 1861. His widow Isabella filed for a Civil War pension in 1890.[10, 11]

In 1870 Erastus's widow Isabella was living in Wyaconda and was recorded in the census as Isabella Sacket, aged 43. Living with her were her children, Samuel, 21, and Mary, 18.[12]

In 1880 she was living in Luray, Clark County, and was recorded as Isabel Sackett, head of household, aged 50.[13]

In 1900 she was living at South Street, Wyaconda, and was recorded as Isabelle Sackett, head of household, a widow aged 71.[14]

In 1910 she was living in Wyaconda in the household of her daughter Mary and son-in-law Oscar Roland, and was recorded as Isabella Sackett, aged 82 (the census was dated 19 April 1910 although, according to her gravestone, she died on 18 April.)[15]

Isabella, then of Luray made her will on 14 July 1908. She left her estate to her children, Samuel and Mary. The will was proved at the Clark County Probate Court on 16 May 1910.[16]

Isabella's will

Isabella's obituary

Died, Mrs. Isabella Sacket, at her residence in Luray, Missouri, April 18, at 8 o'clock of pneumonia. Age 82 years, 11 months and 18 days.

Mrs. Sacket has lived in Luray for 59 years, and was highly respected and loved by all who knew her under all circumstances and at all times. She was the friend of truth and justice and her death creates a vacancy in our community that will be difficult to fill.

During her illness she bore her sufferings with great patience always having a smile and a kind word for all. While her death was not unexpected it came as a shock not only to her loved ones at home but to hundreds of others in this neighborhood who knew and loved her for her sterling worth.

Mother Sacket, as she was called by friends and neighbors, was a widow of 41 years. She has lived a beautiful life, and was noted for her great deeds of kindness to all who were in trouble or distress. She was brave in the early pioneer days as well as useful, always waiting on the sick and willing to do whatever she could for the community.

By the window among ferns and flowers in her own sitting room rested her last tenement, a black casket, upon this reposed sprays and beautiful pieces of floral offerings by kindred and friends amongst these were white roses. They were no purer than the life of which she, above whom they reposed.

Isabella Frisby was born May 12, 1827 at Rome, Perry County, Indiana. She was united in marriage to Capt. Erastus Sacket, March 5, 1849, at Rome, Indiana. To this union two children were born, Sam F. Sacket of New York City and Mars [sic: Marion?]. Mary F. Roland, Luray, Missouri. In 1858 Capt. Sacket and wife moved to Missouri and purchase a home in Luray, where she has resided ever since. Her husband died April 17, 1869. Mother Sacket has gone but is not forgotten. The funeral occurred in the Methodist Church at 2 o'clock Wednesday p.m. Conducted by Rev. J. A. Wallace. The pallbearers were from the order of Free Masons. Interment by the side of her husband in the Combs Cemetery. She leaves to mourn her loss two children Samuel Sacket and Mrs. Mary Roland and 8 grandchildren. These near relatives are not alone in their grief for the entire community mourns her death.

Harriet N Sackett, daughter of Rolin Sackett and Lovina Edson, was born in Pennsylvania on 27 January 1819.[1] She died in Meadville, Crawford County, Pennsylvania, on 28 May 1889 and was buried at Greendale Cemetery, Meadville.[2] She married in Meadville about 1839, William Chase, son of Oliver Gilman Chase.[3] William was born in Meadville on 18 November 1806.[1] He died aged 98 in West Mead, Crawford County, on 21 October 1905 and was buried at Greendale Cemetery, Meadville.[2]

In 1850 Harriet was living in Meadville in the household of her husband William, 40, a farmer, and was recorded in the census as Harriett Chase, aged 30. Living with them were their children, Alvida, 10, Freeman [Benjamin], 8, Erastus, 7, James [recorded as age 11 but probably about 3], and Louisa, aged one.[4]

In 1860 she was living in Meadville in the household of her husband William, 53, a farmer, and was recorded as Harriet Chase, aged 40. Living with them were their children, Arwilda, 18, Benjamin, 17, James, 13, Louisa, 11, Abby, 4, and Collins, aged one.[5]

In 1870 she was living in Meadville in the household of her husband William, and was recorded as Harriet Chase, aged 51. Living with them were their children, James, 22, Louisa, 19, Abbie, 14, Collins, 11, and Benjamin, 26, with his son Harley, aged four.[6]

Lydia Wilson Sackett, daughter of Rolin Sackett and Lovina Edson, was born in Meadville, Pennsylvania, on 12 November 1820.[1] She died aged 75 in Champaign, Champaign County, Illinois, on 5 April 1896.[2] She married in Columbiana County, Ohio, on 30 July 1850, John McLaren.[3]

Lydia's obituary

A Long Life Ended

Died, Sunday, April 5, 1896, at the home of her son, John W. McLaren on North Coler avenue, Mrs. Lydia W. McLaren, in the 76th year of her age.

Lydia Wilson Sackett was born in Meadville, Pa., Nov. 12, 1820. She was married to John McLaren in Salem, O., July 30, 1849, and came to this state with him about 1855, and settled near Danville, since which time she has lived in Champaign and Vermilion counties. A great portion of her life was spent at Homer, where she has a large number of friends who will mourn her demise. She was the mother of six children, three of whom—John W. of Urbana, T. J. of Bloomington and Mrs. Angie Shepard of Mt. Pulaski—survive her. Mrs. McLaren has been an invalid for 8 years past, having never recovered from an injury received in a runaway accident. While her death was somewhat sudden, it was not unexpected by her relatives. Her children were all with her during her last days, and she passed peacefully away confident in the Christian's hope. The interment took place this afternoon at Mt. Hope cemetery.

The family desires to extend thanks to the neighbors and friends who so kindly assisted them during their mother's illness and death.

Funeral of Edson Sackett.
Services in memory of Edson Sackett were held at the M. E. church in Blooming Valley at 11 o'clock Tuesday forenoon and the remains were laid to rest in the local cemetery. There was a very large attendance and appropriate services were conducted by Rev. T. W. English, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. Mr. Todd, of Blooming Valley. It was at the request of Mr. Sackett that the hymns were sung by the congregation —"I Am Going Home to Die No More," "In the Rifted Rock I am Resting" and "The Sweet Bye and Bye." There were many beautiful floral offerings and the services were appropriate to the close of an honored life. The following friends assisted as bearers: M. Bradshaw. A. Beatty, Wellington Smith, L. D. Barr and Frank Handley.

Edson Sackett.

Edson Sackett, of Blooming Valley, Pa., was born Aug. 9, 1823; died April 16, 1909. June 4, 1848, he was married to Fidelia Goodrich. To this union three children were born, all of whom survive him, namely, Dr. W. E. Sackett, of Saegertown; Lavina Fleek, of Tryonville; Agnes A. Sackett. of Blooming Valley. He united with the Methodist Episcopal church, of State road, in December, 1847, under the pastorate of Rev. John Graham. He has lived a consistent Christian life during his membership in the church, filling very acceptably the various offices of the church. For many years it was his delight to teach the Sunday school Bible. He was a great lover of God's word, and delighted in telling of God's power to save from sin. He selected First Cor., 2:9-10, as the text for his funeral sermon.

Perfect love with his Heavenly Father had taken away the sting of death, and his last message was a shout of victory at the thought of meeting his Savior face to face, whom he had loved for more than 60 years.

Charles Rolin Sackett, son of Rolin Sackett and Pamelia (___) Chamberlin, was born in New York State about 1830.[1] He died aged about 69 in Crawford County, Pennsylvania, on 13 August 1899 and was buried at Wayland Cemetery, East Mead, Crawford County.[2] He was known as Charles as a young man, then as Rolin (with variations in the records) following the death of his father Rolin in February 1863. His mother referred to him as Charles Rolin in her application later that year for a pension following the death of her son John.

In 1850 Charles was living in Mead Township, Crawford County, in the household of his parents Rolin and Pamelia, and was recorded in the census as Charles Sackett, aged 20 and born in New York.[3]

In 1860 he was living in Meadville, Crawford County, in the household of his parents Rolin and Pamelia, and was recorded as Charles Sacket, aged 30.[4]

He registered as Roland Sackett for the Civil War draft in Crawford County in June 1863. He was a laborer of Mead Township, single, aged 30 and born in Pennsylvania.[5]

In 1880 he was living in Mead in the household of his widowed mother Pamelia, and was recorded as Rolan Sackett, single, aged 50.[6]

Charles Rolin's obituary

> The remains of Roland Sackett, aged about 70 years, who died at the county infirmary Monday night, were taken to Wayland this morning for interment. Mr. Sackett was admitted to the infirmary from Randolph township about two years ago. He was originally from Mead township.

Zavan J Sackett (1834–1879) (Src: Ancestry, Kathleen Holmes)

Zavan J Sackett, son of Rolin Sackett and Pamelia (___) Chamberlin, was born in Cattaraugus County, New York State, about 1834.[1] He died aged about 45 in Forestville, Chautauqua County, New York State, in 1879 and was buried at Pioneer Cemetery, Forestville.[2, 3] He married about 1870, Alice ___.[4] Alice was born in Canada in March 1847.[5] After Zavan's death she married second Patrick M Shelley in about 1885.[5] Alice died aged 71 in Sheridan, Chautauqua County, on 26 June 1917[6, 7] and was buried at Forestville Cemetery.[2]

In 1850 Zavan was living in Mead Township, Crawford County, Pennsylvania, in the household of his parents Rowland and Parmilia, and was recorded in the census as Zavan Sackett, aged 16 and born in New York.[8]

Zavan served the Union as a soldier in the 49th New York Regiment throughout most of the Civil War from 1861 to 1865. A note on his file reads, "served time out in all battles, discharged 13 Dec 65." He enlisted as a Sergeant at Forestville on 9 August 1861, was reduced in rank to Wagoner on 17 September 1864, and was mustered out in Washington, DC, on 27 June 1865. According to his widow's pension application, Zavan had served as a teamster.[3, 9, 10] Following discharge he lived in Forestville, Chautauqua County, New York State.[9]

In 1870 he was living in Forestville and was recorded as Zavan J Sackett, a harness maker, aged 36. His wife Alice, 25, was living with him.[11]

In 1875 he was living in Forestville and was recorded as Zavan Sackett, a harness maker, aged 40. Living with him was Aurilla Sackett, 33, perhaps a second wife or partner but otherwise not identified. Zavan's wife Alice and daughter Tyrella have not been found in the 1875 census, nor is Aurilla Sackett found in other records. A possible explanation could be that the entry was the result of the enumerator mistakenly copying a scribbled note for Alice and Tyrella as Aurilla.[12]

Zavan's widow Alice applied for a Civil War widow's pension on 19 May 1879. A reference to their daughter Alice, known as Alice Shelley, was added in 1886.[13]

In 1880 Zavan's widow Alice was living at 93 E Main, Fredonia, Chautauqua County, New York State, and was recorded in the census as Alace Sackett, a widow, aged 33. Their daughter Tyrella, aged eight was living with her.[14]

Zavan died intestate. Letters of administration of his estate were granted by the Surrogate's Court, Mayville, Chautauqua County, New York State, on 4 June 1881 to his widow Alice Sackett and Samuel P Williams.[15]

In 1890 Alice was listed in the US Census Veterans Schedules as Alice Shelley formerly widow of Zavin J Sackett. She was living in Sheridan, Chautauqua County.[16]

In 1892 Alice, aged 47, was living in Sheridan with her second husband Patrick H Shelley. Her daughter Tyrella Sackett, 20, was living with them.[17]

Alice evidently maintained a relationship with some of Zavan's Sackett family, his brother Edson's twin granddaughters, Angie and Alice, journeying from Saegertown, Pennsylvania, to attend her funeral in Forestville.

Funeral of Mrs. Shelley, Wife of Postmaster

Dunkirk, N. Y., June 30.—There was a large delegation of relatives and friends in attendance at the funeral services of the late Mrs. Alice Sackett Shelley, wife of Postmaster P. M. Shelley of Sheridan, which occurred this morning. A funeral oration was given at the home on Main road by Very Rev. Coleman Bryne, rector of St. Mary's Church in Dunkirk. Following the house service the body was taken to St. Rose's Catholic Church in Forestville where requiem mass was offered by Father Coleman. The bearers were D. Herrick, A. Reed, J. G. Gould, W. H. Ensign, J. G. and J. L. Patterson. Among the relatives from away were Mrs. A. B. Hawkins of Pasadena, Cal.; Alice and Angie Sackett of Sagerstown, Pa.; Mrs. A. H. Morgan of Conneaut, Mr. and Mrs. La Verne Shelley, Mrs. Margaret Kennedy, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith and daughter, Bessie, of Buffalo; Grant Smith and Pearl Smith, Albert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith and Jessie Smith of Fredonia, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Shelley and Jessie Shelley, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Toomey and Alice Toomey, Mrs. Margaret Toomey and Miss Mayme Lascelles of Dunkirk.

The death of Mrs. Alice Sackett Shelley, wife of Postmaster P. M. Shelley of Sheridan, at her home Tuesday cast a gloom over this community, where she was known for many years as a woman of sterling faith and unimpeachable character. Mrs. Shelley died in her 72d year, death coming peacefully. Deceased was a devoted member of St. Mary's Church. She leaves a husband, five children, Mrs. M. P. Toomey of Dunkirk, Mrs. LaVerne Shelley of Buffalo, Fred and Jennie of Sheridan and Ray of Dunkirk, a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Hawkins of Passadena, Cal., and five grandchildren. The funeral was held Friday morning, Father Coleman, C. P., officiating at St. Rose's Church, Forestville, celebrating requiem mass, pronouncing the absolution and paying tribute to the life and devotion of this God-fearing and saintly woman.

Mary Sackett, daughter of Rolin Sackett and Pamelia (___) Chamberlin, was born in Pennsylvania about 1838.[1] She married Robert Barr.[2]

In 1850 Mary was living in Mead Township, Crawford County, Pennsylvania, in the household of her parents Rowland and Parmilia, and was recorded in the census as Mary Sackett, aged twelve and born in Pennsylvania.[3]

Identification of Mary Sackett as the wife of Robert Barr is based on their being named as the parents of Arthur Barr in his marriage record of 1914.

Census records appearing to relate to the family of Robert and Mary Barr include children, Edward, c1856, Arthur, 1860, John, c1866, and William, c1869. Robert apparently died before about 1875, Mary marrying John Radle by about 1876 when a son Andrew Radle was born.

Further research is needed to resolve some inconsistencies in the records.

1436 Edward B R Sackett

(1816 - 1890)

Line 3	Jabez[N], Zavan[M], Isaac[L], John[K], John[J], Simon[I], Thomas[H], Thomas[G]

Father	863	Jabez B Sackett b. 1788, d. 1870
Mother		Anna Dewey b. 1794, d. 1832

Edward B R Sackett, farmer, of Meadville, Crawford County, Pennsylvania, son of Jabez B Sackett and Anna Dewey, was born in Norwich (later Huntington), Hampshire County, Massachusetts, on 6 July 1816.[1, 2, 3] He died aged 73 in Crawford County, Pennsylvania, on 27 February 1890 and was buried at Greendale Cemetery, Meadville, Crawford County.[4, 5] Edward was usually named in documents, including in his father's will, as "E B R", suggesting that this was how he was commonly known. He married in Meadville on 25 April 1839, Sabrina Sheldon Wright, daughter of Gideon Wright and Sabrina Sheldon.[1, 2, 3] Sabrina was born in Norwich, Massachusetts, on 3 November 1809.[4, 3] She died aged 87 on 19 October 1897 and was buried at Greendale Cemetery, Meadville.[4]

Edward removed with his parents from Massachusetts to Crawford County, Pennsylvania, in 1824.[3]

Edward was listed in the 1840 census as a householder in Mead, Crawford County.[6]

In 1850 Edward was living in Meadville and was recorded in the census as E B R Sackett, a farmer, aged 34 and born in Massachusetts. Living with him were his wife Sabrina, 40, and their children, Flavia, 8, and Edward, aged two.[7]

In 1860 he was living in Mead and was recorded as Edward B R Sacket, a farmer, aged 44. Living with him were his wife Sabrina, 50, and their children, Flavia, 18, and Edward, aged twelve. Also in the household was EBR's uncle, Joseph
Sacket, 60.[8]

In 1863, Edward witnessed and supported an application in the Crawford County Court of Common Pleas for a Civil War mother's pension by Pamelia, widow of his uncle Rolin Sackett.

In 1870 he was living in Mead and was recorded as Edward B R Sacket, a farmer, aged 53. His wife Sabrina, 58, was living with him. Joseph Sacket, 70, Edward's uncle, was also in the household. Edward's farm was next door to the family farm, still occupied by his father and stepmother but now taken over by Edward's brother Levi Dewey in accordance with their father's will.[9]

Edward was named as a beneficiary in his father's will made in Mead on 9 May 1862 and proved on 3 January 1871. He was to inherit 25 acres of land, which he had already taken possession of.

Edward was ordained and installed as an elder of the Central Presbyterian Church, Meadville, on 12 November 1871.[5]

In 1880 he was living in Mead and was recorded as Ebenezer [sic] Sackett, a farmer, aged 63 (the census enumerator evidently heard "E B R" as "Ebenezer"). His wife Sabrina, 70, was living with him.[10]

Edward's obituary

Edward B.R. Sackett Goes to His Reward. A Blameless Life.

Edward B. R. Sackett is dead. The hand trembles with an anguished emotion as we pen these words. True, he had lived beyond the time that is said to be allotted to man to dwell on the earth, and his condition during the last few days of his life was such that all those who gathered around his bedside fully realized that he was in the relentless grasp of a disease which was fast consuming his body, and that there was no hope of a renewal of health and strength. He passed peacefully away at his home in Mead township, east of the city, at 12 o'clock Thursday night. Never has it been said of any man, with a greater degree of truth, than of the man whose death we record: "He died at peace with God and his neighbors."

Edward B. R. Sackett was born in the town of Norwich, Hampshire county, Mass., July 6, 1816, and when he was 8 years old, his parents came to Crawford county. The boy was educated in the common schools, and was also a pupil of the Parkman Academy, in the state of Ohio. Among his teachers was Miss Sabrina Wright, who was born in Norwich, Mass., in the year 1809, and came to Crawford county in the year 1826. His love for this teacher ripened into a strong affection, and they were married on April 25, 1839, by the late 'Squire Justin Dewey, of Wayland. Many of our readers were privileged to attend the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Sackett on April 25, 1889, and will ever remember the happy occasion. The greeting of the aged couple, to all those who called on them, was of the most cordial nature, and the tokens of esteem and friendship which were bestowed upon the bride and groom of half a century attested to the fact that their lives had not been lived in vain. Mr. Sackett's address on that never-to-be forgotten occasion was well-worded and vigorous, and no one present could have been led to believe that he would so soon be laid low by the never-vanquished conqueror.

In speaking of the life of our late friend, what can be said to add to what is known concerning him? Sixty-six years of his life were spent in Crawford county, and nearly all of that period in one community. How many of those who read these lines have partaken of the hospitality of the "Home by the Beach Spring." How many have entered the yard at the old homestead, to drink from the crystal waters of the spring, and have heard the ever-kindly voice of the master of the domain, as he said: "Come up on the porch and rest yourself." These words are remembered at this time, now that the voice of the speaker has been stilled in death. "Uncle Edward," as he was familiarly known, was the offspring of Christian parents, and he ever trod the straight and narrow path which leads to a happier and better life. He was a member of the Second Presbyterian church, of this city, and was a ruling elder. He was church clerk for a period of about thirty-four years, and clerk of the sessions for about sixteen years. He was a pious man, and was never known to be antagonistic to the will of the Most High. He fully believed that the providences of God are merciful, and that all things, however dark they may appear, when viewed by mortal eyes, and judged from a human standpoint, are, in the end, for the best. It was God's will that all the children of Mr. and Mrs. Sackett should be taken from them, by death, and the parents left childless, and yet their faith was strong and neither complained because of bereavement. How often has the father been heard to say, "My children are not dead. They have only gone before." Mr. Sackett never engaged in any enterprise or undertaking without first bowing the knee and praying to God to bless all that was good in what was about to be performed. The family Bible and hymn book were opened every day in the year and a chapter read and a hymn sung. He was much interested in Sunday schools. Thus all along the journey of life, Edward Sackett was a truly religious man, and found enjoyment in earthly existence. Politically he was a Whig, in early life, and became a Republican at the formation of the party.

The widow of the deceased, at the extreme old age of 81 years, is left alone, in a certain sense, but is not friendless. He who walked by her side for more than fifty years has been taken away, but she has an unfaltering trust in Him who consoles the widow, and to this source looks for comfort in her great trial. It is only a separation for a time, and soon the husband and wife will be reunited in that land where sorrow and parting are unknown.

In the death of Edward B. R. Sackett we feel that this community has lost an honorable and upright man. He will be missed by the family circle and church, and his familiar form will be seen no more on our streets. He lived a long and useful life, and was, truly, "An honest man, the noblest work of God."

The funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Sabrina's obituary

Death of Mrs. Sabrena Wright Sackett.
Died suddenly at the home of her grandsons in Mead township, on Tuesday night, Oct. 19, Mrs. Sabrena Wright Sackett, widow of the late E. B. R. Sackett, Esq. She waa born at East Hampton, Mass., Nov. 3, I809, and was the youngest daughter of Gideon and Sabrena Wright. Early in life she came to Mead townsnip with her father's family, where she married and for many years enjoyed the happiness of having her brothers and three sisters very near her. Her first great trial was the death of a bright daughter. Next she had to part with her only son at the age of about 13. The last of her children was Mrs. Flavia Wright, first wife of the late Horatio Wright.

At last she was called upon to part witn a husband, who was also a lover for more than fifty years of wedded life, and whose care of her and devotion was a phenomenal human experience.

"Aunt Sabrena" was loved by everyone who knew her, for a gentler, sweeter, more loving and appreciative nature could not well be given to a human being. The light of heaven seemed to continually radiate a singularly beautiful face, and no one could even look upon it without an uplifting of the soul. Early in life she became a member of the Second Presbyterian church of this city, never failing to attend its services so long as she was able. She was a woman of the loftiest Christian faith and of the strongest Christian principles. Until recently she was able to read daily a Bible in fine print, given to her by her mother in 1827, and without the aid of glasses.

Only a few days ago all of her nephews and nieces in this vicinity paid her a visit that was realized by all as the last general one to be made and it was sadly interesting, for with the happiness of seeing her dear sweet face, beaming with the old-time love, was that other thought that very soon must come the summons to pay reverent respect to the dead.

"How strange it seems with so much gone
Of life and home, to still live on."
"For life to me is as a station
Wherein apart a traveler stands.

One absent long lrom home and nation,
In other lands.
And I as one who stands and listens,
Amid the twilight's chill and gloom,
To hear approaching in the distance,
The train for home."

At last the signal came and she departed to join that greater throng, of the loved on earth.
The funeral services will be announced later.

Sackett—At her home in Mead township, Oct. 19th, Mrs. Sabrena Wright Sackett, widow of the late E.B.R. Sackett, Esq., in the 88th year of her age. Deceased was one of the oldest residents of Mead township, and was beloved and esteemed by all who knew her. She was a member of the Second Presbyterian church of Meadville and an exemplary Christian woman. The funeral services will be held at the home Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mother		Anna Dewey b. 1794, d. 1832

Charles Dewey Sackett, son of Jabez B Sackett and Anna Dewey, was born in Norwich (later Huntington), Hampshire County, Massachusetts, on 21 January 1820.[1, 2, 3] He died aged 41 in Jamestown, Chautauqua County, New York State, on 27 May 1862[1, 2] and was buried at Lake View Cemetery, Jamestown.[4] He married on 4 November 1856, Mary Anna Dickson, daughter of William Dickson and Eliza Campbell Dickson.[1, 2] Mary was born in Chautauqua County in April 1833.[4, 5] She died aged 69 in Westfield, Chautauqua County, on 1 October 1902 and was buried at Lake View Cemetery, Jamestown.[4]

Charles Sackett's potentially distinguished career as a newspaper editor was cut short when he contracted typhoid fever and died aged just 41. A lengthy newspaper article about his daughter Clara, herself a distinguished artist, refers to her father Charles, a "brilliant journalist".

In 1850 Charles was living in Youngsville, Warren County, Pennsylvania, in the household of George Delemater, an attorney, and was recorded in the census as Charles D Sacket, a printer, aged 29 and born in Massachusetts.[6]

In 1860 he was living in Jamestown, Chautauqua County, New York State, and was recorded as Charles D Sackett, a publisher, aged 40. Living with him were his wife M Anna, 27, and their daughter Clara, aged one.[7]

Appraisers of Charles's estate were appointed by the Surrogate's Court, Mayville, Chautauqua County, on 20 June 1862 on the application of his widow Mary Ann as administratrix.[8]

In 1870 Charles's widow Mary was living in Westfield, Chautauqua County, in the household of her aunt Clarissa Adams, 75, and was recorded in the census as Mary Sackett, aged 34. Her children, Clara, 11, and Charles, 8, were living with her.[9, 10]

Charles was named as a beneficiary in his father's will made in Mead, Crawford County, Pennsylvania, on 9 May 1862 and proved on 3 January 1871. He was to receive $500 raised from the sale of land. In the event, Charles predeceased his father, dying only weeks after the date of his father's will.

In 1880 Mary was living in Westfield, Chautauqua County, and was recorded as Mary Sackett, aged 46. Her aunt Clarissa Adams, 86, was living with her.[11]

In 1900 she was living in Westfield and was recorded as Mary A Sackett, aged 67.[12]

Mary left a will which was proved in the Surrogate's Court, Mayville, Chautauqua County, on 13 October 1902 by her son Charles E Sackett.[8]

Charles's obituary

> Charles D. Sackett, Esq., Editor of the Jamestown (N.Y.) Journal, died at his home a few days since of typhoid fever, contracted at Fortress Monroe. It seems but a few days since that this worthy gentleman called at our office on his way to the Headquarters of the Army of the Potomac, that, from personal observation, he might be enabled to communicate intelligence of military operations to the readers of the Journal. Experiencing indications of indisposition, he hastened to his home to die of disease contracted in camp. Mr. Sackett was esteemed for his excellence of character and conscious regard for truth. Shortly before the evacuation of Yorktown he penned the following paragraph, the correctness of which recent events clearly indicate, if any thing were requisite to induce such a conclusion: "Gen. McClellan. I have taken some pains while here to learn the views of military men upon the management of Gen. McClellan. They say almost without any exception, as far as I can learn, that his plan has been grand, profound and successful. The strategy that cleared Manassas without blood, they aver with enthusiasm, is the most illustrious feat of generalship in the war, and will have the air of romance in history. I am well satisfied that he will come out with fame."

Death of an Editor.—Charles D. Sacket, senior editor of the Jamestown (New York) Journal, died at his residence in that place a few days ago, aged 42 years. He was a gentlemen of fine abilities, and died as he had lived in the faith of the gospel of Christ.

Levi Dewey Sackett, farmer, son of Jabez B Sackett and Anna Dewey, was born in Pennsylvania on 3 December 1828.[1, 2, 3] He died in Crawford County, Pennsylvania, in September 1898 and was buried at Greendale Cemetery, Meadville, Crawford County.[4] He married first on 13 April 1859, Sarah E Palmer, daughter of Sylvanus Palmer and Mary Elmendorf.[1, 2] Sarah was born in Montgomery County, New York State, on 13 February 1830.[5] She died aged 34 in Crawford County on 29 October 1864[1, 2] and was buried at Greendale Cemetery, Meadville.[5, 6] He married second about 1865, Sarah's sister Ariet M Palmer, daughter of Sylvanus Palmer and Mary Elmendorf.[1, 2] Ariet was born in Sharon, Schoharie County, New York State, on 16 October 1831.[7, 5] She died aged 40 in Crawford County on 3 December 1871 and was buried at Greendale Cemetery, Meadville.[7, 5] He married third Mary (Williamson) Hunter, daughter of Thomas Williamson and Elisabeth Fimit?. Mary was born in Clarksville, Mercer County, Pennsylvania, in September 1828.[8, 9] She died aged 77 at Neshannock Falls, Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, on 11 June 1906[8] and was buried at Fair Oaks Cemetery, New Wilmington, Lawrence County, Pennsylvania.[5, 10]

In 1850 Dewey was living in Mead, Crawford County, Pennsylvania, in the household of his father Jabez and stepmother Emily, and was recorded in the census as Dewey Sackett, aged 21 and born in Pennsylvania.[11]

In 1860 he was living in Meadville, Crawford County, in the household of his father Jabez and stepmother Emily, and was recorded as Leway [sic] Sacket, a farmer, aged 31. His wife Sarah, 30, and their daughter Mary, aged one month, were living with him.[12]

In 1870 he was living in Mead and was recorded as Levi Sacket, a farmer, aged 42. Living with him were his second wife, Ariet, 38, his children by his first marriage, Mary, 10, and Howard, 6, and Levi and Ariet's children, Schuyler, 2, and Herman, aged eight months. Levi's father Jabez, stepmother Emily, and uncle Royal Sacket were also living on the home farm. Brother Edward occupied an adjacent farm.[13]

Levi was named as a beneficiary in his father's will made in Mead on 9 May 1862 and proved on 3 January 1871. He was to inherit the residue of lands after bequests of land to his brothers, on condition that he remain on the home farm, living with and providing for his father, stepmother Emily, and uncle Royal.

In 1880 he was living in Mead and was recorded as Dewey Sackett, a farmer, head of household, aged 52. Living with him were his wife Mary, 51, and his children by his first marriage, Mary, 20, Howard, 16, Schuyler, 12, Herman, 10, and Grace, aged eight. Also in the household were Dewey's widowed stepmother Emily, 83, and Mary's daughter Sadie Hunter by her first marriage.[14]

Levi's obituary

Mary's obituary

Mrs. Mary M. Sackett.
The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary M. Sackett, whose death occurred Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John C. Blevins, of Neshannock Falls, was held Thursday and was very largely attended. Mrs. Sackett had made her home at Neshannock Falls for the past six years and was highly honored by the people of that community.

She was 78 years of age and was born at Clarksville, Mercer county her maiden name being Mary Williamson. She was married in 1851 to David Hunter, whose death occurred a few years after. Four children were born, all of whom died but her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Blevins of Neshannock Falls, at whose home her last years were spent.

After the death of her first husband she was married to L. D. Sackett of near Meadville, who died in 1898. Two years later she went to Neshannock Falls to spend her last years.

She was a member of the First United Presbyterian church of New Wilmngton at the time of her death and was a woman very sincere and earnest in her belief. Mrs. Sackett is also survived by live [sic] children and by a brother and sister. The latter are Mrs. John Minich of New Wilmington, and George R. Williamson of Boulder, Colo.

Father	863	Jabez B Sackett b. 1788, d. 1870
Mother		Anna Dewey b. 1794, d. 1832

Ann A Sackett, daughter of Jabez B Sackett and Anna Dewey, was born in Pennsylvania on 1 January 1832.[1, 2] She died aged 60 in Barry County, Michigan, on 20 January 1892 and was buried at Prairieville Cemetery, Prairieville, Barry County.[3, 4]

Ann's mother Anna died just two weeks after Ann's birth in January 1832. It would appear that the daughter was adopted by Jabez's brother James and his wife Almena who, as far as is known, were otherwise childless.

In 1850 Ann was living in Mead, Crawford County, Pennsylvania, in the household of her [adoptive] parents James and Almena, and was recorded in the census as Ann Sackett, aged 18 and born in Pennsylvania.[5]

In 1860 she was living in Meadville in the household of her parents James and Almena, and was recorded as Anna Sacket, aged 28.[6]

In 1870 she was living in Prairieville, Barry County, Michigan, in the household of her mother Almena, and was recorded as Anna Sacket, aged 38.[7]

Ann was named as a beneficiary in her father's will made in Mead, Crawford County, Pennsylvania, on 9 May 1862 and proved on 3 January 1871. She was to receive a sum of $10.

In 1880 she was living in Prairieville in the household of her mother Almena, and was recorded as Ann A Sacket, single, aged 46. [Census records before 1880 do not give relationships; in 1880 Almena and Ann are recorded as mother and daughter.].[8]

Morrison Sackett
(1811–1872)
(Src: History of Calhoun County, Michigan)

Morrison Sackett, son of Justus Sacket and Fanny Faxon, was born in Martinsburg, Lewis County, New York State, on 24 October 1811.[1, 2, 3] He died aged 60 in Marengo, Calhoun County, Michigan, on 21 October 1872[2] and was buried at Oakridge Cemetery, Marshall, Calhoun County.[4] He married on 17 January 1842, Mary Adeline Brooks, daughter of Abram Brooks and Esther Grant.[2, 3, 5] Mary was born in New York State on 20 December 1808.[2, 6, 7] She died aged 79 on 2 September 1888 and was buried at Oakridge Cemetery, Marshall.[4, 7]

Morrison purchased 40 acres of land in Lenawee County, Michigan, on 15 June 1837.[8]

Morrison was listed in the 1840 census as a householder in Raisin, Lenawee County.[9]

In 1850 Morrison was living in Raisin and was recorded in the census as Morrison Sackett, a farmer, aged 35 [actually 38] and born in New York. Living with him were his wife Mary, 37 [42], their daughter Frances, aged five, and Morrison's mother Fanny, 70.[10]

In 1860 he was living in Marengo, Calhoun County, and was recorded as Morrison Sackett, a farmer, aged 48. Living with him were his wife Mary A, 52, their daughter Frances, 15, and Morrison's mother Frances, 80.[11]

Morrison Sackett was one of the original incorporators of the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of Calhoun County on 26 June 1862.[12]

In 1870 he was living in Marengo and was recorded as Morrison Sackett, a farmer, aged 54 [58]. Living with him were his wife Adeline, 60, and their daughter Frances, 24.[13]

Morrison made his will at Marengo on 11 June 1872. He left his 80-acre farm and his personal estate equally to his wife and daughter. The will was proved by his widow Mary as executrix on 29 November 1872.

In 1880 Morrison's widow Mary was living in Marengo and was recorded in the census as Mary A. Sackett, a widow aged 72.[14]

Morrison's estate was still the registered owner of the 80-acre farm in section 18, Marengo, in 1897.

History of Calhoun County, Michigan

Morrison Sackett was born October 24, 1811, in Martinsburg, Lewis County, New York. His parents, Justice and Fanny (Faxon) Sackett, at an early date removed to Raisin, Lenawee County, Michigan. At the district schools, on the farm, and in the tannery, Sackett's early years were passed. Up to January, 1842, life was uneventful; but at that date marriage was consummated to Miss Mary A. Brooks, daughter of Abram and Esther G. Brooks, formerly of Steuben, Oneida County, New York, and new responsibilities called to activity; resulting, ten years later, in the purchase, in the town of Marengo, of an improved farm of eighty acres—the present home of his family. Governed through life by strong religious principles, he connected himself, at an early period, with the Baptist church, and exemplified the doctrine of "peace and good will towards all men." A Democrat in politics, he was a staunch advocate of the party, although no aspirant to public position. Unassuming in demeanor and firm in convictions of duty, his judgment, when pronounced, was unalterable. Through life his strong nervous temperament and ceaseless activity combined to cause the acquisition of wealth he was not destined to enjoy. He was stricken in his prime during the year 1872, and departed lamented by loving kindred and regretted by an extensive circle of friends. His widow resides with her only daughter, Frances A., wife of D. S. Van Blecum, to whom she was married March 18, 1873. The son-in-law occupies and works the old farm.

Samuel Bancroft Sackett, son of Stephen Sacket Jr and Hannah Bancroft, was born in Westfield, Hampden County, Massachusetts, on 5 December 1799.[1] He was baptized at the Church of Christ, Westfield, on 1 September 1805.[2] He died aged about 39 in Fowler, Trumbull County, Ohio, in 1839 and was buried at North Cemetery, Fowler.[3] He married first in Becket, Berkshire County, Massachusetts, in 1818, Philena Electa Merryfield, daughter of Thomas Merryfield and Eunice Watkins.[4] She died in Fowler in September 1823 and was buried at North Cemetery, Fowler.[3] He married second in 1824, Vesta ___.[3] Vesta was born in Massachusetts about 1805.[5] She died in Ohio on 12 January 1851 and was buried at North Cemetery, Fowler.[3]

Samuel was assessed for tax on two cattle valued at $16 in Fowler in 1831.[6]

Samuel's widow Vesta was listed in the 1840 census as a householder in Fowler.[7]

In 1850 she was living in Fowler and was recorded as Vesta Sackett, aged 45 and born in Massachusetts. Her children, Almon, 20, and Jane, 12, were living with her.[8]

Elizabeth H Sackett, daughter of Stephen Sacket Jr and Hannah Bancroft, was born in Westfield, Hampden County, Massachusetts, about 1813.[1, 2] She died there aged 58 on 10 October 1871[3] and was buried at Main Road Cemetery, Granville, Hampden County, Massachusetts.[4, 5] She married in Westfield on 1 May 1833, William Green Gibbons.[6, 7] William was born in Granville, Hampden County, on 16 April 1805.[4] He died aged 61 on 28 September 1866 and was buried at Main Road Cemetery, Granville.[4]

This Elizabeth Sackett is identified with parents Stephen Sacket and Hannah Bancroft on the assumption that she would have been the grandchild Elizabeth Sacket named in the will of Stephen's father Stephen Sacket Sr. Elizabeth's death record does not state her father's first name and gives her mother's name as Elizabeth, not Hannah. The record also gives age at death as 64 (she was 58 according to her gravestone). The omission of the father's name and the wrong age suggest that the mother's name may have been a guess by the informant. Another candidate for Elizabeth, daughter of Stephen, has not been found.

Elizabeth was named as a beneficiary in the will of her grandfather Stephen Sacket, made at Westfield on 5 October 1829 and proved on 2

March 1830. She was to receive a sum of $100 and a feather bed.[8]

In 1850 Elizabeth was living in Southwick, Hampden County, in the household of her husband William Gibbons, 46, a farmer, and was recorded in the census as Elizabeth Gibbons, aged 36 and born in Massachusetts. Living with them were their children, Elizabeth, 14, and Lydia, aged ten.[9]

Martha's obituary

Southwick
Mrs Martha Sackett

Resident of Southwick for Many Years Dies at Home of Daughter

Southwick, Aug. 7—Mrs. Martha Sackett, 85, died last night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. J. Hudson. She was born at East Barnard, Vt., in 1837 and was married to Frank Tupper in 1857. She lived for many years at Kossuth, Ia. After the death of her husband she came back East and later married Loomis J. Sackett, a prominent Southwick citizen, who died in 1899. Mrs. Sackett was an active member of the Congregational church of Southwick and was widely known in this vicinity. She had lived with her daughter, Mrs. Hudson, since the death of her second husband.

Besides her daughter, she leaves two grandchildren, Clarence A. Hudson of Southwick and Harold L. Hudson of West Springfield. The funeral will be held at the home at 2 Thursday afternoon. Burial will be in Fine Hill cemetery, Westfield.

Father	879	Ezra Sackett b. 1782, d. 1856
Mother		Sarah "Sally" Hurd b. 1783, d. 1839

Lorenzo Sackett, recorded at birth as Lorin, son of Ezra Sackett and Sarah "Sally" Hurd, was born in Sandisfield, Berkshire County, Massachusetts, on 15 November 1812.[1] He died aged 77 in Milwaukee, Milwaukee County, Wisconsin, on 25 October 1890 and was buried at the Forest Home Cemetery, Milwaukee.[2, 3, 4] He married in Oswego County, New York State, Elizabeth A "Eliza" Stone. Elizabeth was born in Rensselaer County, New York State, on 5 September 1813.[5, 6] She died aged 75 in Milwaukee on 30 November 1888 and was buried at Forest Home Cemetery, Milwaukee.[2]

Lorenzo was listed in the 1840 census as a householder in West Oswego, Oswego County, New York State.[7]

In 1850 Lorenzo was living in Oswego and was recorded in the census as Lorenzo Sackett, a merchant, aged 35 [actually 37] and born in Massachusetts. Living with him were his wife Eliza, 30 [36], and their children, Charlotte, 11, Clifford, 7, Sarah, 4, and Charles, aged two.[8]

In 1855 he was living in Oswego and was recorded as Lorenzo Sackett, a grocer, aged 34 [42]. Living with him were his wife Eliza, 32 [41], and their children, Charlotte, 15, Clifford, 13, Adalaide, 10, Ebert, 7, Lorenzo, 5, and Sam, aged two. Lorenzo's brother Coridon, 26, was also in the household.[9]

In 1860 he was living at the Central Hotel, Milwaukee, and was recorded as Lorenzo Sacket, a hotel keeper, aged 49 [47]. Living with him were his wife Eliza, 49 [46], and their children, Charlotte, 22, Adalaide, 16, Charles, 14, Henry, 11, and Samuel, aged six. A John Sacket, aged 20, also in the household, has not been identified.[10]

In 1870 Lorenzo was living in Pecatonica, Winnebago County, Illinois, and was recorded in the census as Lorenzo Sacket, a landlord, aged 58 [57]. Living with him were his wife Eliza A, 57 [56], and their children, Charles, 17, Lorenzo D, 15, and Samuel, aged twelve.[11]

Lorenzo's obituary

Lorenzo Sackett, a man who haunted the Legislature through several sessions in an offort to secure recognition of an old claim against the State, died to-day aged 78 years. Long ago Sackett owned the Milwaukee and Wauwatosa plank road, which is now a public highway, but in 1869 the Legislature repealed his charter. Considerable time elapsed before he found out that the charter had been repealed, and he claimed that the State should have compensated him. His claim at first was for only $10,000, but he managed to make it the subject of the hottest Legislative fight of one session, and for a long time kept it before one House or the other continually. He was unsuccessful, however, and died a disappointed man.

Lorenzo Sackett Passes Away at His Milwaukee Home.

Milwaukee, Oct. 27.—Lorenzo Sackett, the well known pioneer, died early on the 25th inst. at his residence here. He was 78 years of age, and has lived in Milwaukee since 1856. His name is associated with a hard-fought claim contest which he took before the legislature at several sessions. Years ago he owned the Milwaukee and Wauwatosa plank road, which is now a public highway, forming a continuation of Vliet street. The charter of the road was repealed without Mr. Sackett's knowledge, and, as he contended, without cause, and he made a claim for compensation, at first for $10,000 and afterwards for $22,000, which is the amount said to have been expended in building the road. However, he never succeeded in getting his claim allowed, and it was his intention to take the matter into the courts.

Mother Sarah "Sally" Hurd b. 1783, d. 1839

Smith Chapel Sackett, son of Ezra Sackett and Sarah "Sally" Hurd, was born in Sandisfield, Berkshire County, Massachusetts, on 4 March 1814.[1, 2] He died there aged 77 on 14 January 1892[2, 3, 4] and was buried at the South Sandisfield Cemetery. He married at the Congregational Church, Sandisfield, on 20 March 1838, Jemima Heath, daughter of Silas Heath.[5, 6, 7] Jemima was born in Sandisfield on 26 July 1821.[8, 9] She died aged 81 in West Becket, Berkshire County, on 12 August 1902[8, 10] and was buried at South Sandisfield Cemetery.[11]

Smith was listed in the 1840 census as a householder in Sandisfield, Berkshire County, Massachusetts.[12]

In 1850 Smith was living in Sandisfield and was recorded in the census as Smith Sacket, a farmer, aged 36 and born in Massachusetts, Living with him were his wife Jemima, aged 30, and children, Andrew, 10, Mary, 7, Cynthia, 5, and Ann, aged one.[13]

In 1860 he was living in Sandisfield and was recorded as Smith Sacket, a butcher, aged 44. Living with him were his wife Jemima, aged 39, and their children, Roswell, 21, Mary, 18, Cynthia, 15, John, 5, Charles, 3, Homer, 1, and Addie, aged five.[14]

In 1870 he was living in Sandisfield and was recorded as Smith Sacket, a farmer, aged 56. Living with him were his wife Jemima, 49, and their children, Adeline, 15, Charles, 13, Homer, 11, and Frederic, aged nine.[15]

In 1880 he was living in Sandisfield and was recorded as Smith Sackett, a farmer, aged 65. His wife Jemima, 58, was living with him.[16]

In July 1881 two of Smith's sons, Andrew and Frederick were involved with others in an attack on Mrs Johanna Sullivan, a troublesome neighbour of Smith's. The woman was taken from her house at night and assaulted by being tarred and feathered. Several attempts to identify and prosecute the culprits were made until eventually, two years later, Andrew and Frederick and three other men pleaded guilty and were heavily fined. The attack had been carefully planned, at one point Smith admitting that he also had knowledge of the plan. According to one newspaper report, Smith would be bankrupted by the affair.

Jemima was listed as a member of the Congregational Church, Sandisfield, on 10 January 1885.[17]

Richard's father Roland was appointed administrator of Richard's estate by the Westfield Probate Court on 20 March 1855. The signing of the documentation was witnessed by Richard's brothers Ashman and Augustus. An inventory of Richard's estate was made on 11 June 1855 valuing his personal estate at $25.[7]

Fatal shooting

> Westfield — Dudley Day of Westfield has been committed to jail for the murder of Richard Sackett of the same town who died on Monday morning from the effects of a pistol shot received Saturday. Sackett had been on a fishing excursion in company with four men and returning called at Day’s house where he received the shot which entered his left side and passed through the left ventricle of his heart. Day says he fired the pistol to scare Sackett away, not knowing who was knocking at his door.

Obituary

Died Yesterday

Mrs. Emily Rising, widow of the late Alvin Rising of Southwick, died late yesterday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. O. A. Granger, at 23 Noble avenue. She had been in failing health for many years but had reached the advanced age of 86 years, death being due to a liver trouble, to attacks of which she had long been subject.

The deceased was a native of Southwick, the daughter of Royal Sackett, one of the best known citizens of the town in his time. She was a devoted member of the Baptist church in that town and there she spent her married life. Upon the death of her husband, 22 years ago, she came to Westfield to live and had ever since made her home with Mrs. Granger. For many years the infirmities of age had passed heavily upon her, so that not for a long time had she been able to participate in any of the activities of life, yet to the last she retained her interest in church matters, and in everything that pertained to the best and true things of life.

She is survived by one son, Henry D. Rising of Southwick, and by four daughters, who besides Mrs. Granger, are:—Mrs Ellen E. Rose of Suffield, Ct., Mrs. E. R. Osborne of this town, and Mrs. Alice Kellogg of Feeding Hills; also a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Estelle Rising of King Street. Mrs Rising was the last of her own family and it is a notable fact that she is the fourth of her brothers and sisters who have died in the five months since last February. They were:—Almeron Sackett of Milton, Mrs Enoch Root of Springfield, Mrs Emerett Jenkins of this town and now Mrs. Rising.

Luana's obituary

Sudden Death Of Mrs. Jacob Jenkins.
Mrs. L. A. Jenkins, 83, widow of Jacob Jenkins, died suddenly yesterday afternoon about 4.30 at the home of her adopted daughter, Mrs. C. C. Freeland, 11 Fowler avenue. She had been in rather feeble health for some time, but of late she had been considerably better, and was up and about the house yesterday. She complained of not feeling well soon after 4, and seated herself in a chair. It was noticed that she was having a sinking spell and she passed away a few minutes later, seated in the chair, and before medical assistance could be summoned. Mrs Jenkins was born in Southwick, but had lived in Westfield for many years, where she was well known to the older residents of the town. She was one of the oldest members of the Central Baptist Church. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Royal Almeron Sackett, known as Almeron, son of Royal Sacket and Eunice Hastings, was born in Southwick, Hampden County, Massachusetts, on 24 February 1823.[1, 2] He died aged 80 in Milton, Norfolk County, Massachusetts, on 1 May 1903[2] and was buried at Milton Cemetery.[3, 4] He married in Westfield, Hampden County, on 29 November 1843, Sophia Holcomb, daughter of Hial Holcomb and Sophia Loomis.[5, 6] Sophia was born in Westfield in 1824.[3, 7, 8] She died aged 70 in Milton, Norfolk County, Massachusetts, on 17 May 1894 and was buried at Milton Cemetery.[3, 9]

In 1850 Royal was living in Westfield in the household of Marvin Loomis, a whip maker, and was recorded in the census as Almera [sic] Sacket, a whip maker, aged 28 and born in Massachusetts.[10] His wife Sophia, 26, was living with her parents Hial and Sophia in their boarding house.[11]

In March 1859 Almeron, then of Southwick, was impaneled as a supernumerary (reserve juryman) at the Hampden County Court of Common Pleas.[12]

In 1860 he was living in Westfield and was recorded as Almeron B Sacket, a cigar manufacturer, aged 37 and born in Massachusetts. Living with him were his wife Sophia, 36, and their daughter Franciana, 14.[13]

Royal registered for the Civil War draft in Hampden County in June 1863. He was a peddler of Westfield, married, aged 29 [presume error for 39] and born in Hampden County.[14]

In 1870 he was living in New Bedford, Bristol County, Massachusetts, and was recorded as Almeron Sacket, a trader, aged 46. Living with him were his wife Sophia, 45, and their daughter Fanny, 24.[15]

Almeron was the unsuccessful defendant in a court action at Fall River, Bristol County, on 31 March 1873 concerning the possession of premises under the landlord and tenant laws.[16]

In 1880 he was living in Milton in the household of his daughter Fanny and son-in-law Merrill Brown, and was recorded as Almeron Sackett, a farmer, aged 57. His wife Sophia, 56, was living with him.[17]

In 1900 he was living at Pleasant Street, Milton, and was recorded as Almeron R Sackett, a widower, aged 77. Living with him were his daughter Fannie, 54, her husband John M Brown, 62, and their children, Merrill, 22, and Maud, 12.[18]

Edwin Sackett
(Src: Pamela Tippett)

Edwin Sackett, son of Pliny Sacket and Nancy Bartlett, was born in New York State on 6 April 1823.[1, 2] He died aged 73 in Poweshiek County, Iowa, on 3 September 1896[1] and was buried at Brooklyn Memorial Cemetery, Brooklyn, Poweshiek County.[3] He married in Berrien County, Michigan, on 1 February 1849, Elizabeth Hall, daughter of William Hall and Nancy Shockley.[1, 4] Elizabeth was born in Ohio on 15 June 1829.[3, 5] She died aged 79 in Brooklyn, Poweshiek County, on 14 January 1909 and was buried at Brooklyn Memorial Cemetery.[3, 5]

In 1850 Edwin was living in Berrien County, Michigan, and was recorded in the census as Edwin Sacket, a farmer, aged 26 and born in New York. Living with him were his wife Elizabeth, 19, and their daughter Mary, aged one month.[6]

In 1860 he was living in Malcom, Poweshiek County, Iowa, and was recorded as Edwin Sacket, a farmer, aged 38. Living with him were his wife Elizabeth, 28, their children, Nancy, 8, Kirtland, 6, George, 3, and Mary

Jane, aged ten months, and the children, Delilah, 17, and Christopher, 13, of his deceased brother Israel.[7]

Edwin registered for the Civil War draft in Poweshiek County in June 1863. He was a farmer of Bear Creek, Poweshiek County, aged 40 and born in New York.

In 1870 he was living at Bear Creek and was recorded as Edwin Sackett, a farmer, aged 47. Living with him were his wife Elizabeth, 42, and their children, Nancy, 17, Kirtland, 16, George, 12, Mary, 10, Anna, 6, Emma, 4, Frank, 3, and Rachel, aged one.[8]

In 1880 he was living at Bear Creek and was recorded as Edward [sic] Sackett, a farmer, aged 56. Living with him were his wife Elizabeth, aged 50 and born in Ohio, and their children Annette, 16, Emma, 14, Frank, 13, Rachel, 11, Dora, 9, and Cora, aged seven. There was also a farm laborer in the household.[9]

In 1895 he was living in Bear Creek and was recorded as Ed Sackett, aged 72.[10]

Edwin died intestate. Letters of administration of his personal estate, valued at about $2,500, were granted to O D Hall, presumably a relative of his widow Elizabeth, by the District Court of Poweshiek County on 22 September 1896.[11]

Elizabeth, aged 74, married second in Poweshiek County on 10 September 1902 J B Overman, aged 80.[12]

Edwin's obituary

> Died, at his home, south of Brooklyn, Thursday morning, Sept. 3, 1896, of apoplexy, Edwin Sackett, age 73 years, 4 months and 28 days. Deceased was born near Buffalo, N. Y., April, 6, 1823, and left the state of his nativity ten years later, locating in Berien County, Mich.,

where in the year 1850, he was united in marriage to Miss Elizabeth Hall. By this union twelve children were born, ten of whom, with the faithful wife, survive to mourn the loss of a loving father and husband. In 1855 he moved to Poweshick County, Iowa, where he resided until his death. He was one of the pioneer settlers of this county and was known far and wide for his cordial hospitality. He was a man whose honesty and integrity were never questioned; a good neighbor a firm friend, and perfectly upright in his dealings with his fellowmen. For his many traits of character he was esteemed by a large circle of friends. He was industrious from youth and provided a good home for his family, to whom he was greatly attached. His last illness was of short duration. He arose in the morning and was engaged in the performance of his ordinary duties when taken sick. He continued to grow rapidly worse. All that human hands could do was of no avail, and within two hours he passed into the valley of the shadow of death. The funeral services were held at his late home Saturday, at 10 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. S. Knight, after which the remains were laid at rest in the I. O. O. F. Cemetery. The funeral was largely attended by friends and neighbors, 123 teams being at the house. There were thirty-three grand children, twenty-nine of whom were present at the funeral. The family have the sympathy of all in this great hour of sorrow.

—Brooklyn Chronicle, Iowa, Sep 1896

Elizabeth's obituary

Mrs. Elizabeth Hall Sackett Overman died at her home in south Brooklyn at 8:10 p.m., January 14, 1909, aged 79 years, 6 months and 30 days. Deceased was born in Ohio, June 15, 1829. While a child with her parents left her native state and located in Berrien County, Michigan, where in the year 1850 she was married to Edwin Sackett who departed this life twelve years ago and to this union there were born 12 children, 8 of whom survive to mourn the loss of a most devoted mother. In the year 1855, they moved to Poweshiek County, Iowa where they resided until her death.

Early in life she gave her heart to God and united with the Methodist Church. By her pure unselfish character, her kindness and charity towards all, her memory will forever bear in the hearts of her children, her friends and neighbors. She was a great sufferer for years with lung trouble but God in is wisdom spared her to her family until they have grown to men and women. She lived for those she loved, always thinking and planning for their comforts and happiness. In the year 1903 on September 10, she united in marriage with J.B. Overman with whom she lived until death separated them. It is hard to give mother up but the Heavenly Father said, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth, they shall rest from their labors and their work do follow them.

The funeral services were held at the M.E. Church at 2:00 Saturday afternoon conducted by Rev. W.S. Kight and Rev. W.L. Clapp after which the remains, followed by a large concourse of friends and neighbors, were tenderly laid to rest in the IOOF Cemetery.

Chauncey Sacket, son of Pliny Sacket and Nancy Bartlett, was born in New York State about 1828.[1, 2] He died aged 62 in Napa, Napa County, California, on 25 December 1890[1, 3] and was buried at Tulocay Cemetery, Napa.[4] He married Sarah Miles.[1]

In 1850 Chauncey was living in Henderson, Knox County, Illinois, in the household of James Brown, a farmer, and was recorded in the census as Chancey Sackett, a farmer, aged 22 and born in New York.[5]

In 1860 he was living in Appanoose, Knox County, and was recorded as Chancy Sacket, a farmer, aged 30. Living with him were his wife Sarah, 38, and their son Wilson, aged two. Other children in the household, Alexandria, 19, William, 17, and Jonathan, 11, although listed as Sackets, are presumed to have been Sarah's children of a previous marriage.[6]

Chauncey registered for the Civil War draft in Knox County in June 1863. He was a farmer of Indian Point, Knox County, married, aged 33 and born in New York.[7]

In 1870 he was living in Indian Point, Knox County, and was recorded as Chauncy M Sackett, a day laborer, aged 42. Living with him were his wife Sarah, 46, and Jonathan Sackett, 20, presumed to have been Sarah's son from her previous marriage.[8]

Chauncey's obituary

> Chauncey Sackett, brother of Mr. Kirtland Sackett, died at the Napa Insane Asylum Thursday night. He had been an inmate of that institution for some time past. Deceased came to this county in '83. He was a single man, aged 62 years.

Mother		Nancy Bartlett d. 1841

Kirtland Sackett, also known as Kirkland or Kirk, son of Pliny Sacket and Nancy Bartlett, was born in Boston, Erie County, New York State, on 10 April 1831.[1, 2] He died aged 77 in Napa County, California, on 23 October 1908 and was buried at Tulocay Cemetery, Napa.[3, 4] He married in California on 5 November 1861, Nancy Henery, daughter of Samuel Henery and Eliza Dawson.[1] Nancy was born in Ireland on 3 April 1836.[2, 5] She died aged 83 on 18 February 1920 and was buried at Tulocay Cemetery.[3]

In 1860 Kirtland was living in Napa, Napa County, California, and was recorded in the census as Kirk Sackett, a farmer, aged 30 and born in New York. There were also six day laborers in the household.[6]

In 1870 he was living in Napa and was recorded as Kirk Sackett, a farmer, aged 39. Living with him were his wife Nancy, 34, and their children, Hattie, 8, George, 4, Ellen, 2, and Samuel, aged three months. There were also two male domestic servants and two male laborers in the household.[7]

In December 1878 Kirtland, named as Kirk Sackett, was reported in the Personal column of the local newspaper to be "very sick with congestion of the brain."[8]

In 1880 Kirtland was living in Napa and was recorded in the census as Kirkland Sackett, a farmer, aged 49 and born in New York. Living with him were his wife Nancy, 44, and their children, Hattie, 17, George, 14, Ella, 12, Samuel, 10, Charlie, 8, and Maggie, aged five.[9]

In December 1884 Kirtland bought an area of land for $7,500 on the "Sausal Rancho" two miles north of Napa City.[10]

In 1900 he was living in Napa and was recorded as Kirtland Sackett, a farmer, aged 69. Living with him were his wife Nancy, 64, and their granddaughter Hazel Koster, aged seven.[11]

> When well advanced in his "teens" [Kirtland Sackett] went to Niles, Mich., and there served an apprenticeship as a wheelwright. He subsequently worked at his trade in Chicago, Ottawa, and Peru in Ill., and at St. Louis and Weston in Missouri. In 1851 he engaged in the wagon making business on his own account at St. Joseph, Mo., making a specialty of fitting out trains for emigrant parties, who were taking the overland route to the Pacific slope. In 1852, with his own teams and wagons, he joined one of these companies, consisting of 33 men, one woman and one child, and journeyed with them through the Indian country, over the Salt Lake route, down the Humbolt, up Carson, and over the mountains to Lake Tahoe, reaching Sacramento in the month of August. There, after trying his hand at mining, he again engaged in wagon making, but soon removed to Napa, Cal., where, after making a return trip to New York State and a prospecting tour through Northern California, he settled down to the life of a farmer, at which occupation he, in 1906, was still engaged.

Mother		Esther Wing b. 1807, d. 1887

Samuel W Sackett, son of Oliver Sackett and Esther Wing, was born in Greene, Chenango County, New York State, on 10 May 1830.[1] He died aged 79 in Dickinson, Broome County, New York State, on 8 November 1909.[2] He married first in Greene on 4 July 1861, Julia Frances (Manning) Leonard, widow of Silas Leonard. Julia was born in Rensselaer County, New York State, about 1831.[1] She died aged 49 in Lisle, Broome County, on 1 October 1880 and was buried at Brisben Baptist Church Cemetery, Brisben, Chenango County.[3] He married second in Greene on 19 May 1884, Huldah Utter, daughter of Freeman Utter and Elizabeth ___.[4] Huldah was born in New York State on 11 July 1846.[1]

In 1850 Samuel was living in Greene in the household of his parents Oliver and Esther, and was recorded in the census as Saml Sackett, a farmer, aged 19 and born in New York. He appears also to have been enumerated in the household of Joseph Warner, a farmer.[5, 6]

In 1860 he was living in Greene in the household of his parents Oliver and Esther, and was recorded as Samuel Sackett, aged 30.[7]

Samuel registered for the Civil War draft in New York State in June 1863. He was a farmer of Greene, married, aged 32 and born in New York State.

In 1870 he was living in Greene and was recorded as Samuel Sackett, a farmer, aged 39. His wife Frances, 39, and her son James Leonard from her previous marriage were living with him.[8]

In 1875 he was living in Greene and was recorded as Samuel Sackett, a farmer, aged 44. Living with him were his wife Julia, 44, and her son James Leonard.[9]

In 1880 he was living in Lisle, Broome County, and was recorded as Samuel Sacket, a farm laborer, aged 47. His wife Julia, 48, was living with him.[10]

In 1892 he was living in Lisle and was recorded as Samuel W Sacket, a farmer, aged 62. Living with him were his wife Huldah, 48, and their daughter Rosa, aged five.[11]

In 1900 he was living in Lisle and was recorded as Samuel Sacket, a day laborer, aged 70. His wife Hulda, 53, was living with him. There was also a male boarder in the household.[12]

In June 1905 he was living in Willet, Cortland County, New York State, and was recorded as Samuell W Sackett, aged 75. He was a boarder in the household of David Utter, presumably a relative of Huldah's.[13]

Samuel, now a widower, was admitted to the Broome County Almshouse on 4 August 1905.[14]

Oliver Benjamin Sackett, son of Oliver Sackett and Esther Wing, was born in Greene, Chenango County, New York State, on 25 May 1843.[1, 2] He died aged 67 in Rapid City, Kalkaska County, Michigan, on 21 January 1911 and was buried at Lakeview Cemetery, Bellaire, Antrim County, Michigan.[3, 4] He married first at Elk Rapids, Antrim County, Michigan, on 30 April 1874, Matilda Rosemond Anderson, daughter of Andrew Anderson and Elizabeth Compton.[5] Matilda was born in Toronto, Ontario, Canada, on 30 March 1854.[6, 3] She died aged 32 in Antrim County, Michigan, on 4 May 1886 and was buried at Maple Grove Cemetery, Elk Rapids, Antrim County, Michigan.[3] He married second at Forest Home, Antrim County, on 24 May 1888, Evva Lycena (Ablett) Williams, daughter of Henry Rosier Ablett and Phebe R Sprague, and widow of Thomas K Williams.[7] Evva was born in Rochester, Monroe County, New York State, on 26 December 1852.[8] She died aged 71 in Wayland, Allegan County, Michigan, on 4 December 1924 and was buried at Elmwood Cemetery, Wayland.[3, 9]

In 1850 Oliver was living in Greene, Chenango County, New York State, in the household of his parents Oliver and Esther, and was recorded in the census as Oliver Sackett, aged six and born in New York.[10]

In 1870 he was living in Union, Broome County, New York State, in the household of his sister Jane and brother-in-law George Vandemark, and was recorded as Oliver Sackett, a farm laborer, aged 26.[11]

In 1880 he was living in Traverse City, Grand Traverse County, Michigan, and was recorded as Oliver B Sackett, head of household, married, a laborer, aged 33 and born in New York. Living with him were his wife Matilda, aged 26 and born in Canada, and their children Elizabeth, 5, Alace, 4, and Andrew, aged one. Also in the household was Matilda's brother Henry Anderson.[12]

In 1900 he was living in Forest Home, Antrim County, Michigan, and was recorded as Oliver B Sackett, a farmer, aged 56. Living with him were his wife Eva, 48, and their daughter Pearl, aged eleven. Eva's father Henry Ablett, 69, was also in the household.[13]

In 1910 he was living in Clearwater, Kalkaska County, Michigan, and was recorded as Oliver B Sackett, aged 65. His wife Eva, 56, was living with him.[14]

Eva's obituary

Obituary.

Lycena Eva Ablett was born in Rochester, New York, December 26, 1852, and departed this life December 4, 1924, at the home of her brother. W. S. Ablett, on West Main street. She being the oldest of a family of nine children, household responsibilities devolving upon her at an early age, her educational advantages were necessarily limited. About 1873 she was united in marriage to Thos. K. Williams of Millersburg, Ohio. To this union were born six children, five daughters and one son, the latter dying in infancy. The daughters are all living to grace noble womanhood. Some years after the death of her husband she came to Bellaire, Michigan, to keep house for her father, where she met and married Oliver Sacket. To this union was born one daughter, Mrs. Pearl Davis of Fitzgerald, Ga. Although experiencing many hardships and passing through many trials, she always committed her interests to God, whom she believed heard and answered prayer, and provided for his children. She was converted in childhood; a member of the Methodist church.

John Harris Sackett, son of Oliver Sackett and Esther Wing, was born in Greene, Chenango County, New York State, on 21 May 1846.[1] He died aged 62 in Forest Home, Antrim County, Michigan, on 12 May 1909 and was buried at Lakeview Cemetery, Bellaire, Antrim County.[2, 3, 4]

In 1850 John was living in Greene, Chenango County, New York State, in the household of his parents Oliver and Esther, and was recorded in the census as John Sackett, aged four and born in New York.[5]

In 1860 he was living in Greene in the household of his parents Oliver and Esther, and was recorded as John Sackett, aged 14.[6]

John served the Union in the American Civil War. He enlisted in the 168th New York Infantry Regiment in Greene on 18 September 1862 and was mustered out at Newburgh, New York, on 31 October 1863. He filed for an invalidity pension on 5 February 1881. The 1890 Veterans Census gives his discharge date as 31 October 1865, crediting him with service of 3 years 1 month 13 days.[7, 8, 9]

In 1870 he was living in Greene in the household of Caleb Stanson, a farmer, and was recorded as John Sackett, a farm laborer, aged 23.[10]

In 1880 he was living in Greene in the household of his widowed mother Esther, and was recorded as John H Sackett, a laborer, single, aged 33.[11]

In 1900 he was living in Forest Home, Antrim County, Michigan, and was recorded as John Sackett, a farmer, aged 59.[12]

John made his will at Bellaire, Antrim County, on 6 May 1909, six days before he died. He left his estate, real and personal, to his twin sister Jane Vandemark. She was granted probate on 21 June 1909.[13]

Zelotus Sackett, son of Joseph Sacket and Lucy Goff, was born, presumably in Pittsfield, Berkshire County, Massachusetts, in 1788.[1, 2] He died aged about 82 in Hopewell, Ontario County, New York State, in May 1870.[3] He married about 1815, Sabrina ___. Sabrina was born about 1795.[4] She died in Naples, Ontario County, New York State, on 15 February 1843[5] and was buried at Fairview Cemetery, Naples.

Zelotus served as a private in a rifle battalion for five months in the War of 1812. He was honorably discharged and received 80 acres of land as payment.[6, 7]

Zelotus was listed in the 1820 census as a householder in Naples, Ontario County, New York State.[8] In 1830 he was a householder in Bristol, Ontario County.[9] He was probabaly also the Simon Z Sackett listed in Naples in 1840.[10]

Zelotus petitioned the Surrogate Court of Ontario County, New York, on 25 April 1844 requesting appointment as administrator of the estate of his father Joseph who had died intestate. He and co-administrator Otis Fuller subsequently sold the real estate, comprising about thirty acres with dwelling house and barn in the town of Naples on 5 June 1845.[11]

In 1850 Zelotus was living in Naples in the household of a Sarah Johnson, and was recorded in the census as Lotas Sacket, a carpenter, aged 62, and born in New York. The census record immediately preceded that of Orlin Sackett, suggesting that they lived next door to each other.[12]

Gary V Sackett (1790–1865) (Src: Finger Lakes Times: painting hanging in the Seneca Falls Historical Society)

Judge Gary V Sackett, of Seneca Falls, New York, son of William Sackett and Parthenia Patterson, was born in Thetford, Orange County, Vermont, on 8 August 1790.[1, 2, 3] He died aged 74 at Seneca Falls on 15 June 1865[1] and was buried at Restvale Cemetery, Seneca Falls.[4] He married first about 1812, Nancy Torrins Vance.[1] Nancy was born about 1795. She died aged 24 in Seneca Falls on 30 July 1820.[5, 6] He married second in Aurora, Cayuga County, New York State, on 6 February 1826, Harriet Haigh, daughter of Capt John Haigh and Ann Southern.[5, 7, 8, 9] Harriet was born in Calcutta, India, on 5 January 1798.[5, 10] She died aged 53 at Seneca Falls on 18 March 1851.[5]

Gary was listed in the 1820 census as a householder in Junius, Seneca County.[11]

Gary was listed in the censuses of 1830 and 1840 as a householder at Seneca Falls.[12, 13]

In 1850 Gary was living at Seneca Falls and was recorded in the census as Garry V Sackett, a farmer, aged 59. Living with him were his wife Harriet, 51, his son David, 34, by his first marriage, and Garry and Harriet's son John, 22. There were also four male farm laborers in the household, and two females, presumably house servants.[14]

Gary was an officer of the New York State Militia before 1858 in the rank of Judge Advocate.[15]

In 1860 he was living at Seneca Falls and was recorded as Garry V Sackett, a farmer, aged 70. Living with him were his children David Sackett, 42, and Mary Van Rensselaer, 47, with her family. There were a number of day laborers and servants in the household.[16]

Sackett Street, which runs at a right angle to Bayard Street in Seneca Falls is named after Judge Gary Sackett.

Caroline's obituary

Obituary.

Departed this life on Saturday morning last, Mrs. Caroline Halsey, the good and aged mother of Mrs. T. A. Conklin.

Short funeral services were held at the house of Mr. Conklin, one and one-half miles southwest of this city, on Monday morning at 8 o'clock. Rev. G. R. Ransom, who has been the good mother in Israel's pastor for several years, officiated sympathetically and timely. A large concourse of the citizens accompanied cortigue [sic] from Mr. C's residence to the depot, when, on the 10 o'clock train, Mr. and Mrs. Conklin accompanied the deceased to Ottumwa [sic], Ill., for interment. The funeral sermon will be preached at the Congregational church by elder Ransom, on Sabbath morning, the 16th inst.

Amos's obituary

At his residence in this city, on July 1st, 1870, Mr. Amos Halsey, in the 73d year of his age.

Mr. Halsey was born in Newark, N.J. He came to Illinois in 1836, and occupied a farm near Marseilles, in this county. In 1850 he removed to Ottawa and engaged in school teaching, and soon after united with the Congregational Church, and up to the time of his death was a consistent, faithful member. For the past three years he was Bible Agent for the La Salle County Bible Society, and was an energetic and efficient agent, and for years was Secretary of the Society. "Whatever his hands found to do he did with all his might." Tenacious of what he believed to be truth and duty, nothing could change or swerve him from the right. A purer, truer man never lived. His sympathies were for the suffering and oppressed. For years he was an earnest worker in the cause of Temperance, and was a true exemplar of his views. The slave had no better friend, and in that last grand struggle he was always on freedom's and his country's side.

Mother		Parthenia Patterson b. c 1767

Amanda Sackett, daughter of William Sackett and Parthenia Patterson, was born in Vermont on 18 November 1803.[1, 2] She died aged 86 at Seneca Falls, Seneca County, New York State, on 28 January 1890[1, 3, 4] and was buried at Restvale Cemetery, Seneca Falls.[5] She was unmarried.

In 1850 Amanda was living at Seneca Falls in the household of her widowed mother Parthenia, and was recorded in the census as Amanda Sackett, aged 40 [actually 46] and born in Vermont.[6]

In 1860 she was living at Seneca Falls in the household of her brother Jonathan, and was recorded as Amanda Sackett, aged 56.[7]

In 1870 she was living at Seneca Falls in the household of her sister Matilda, and was recorded as Amanda Sackett, aged 66.[8]

Amanda was left a sum of $1,200 and an equal lifetime share with her sister Fanny in one-third of the residue of estate in the will of her sister Matilda, proved on 15 May 1878.[9]

In 1880 she was living at Seneca Falls in the household of her sister Fanny and brother-in-law Pliny Dickinson, and was recorded as Amanda Sacket, aged 76.[10]

Amanda left a will which was proved by her sister Fanny Dickinson who was granted administration of the estate by the Surrogate's Court, Seneca

County, on 31 May 1890. Amanda's brother William Sackett was named executor in her will but he had renounced the role.[9]

Amanda's obituary

Seneca.

The Death of a Very Highly Esteemed Lady of Seneca Falls.

Amanda Sackett died at her home at Seneca Falls Monday night, aged 86 years. She was the daughter of William and Parthenia Sackett, and a native of Vermont. She was one of a family of ten children, of whom but two survive, Mrs. Fannie Dickenson, of Seneca Falls, and Hon. William A. Sackett, of Saratoga. The late Hon. Garrett V. Sackett, who figured prominently in the early history of Seneca county, was also her brother. She had resided in that village and in the residence where she died for more than fifty years. Since her girlhood she had been a conservative member of the Presbyterian Church, and her graces of character endeared her to all who made her acquaintance. The average age of the ten children of which she was one is 73 years, and is considered a remarkable instance of longevity as a family. The funeral will be held to-morrow at 2 o'clock from her late home, Rev. Mr. Dickenson, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, officiating.

William Augustus Sackett (1811–1895)
(Src: Find A Grave, Bill McKern, citing "Our County and Its People: A Descriptive and Biographical Record of Saratoga County, New York.")

Hon William Augustus Sackett, lawyer, US Representative, son of William Sackett and Parthenia Patterson, was born in Aurelius, Cayuga County, New York State, on 18 November 1811.[1, 2] He died aged 83 in Saratoga Springs, New York State, on 6 September 1895[1, 3, 4] and was buried at Greenridge Cemetery, Saratoga Springs.[5] He married first about 1834, Zayde Eliza Thorne, daughter of Nicholas Thorne and Elizabeth Perlee.[1] Zayde was born in New York State on 12 June 1812.[5] She died aged 28 at Great Neck, Long Island, New York State, on 5 September 1840[6, 7] and was buried at Manhasset Dutch Reformed Church Cemetery, Nassau County, New York State.[5] He married second in 1847, Charlotte Granville Buttrick, daughter of Horatio Gates Buttrick and Mary Barnard.[6] Charlotte was born in Westminster, Worcester County, Massachusetts, on 6 February 1822.[8, 9] She died aged about 51 in Weimar, Saxe Weimar, Germany, on 17 November 1874.[10] He married third in Auburn, New York State, on 30 May 1876,

Mary Louise Marvin, daughter of Judge Thomas Jefferson Marvin and Harriet Fraser.[6] Mary was born on 1 March 1840.[5] She died aged 85 on 12 February 1926 and was buried at Greenridge Cemetery, Saratoga Springs.[5]

William was listed in the 1840 census as a householder at Seneca Falls, New York State. The household comprised an adult male, an adult female, and two children, one male, one female. These would have been William and his wife Zayde and their children, Zayde and William.[11]

In 1850 he was living at Seneca Falls and was recorded as Wm A Sackett, a lawyer, aged 38. Living with him were his second wife Charlotte, 28, his children, Zayde, 13, and William, 11, by his first wife, and William and Charlotte's children, Zilla, 2, and Frederick, aged one month. William's sister Fanny was also in the household, listed as F L Sackett, aged 40.[12]

A record for William in the 1860 census has not been found. His wife Charlotte was recorded with the family of S T M Hastings, a clergyman, in Coxsackie, Greene County, New York State. She was listed as Charlotte G Sackett, 37. Her children, Zilla, 12, Fred, 10, Edward Stanley, 8, and Harriet, 5, were with her.[13]

In 1865, Charlotte was living in Kirkland, Oneida County, New York State, and was recorded as Charlotte G Sackett, aged 43. Living with her were her children, Zilla, 17, Frederick, 15, Stanley E, 12, and Harriet, aged ten, and her widowed mother Mary Buttrick, 76.[14]

In 1870 Charlotte was living in Kirkland, Oneida County, New York State. She was listed as Charlotte Sacket, aged 48. Her children, Zilla, 22, Fredrick, 20, Edward, 17, and Harriet, 15, were living with her.[15]

Charlotte was issued with a passport in Oneida County, New York State, on 8 October 1872 in preparation for her visiting Europe. Her daughter Harriett was issued with a passport on the same day.[16]

William was left a sum of $150 and a one-third share of the residue of her estate in the will of his sister Matilda, proved on 15 May 1878.[17]

In 1880 William was living at Saratoga Springs in the household of his sister-in-law Virginia and Virginia's husband John Perry, a physician, and was recorded in the census as Wm A Sacket, a retired lawyer, aged 67. His third wife, Mary, 40, was living with him. Also in the household was Mary's unmarried sister Harriet, 52. There were three servants in the household: a cook, chambermaid, and coachman.[18]

William made his will at Saratoga Springs on 11 April 1889. He left one-fifth of his estate to each of his children, Zilla, Hattie, and Edward, one-fifth to his wife Mary, and one-fifth to the children of his deceased daughter Zayde. The shares were to be adjusted by an advance of $3,000 already made to his son Edward, and Edward's share was to be held in trust for five years.[17]

In 1892 he was living at Saratoga Springs and was recorded as William Sackett, aged 80. His wife Mary, 51, was living with him, and Mary's sister Harriet, 65, was also in the household.[19]

In 1900 William's widow Mary was living at Franklin Street, Saratoga Springs, and was recorded in the census as Mary Sackett, a widow, aged 60. Her unmarried sister Harriet, 74, was living with her. There were four servants in the household: a cook, waitress, laundress, and gardener.[20]

Mary L Sackett is commemorated in the so-called Sackett Gate at the Lincoln Avenue entrance to Greenridge Cemetery, Saratoga Springs.

William A. Sackett.
Ex-congressman William A. Sackett died suddenly yesterday noon at his residence on Franklin Square, Saratoga. Despite his age he has enjoyed robust health. He was a member of the Thirtieth and Thirty-first Congresses, and his ability as a lawyer and public speaker was recognized throughout the State of New-York. He was born near Auburn, Cayuga County, Nov. 18, 1811, and was a son of William and Parthena Sackett, who were natives of Connecticut. William A. Sackett was reared near Auburn, receiving his education in select schools and Aurora Academy, and then he read law with Judge Luther F. Stephens of Seneca Falls. In 1831 he was admitted to the bar at Utica. He practiced his profession at Seneca Falls until 1848. In this year Mr. Sackett was elected to Congress to represent the Seneca and Wayne district. At the close of his Congressional term, Mr. Sackett moved to Saratoga Springs, which place had been his residence up to the time of his death. Since living in Saratoga he had never engaged in general practice, although he continued for several years to act as counsel in the celebrated Spike suit, which was brought by the Burdens of Troy, and which occupied the attention of the courts for a great many years. He was Register in Bankruptcy several years. He had been married three times, and has three living children. His third marriage was in 1876, when he wedded Mary Louise Marvin, the daughter of the late Judge Thomas J. Marvin of this village, who survives.

Father 921 Benjamin Sackett b. 1762, d. 1844
Mother Betty Eldred b. c 1761, d. 1819

Justus Sackett, of Warren, Litchfield County, Connecticut, son of Benjamin Sackett and Betty Eldred, was born in Warren on 30 August 1784[1, 2] and baptized at the Congregational Church of Christ, Warren, on 29 June 1800.[3] He died aged 61 on 5 April 1846[1, 4] and was buried at the Old Cemetery, Warren.[5] He married in Warren on 4 October 1812, Mary "Polly" Bradley.[1, 6] Polly was born on 8 September 1787.[7] She died aged 79 in Warren on 9 June 1867[1, 8] and was buried at the Old Cemetery, Warren.[7, 9]

Justus was a pew holder in the Congregational Church of Christ, Warren, in 1816 and in 1822. According to Lucy Sackett Curtiss in her history of the Warren Congregational Church, Justus's house was commonly known as "Sackett's Harbor" because no one was ever refused shelter there, although it may of course have been a reference to the village of that name.[11, 12] Justus's wife Polly was admitted to membership of the Warren church on 15 July 1827, remaining a member there until her death in 1867.[8]

Justus was listed in the census in 1830 and 1840 as a householder in Warren.[13, 14]

In 1850 Justus's widow Mary was living in Warren in the household of her daughter Betsey and son-in-law Myron Hine, and was recorded in the census as Polly Sackett, aged 63.[15]

In 1860 Justus's widow Polly, aged 73, was living in Warren in the household of her daughter Emily and son-in-law Henry James Comstock.[16]

1586 Deacon Harvey Sackett

(1791 - 1875)

Line 3 Salmon[N], Justus[M], Jonathan[L], William[K], John[J], Simon[I], Thomas[H], Thomas[G]

Father 922 Deacon Salmon Sackett b. 1764, d. 1846
Mother Mercy Matilda Curtis b. 1767, d. 1831

Deacon Harvey Sackett, farmer of Ruggles, Ohio, son of Deacon Salmon Sackett and Mercy Matilda Curtis, was born in Warren, Litchfield County, Connecticut, on 25 December 1791.[1, 2, 3] He died in Ruggles, Ashland County, Ohio, on 11 August 1875.[2, 4] He married first at Warren on 2 April 1817, Thalia Eldred, daughter of Samuel Eldred and Dimmis Carter.[2, 5, 6] Thalia was born in Warren, Litchfield County, Connecticut, on 14 December 1795.[7, 6] She died aged 47 in Ruggles, Ashland County, Ohio, on 20 April 1843[6] and was buried at Ruggles Cemetery.[7] He married second at Huron, Erie County, Ohio, on 10 April 1844, Mary Van Vranken, widow of Garrett Van Vranken.[8, 9, 10] Mary was born in New Jersey about 1803.[11] She died aged about 83 in New London, Huron County, Ohio, on 6 June 1886.[4]

Harvey served in the War of 1812 in the Ohio Militia.[12, 13]

Harvey was listed in the 1820 census as a householder in Tallmadge, Summit County, Ohio.[14]

Harvey and his wife Thalia were founding members of the First Congregational Church, Ruggles, Ohio, the first eleven members meeting at his house on 11 January 1827 to organise the church.[15] In 1840 he was a householder in Ruggles, Ashland County, Ohio.[16]

In 1850 Harvey was living in Ruggles, Ashland County, Ohio, and was recorded in the census as Harvey Sackett, a farmer, aged 59 and born in Connecticut. Living with him were his second wife Mary, 47, her five Van Vranken children, and Harvey and Mary's son Justus, aged two.[17]

In 1860 he was living in Ruggles and was recorded as Harvy Sacket, a farmer, aged 68. Living with him were his wife Mary, 57, their son Justus, aged twelve, and Mary's sons, Robert, 24, and Garret, 19.[18]

In 1870 he was living in Ruggles and was recorded as Harvey Sackett, a farmer, aged 79. Living with him were his wife Mary, 67, their son Justus, 22, Justus's wife Irena, 22, and Mary's son Harmon Van Vranken, 38, with his daughter Lizzie, aged seven. Also in the household was a male farm laborer.[19]

Harvey made his will at Ruggles on 16 March 1874. He left his daughter Dimmes, and sons, Erastus and Erasmus, sums of $300, his daughter Irene a sum of $1,200, and, subject to his widow Mary's dower interest, he left his farm of 110 acres to their son Justus. The will was proved at the Probate Court of Ashland County on 24 August 1875.[20]

Harvey's widow Mary made her will on 20 August 1879. She left all her estate equally to her daughters, Livinia and Tryphena. The will was proved at the Huron County Probate Court on 1 October 1886.[21]

HARVEY SACKET was born in Warren, Connecticut, December 24, 1791. He came to Tallmadge, Ohio, with his father in 1811. In 1812 he was drafted, and served six months in the army of the northwest. In 1816 he returned to Connecticut and married Thalia Eldred, and located in Tallmadge until 1825, when he removed to Ruggles Township, on lot eleven, section three. He removed with ox teams, and owing to sparseness of settlers, and the narrow forest paths, was eight days on the way. Mr. Sacket died August 11, 1875.

He was twice married. His family by his first wife was: Dimmes, wife of Mr. Smith, Erastus and Erasmus M; Irena, wife of C. Curtiss. His first wife died in 1843, and in 1844 he married Mrs. Mary Van Vranken, widow of Garrett Van Vranken. He had one son, Justus H. Sacket, by his second wife. Justus resides on the homestead.
Mr. Sacket was long a member of the Congregational church, and was an excellent citizen. He was the first justice of Ruggles. Most of the family resides in Ruggles Township.

Leander Sackett, son of Deacon Salmon Sackett and Mercy Matilda Curtis, was born in Warren, Connecticut, on 20 April 1794.[1, 2, 3, 4] He died aged 75 at home in Raisinville, Monroe County, Michigan, on 2 September 1869[5, 6] and was buried at King Cemetery, Monroe, Michigan.[7] He married in Portage County, Ohio, on 3 January 1821, Rebecca Conant, daughter of Thatcher Conant and Elizabeth Manley.[2, 5, 8]

Leander served as a Private in the Ohio Militia in the War of 1812.[9]

Leander was listed in the 1840 census as a householder in Raisinville, Monroe County, Michigan.[10]

Obituary

Leander Sackett

Leander Sackett, old well known and highly esteemed resident of Monroe County, died at his residence in Raisinville, on Thursday Sept. 2, after a protracted illness of tumor in the stomach. Mr. Sackett was born in Windham, Connecticut, in April 1794, and was therefore in the 76th year of his age. His father's family removed from Connecticut to the Western Reserve, in Ohio, when he was a lad of ten or twelve years, the trip being made with ox teams, and occupying six or eight weeks. In 1822, Mr. Sackett, having then married, came to Maumee with his wife; and associated with Mr. Vantosole, established an Indian Mission, some 30 miles above Toledo. Here he remained until 1829, when the Station was abandoned; the Indians having been removed farther west. He then resided some three or four years at Maumee City, during which time he married Miss Eliza Conant, having lost his first wife while at the Mission Station. In 1832 or 33 he removed to Monroe, where he remained until 1836, as proprietor of the old Mission House, the leading hotel, which occupied the present site of Dansard Bank. Mr. Sackett then removed to a farm on the banks of the River Raisin, in Raisinville, and there he spent the remainder of his days. He was a man of great energy and activity, with an unusual developement of hopeful enthusiasm, and became intimately connected with every movement for the benefit or improvement of the town or community, frequently neglecting his own interests and bearing burdens alone that should have been shared by others. In 1852, Mr. Sackett was a delegate to the Buffalo Convention that formed the Free Soil Party. He has been an enthusiastic and earnest advocate of its principles. He leaves a wife and one son, S.M. Sackett, Druggist of this City.

Achsah Miranda Sackett, daughter of Deacon Salmon Sackett and Mercy Matilda Curtis, was born in Warren, Litchfield County, Connecticut, on 10 June 1806[1, 2, 3, 4] and baptized at the Congregational Church of Christ, Warren, on 6 July 1806.[5] She died aged 53 in Raisinville, Monroe County, Michigan, on 4 October 1859.[6]

Obituary

Achsah Sackett

Died—on Tuesday, the 4th of October, at the residence of her brother in Raisinville, Achsah Miranda Sackett, in the fifty-fourth year of her age. The deceased had been for forty years an exemplary Christian, manifesting in her life and acts the power of grace and the influence of the gospel of Christ; and this fact afforded great consolation to her friends, in as much as during her last illness she was not in that state of mind which would have enabled her to prepare for an untried future, showing the importance of preparing for death while in health and the full exercise of the mental powers.

Colonel Augustine Sackett, farmer and businessman of Canandaigua, Ontario County, New York, son of Homer Sackett and Sarah Carter, was born in Warren, Litchfield County, Connecticut, on 24 April 1789.[1, 2, 3] He died aged 95 in Canandaigua, Ontario County, New York State, on 6 December 1883 and was buried at West Avenue Cemetery, Canandaigua.[4] He married in Warren on 31 March 1814, Arze Starr, daughter of Platt Starr and Lucinda Finney, and sister of Frederick Starr who married Augustine's sister Sarah.[2, 5, 3] Arze was born in Litchfield County, Connecticut, on 11 June 1793.[3] She died aged 78 in New York State on 20 November 1871[3] and was buried at West Avenue Cemetery, Canandaigua.[4]

Augustine Sacket was a militiaman, becoming commanding officer of the 11th New York Infantry Regiment.

Augustine was listed in the census in 1820, 1830 and 1840 as a householder in Canandaigua.[6, 7, 8]

Augustine was named as a beneficiary in his father's will made at Warren in 1844. When the estate came to be valued in June 1853, it was found to be insolvent.

Obituary

Augustine Sackett

Col. Augustine Sackett, the oldest citizen of this town, died at his residence about three miles west of this village, on Thursday evening of last week. He had reached the age of 94 years and 10 months. He was always remarkably vigorous, and in good health to within a few days of the end, when he gradually faded away and fell asleep without any sign of disease. We noticed the celebration of his 94th birthday ten months ago, at which time were gathered at the homestead his children and grandchildren in a happy reunion. There was also a happy family gathering at the homestead last Thanksgiving day. His wife preceded him several years ago. He leaves three sons, Byron, Frederick and Henry, all residents of this town, and three daughters, Mrs. Jas. S. Cooley, and Miss Julia Sackett of this place, and Mrs. Dr. G. R. Barr, of Abington, Va.

History of Ontario County, New York

Augustine Sackett

Nature had done much for some men, and the simple improvement of inherent qualities has brought a train of comforts such as are considered component parts of life's blessings. In this regard we may briefly consider the character and sketch of the life of Augustine Sackett. He has come from a pioneer stock, original settlers in Warren, Litchfield county, Connecticut. Upon the farm where he was born on April 24, 1789, his great-grandfather cleared the primeval forest, and the fifth of the Sackett generations now reside. He was the son of Homer Sackett, and one in a family of twelve children. His early youth was spent at home, engaged on the farm during the summer, and attending school in winter. These periods of study in good schools enabled young Sackett to aspire to become himself a teacher, and at the age of nineteen, he conducted a winter school at nine dollars per month, and was well satisfied with his first attempt.

Members of the Sackett family had gone to the Genesee country as early as 1801, and some of them had settled and sent home favorable reports of what is now Ontario County proper. The topic of discourse was the advantages offered by this new field, and in April, 1812, Mr. Sackett left Warren upon a prospecting tour, and at the expiration of twelve days, traveling in a one-horse wagon, reached the town of East Bloomfield. He remained in the town nineteen months, working by the month on a farm, and teaching school. In the fall of 1813, in company with his brother, Theron, Augustine purchased ninety-four acres in the town of Canandaigua, whereon he is at present resident. In November he set out on horseback and returned to Connecticut; he was ten days on the road. He speedily engaged a school in his father's district, and boarded at home. On March 31, 1814, he married Arze, daughter of Platt Starr, born in Warren, June 11, 1793. Leaving his wife at her father's, Mr. Sackett returned to Canandaigua with a two-horse wagon, and reached his destination about the 1st of May. The summer was passed with Theron on the land previous purchased. August 25th, he drove back east, and on September 16th bade farewell to the old home, and set out with his wife for his new one in Canandaigua. Two weeks were occupied in the journey. These young pioneers began housekeeping in a frame building sixteen by twenty-four feet. Here they lived until 1825, when the house at the present the homestead was erected. The farm, now so well cleared and improved, so well supplied with buildings, had at the outset but twenty acres cleared, and improved, and no house upon it of any account. The blessing of good health was enjoyed, and combined with economy and industry, the comforts of life have been experienced with but few of its luxuries. In time, eight children were added to the family circle. Sarah Lucinda, the eldest, was born June 16, 1815 and died January 7, 1846. Darius C., the youngest, born December 7, 1839, died February 10, 1871; he acquired a good education, and directed his thoughts to sacred themes; became a Presbyterian minister, and was settled over a church at Rock Stream, New York, when his health failed and terminated his labors. After a life companionship of over fifty years, Mrs. Arze Sackett, died November 20, 1871, and left her husband to travel life's pathway in the companionship of affectionate children. Mr. Sackett bought out his brother's interests in the farm, and from time to time added to its area until it comprised three hundred and fifty acres. One hundred and fifty have been transferred, leaving two hundred in the homestead. Mr. Sackett has never been obtrusive, but when called to act has been found capable and reliable. He has been required to serve as assessor repeatedly, and as school commissioner served acceptably. To the appellation of colonel he is justly entitled, having risen from the graduations of military rank, and in about 1826 being lieutenant-colonel of a regiment of State troops. These promotions followed as a reward of faithfulness, stimulated by a natural love of discipline. Popular among the men, he was not less so among the officers, and may well recall his experience with pleasure. Early in life, as we have seen, he entered the school-room as an instructor, and have ever been a friend to the common school system. He built, of brick, for four hundred dollars, the first house used for school purposes in the district, and at both academy and seminary has made available their facilities for the education of his children. It is a memory of the past that Mr. Sackett hauled cord-wood to pay for the tuition of his daughters.

He joined the Congregational church about 1840, and wife and daughters were and are connected with that denomination. He has not ignored politics, and has been a member of parties regarded by him as best calculated for national progress. A Federalist, a Whig, a Unionist, and at present a Democrat, and in favor of the best men, wherever they may be found. About and with him his family is living in comfort. He has been and is a farmer, and from the production of wheat and the raising of stock has been enabled to obtain a comfortable livelihood. Seen at home, his influence has been firmly and judiciously exercised; not denying reasonable indulgence, and seeing their prosperity, he has the honor and affection of his children, with whom his years pass pleasurably. The impression left upon the mind of the stranger is of an aged man, worthy, estimable, and of noble bearing; hospitable, kind and in the enjoyment of the fruit of honest endeavor; at peace with men, and reporting trust in the goodness of God.

Homer Sackett Jr, son of Homer Sackett and Sarah Carter, was born in Warren, Litchfield County, Connecticut, on 8 December 1801.[1, 2, 3] He was baptized as an adult and admitted to the Congregational Church of Christ, Warren, on 2 September 1832.[4] He died aged 69 in Warren on 12 January 1871[2, 5, 3] and was buried at the Old Cemetery, Warren.[6] He married first in Sharon, Litchfield County, Connecticut, on 1 December 1827, Flora Skiff, daughter of Asa Skiff and Susannah Skiff.[7, 2, 3] Flora was born on 24 April 1808.[8] She was admitted to the Congregational Church of Christ, Warren, on 25 September 1831.[9] She died aged 50 in Warren on 9 February 1859[10, 11] and was buried at the Old Cemetery, Warren.[8] He married second about 1860, Julia Ann (Morris) Hine, daughter of Julius Morris and Hannah ___.[3] Julia was born in Connecticut on 14 September 1823.[12] She was admitted to the Congregational Church of Christ, Warren, on 5 May 1861, by letter from the First Congregational Church, Waterbury.[13] She died aged 38 in Warren on 6 April 1862[14, 15] and was buried at Middlebury Cemetery, Middlebury, New Haven County, Connecticut.[16] He married third on 10 May 1862, Sarah Evelyn Carter, his first cousin once removed, daughter of Ward Carter and Electa Carter.[3, 17] Sarah was born on 31 December 1823.[17] She died aged 86 in Stockbridge, Berkshire County, Massachusetts, on 25 November 1910[18] and was buried at Old Burying Ground, Warren.[18, 19]

Homer was listed in the 1830 census as a householder in Warren.[20]

Homer was named as a beneficiary in his father's will made at Warren in 1844. He was also sole executor. When the estate came to be valued in June 1853, it was found to be insolvent.

In 1850 Homer was living in Warren, Litchfield County, in the household of his parents Homer and Sarah, and was recorded in the census as Homer Sackett Jr, a farmer, aged 48. Living with him were his wife Flora 42, and their children, Edward, 14, Homer S, 11, Augustine, 9, and Flora, aged three. There were also two male laborers in the household and an 18-year-old female, perhaps a servant or farm worker.[21]

In 1860 he was living in Warren and was recorded as Homer Sackett, a farmer, aged 58. Living with him were his second wife, Julia, 35, and his children by his first marriage, Edward, 24, Homer, 21, Augustine, 19, and Flora, aged 13. Also in the household were a male farm laborer and a female servant.[22]

Homer was listed as a member of the Congregational Church of Christ, Warren, on 1 April 1863.[23]

Homer was assessed for tax of $34.70 on income of $694 in Connecticut in 1865. He was also charged tax of $1 for a carriage and $2 for a piano.[24]

In 1870 he was living in Warren and was recorded as Homer Sackett, a retired farmer, aged 69. His wife Sarah, 46, was living with him. His son Homer was living next door.[25]

(Src: Dan Schafer)

Patty Sackett, daughter of Homer Sackett and Sarah Carter, was born in Connecticut on 8 May 1804.[1, 2, 3] Patty Sackett was baptized at the Congregational Church of Christ, Warren, Litchfield County, Connecticut, on 6 May 1821 and was admitted to church membership on the same day. She was recorded as a member there on 11 May 1825.[4] She died aged 88 in Kansas City, Wyandotte County, Kansas, on 25 July 1892[1] and was buried at Oak Grove Cemetery, Kansas City.[5] She married at the Congregational Church of Christ, Warren, on 26 March 1828, Eleazer Curtis Sackett, a first cousin, son of Deacon Salmon Sackett and Mercy Matilda Curtis.[6, 3, 7, 8, 9, 10]

Patty was named as a beneficiary in her father's will made at Warren in 1844. When the estate came to be valued in June 1853, it was found to be insolvent.

In 1860 Patty was living in Beardstown, Cass County, Illinois, in the household of her husband Eleazer, and was recorded in the census as Patty

Sackett, aged 56 and born in Connecticut. Living with them were their children, Susan, 21, Orange, 18, Flora, 16, and Ella, aged 12.[11]

In 1870 she was living in Illini, Macon County, Illinois, in the household of her husband Eleazer, and was recorded as Patty Sackett, aged 66. Their children, Orange, 27, and Flora, 26, were living with them.[12]

In 1880 she was living in Illini, Macon County, Illinois, in the household of her son Orange and daughter-in-law Emma, and was recorded as Patty Sackett, aged 76. She was living with her husband Eleazer, aged 78.[13]

In 1885 she was living in Wyandotte County, Kansas, in the household of her daughter Ella and son-in-law William Garlick, and was recorded as Patty Sackett, aged 81. She was living with her husband Eleazer, 83. Their unmarried daughter Flora was also in the household.[14]

In 1890/91, Patty, now a widow, was living at 600 Everett Avenue, Kansas City.[15]

1. Weygant, Charles, The Sacketts of America, It would appear that the dates given in Weygant for the sisters Patty and Polly Sacket have been transposed. The birth date in "1524. Patty Sacket, b. Jan 13, 1794; m. (1514) Eleazer C. Sackett." is seen to be that of her sister Polly (Barbour Vital Records). An original birth record for Patty has not been found but it may be assumed that this was 8 May 1804 as recorded in Polly's record, "1529. Polly Sacket, b. May 8, 1804, d. July 25, 1892; m. Harry Swift." This accords with Patty's age given in the 1880 census and is then more consistent with the known date of her marriage (1828) and particularly with the date of birth of her last child (1846). It is assumed too that the date of death, 25 July 1892, given for Polly was actually the date of Patty's death.

2. Power, John Carroll, History of the early settlers of Sangamon County, Illinois: "centennial record", E A Wilson & Co, Springfield, IL (1876), digital image, Ancestry.com, "Sackett,

Thomas, was brought up near Hamilton, Butler county, Ohio, and was there married to Peggy Martin. They had six children in Ohio, and moved to Sangamon county, near Sangamo, previous to 1830. Of their children—
Dorcas, born in Ohio, married in Sangamon county to Levi Batterton. See his name.
Phebe married Miles Goodman, and moved first to Iowa, and then to Oregon.
Mary married A. Clay Gaines. See his name.
Harriet married Thompson Crider, and died.
John, married and moved to Missouri.
Samuel married Cyrena Goodman, and moved to Missouri.
Mrs. Peggy Sackett died, and Thomas Sackett was twice married. After the death of his third wife he moved to Missouri with his sons and died there."

3. Catherine Chambers is identified here as the mother of Thomas's first six children, as detailed in "Henry County, Iowa, Biographical Sketches". However, John Power in his "History of the early settlers of Sangamon County, Illinois", identifies the mother as Peggy Martin. A marriage to Peggy Martin has not been found. It would seem possible that Power had simply made a mistake in his compilation.

Obituary

Death of Samuel Sackett.

Samuel Sackett, father of Alfred and Reuben Sackett, dled at Twin Springs, Kansas, February 9th, in his eighty-third year. Mr. Sackctt was for about twenty-five years a resident of this city, the most of that time being engaged in the drug business. A few years ago he removed to Kansas, where he haa since lived. He will be remembered by our citizens as an honorable and upright business man, a kind neighbor, a good citizen and a devoted Christian. He was born in Hamilton county, Ohio, Sept. 1, 1797. Reuben left Tuesday morning, to be present at the funeral.
